Newton Catholic Welfare Reports On Activities At the Annual Meeting

Large Number of Visits Made To Homes of Needy Families In Newton—Patrick J. Moynihan Discusses Economic Problems

The annual meeting of the Newton Catholic Welfare Committee was held on last Sunday afternoon in the auditorium at Our Lady's High School, Newton. About 100 were present. In the absence of Charles C. Dasey, the president, who is on a trip to Nassau, convalescing from a recent illness, M. John Barry of Newton Centre presided. He referred to the presence of representatives of the Newton Community Chest, Newton Welfare Department and Newton Soldiers' Aid Department, which he said cooperate.

The first speaker of the afternoon was Rev. John A. Sheridan, pastor of Our Lady's Church and executive secretary-treasurer of the Catholic Welfare Committee. He explained that the committee is composed of delegates from the St. Vincent de Paul Conferences in the Newton parishes of Our Lady, Mary Immaculate, Sacred Heart and St. Jean Evangeliste; and St. Bernard's Aid Society. These allied organizations have a total of 67 members, and meet weekly, with an average attendance of 69%.

He gave a sketch of the life of St. Vincent de Paul, patron of the society and also of the life of Frederick Ozanam, founder of the society of St. Vincent de Paul. In the United States there are 2500 Conferences of St. Vincent de Paul with 26,178 members, who all give their services gratis. During 1936 these members collected, contributed and distributed a total of $3,396,293, in addition to many necessaries of life for the poor. Throughout the world there are 15,142 conferences of the society, 198,224 members, and in 1935 $38,375,800 in relief funds were distributed by them.

Father Sheridan explained that the Newton Catholic Welfare Committee meets on the first Monday evening of each month and amicably agree on the proportionate distribution of moneys received from the Newton Community Chest and other sources. Father Sheridan gave the following resume of activities of the various units of the St. Vincent de Paul Conferences in Newton during 1937:

	Our Lady	Mary Immaculate	de Lourdes	Sacred Heart	St. Bernard	St. Jean
No. families aided	172	53	52	70	41

The financial report for the year was read by John J. Cahill, auditor of the committee.

William P. Eustis, liaison officer for the Newton Catholic Welfare Committee, spoke on observations from his activities in St. Vincent de Paul work. He said that this winter between 500 and 600 children in this city had been found wearing summer underwear, or no underwear. He commented that it had been recommended that between 20 and 30 children in this city be taken from improper parents and given to the custody of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children, but political influence had prevented this. Also that it had been recommended that about 20 loafing and drinking fathers be placed in institutions, but political influence also prevented this. He criticized certain public utility companies for taking service from poor people, and condemned the proposed sales tax, saying it would take 30 per cent from every welfare dollar. He stated that there are 129,000 persons on the payrolls of this State, many of them provided with high-power cars and chauffeurs; some officials who can have a summer vacation at Cape Cod, and a winter sojourn at Miami. He criticized the delay in paying old age pensions, aged persons waiting 3 to 4 months for this relief, and no retroactive payments. He said welfare organizations such as St. Vincent de Paul should use political pressure to obtain decent treatment for the needy, just as the Legion and V. F. W. have used such pressure. He said that professional sociologists and relief workers in their reports and high sounding publicity are not kidding such practical organizations as the Salvation Army, Florence Crittenton Society and the like. He suggested that committees from the St. Vincent de Paul, Newton District Nursing Association and other similar organizations in Newton should cooperate in obtaining enough money from the city to enable the Welfare Departments to properly relieve distress in this city.

The principal speaker of the afternoon was Patrick J. Moynihan, chairman of the State Commission of Administration and Finance, and recently Commissioner of Public Welfare of Boston. He was introduced by Timothy C. Hickey. Mr. Moynihan said the two major problems which this country must solve if democracy is to be preserved are to create opportunities for the youth of the country, and the unemployment question. He

Newton Will Observe Constitution Sesquicentennial With Historical Pageant

A portion of the cast of "We, The People" now in rehearsal: First Row, left to right—Harold E. Kenney, George E. Rawson, Stuart K. Gibson, Ralph F. Taber, Julius E. Warren, Donald McKay, Paul M. Goddard (as Benjamin Franklin), Clark B. Bristol (as George Washington), Mrs. Raymond A. Green (as Betsy Ross), Philip W. Carter (Edmund Randolph), Henderson Inches, Joseph B. Jamieson, Harry E. Bryant, Douglass B. Francis. Second Row, left to right—Leonard W. Ricketson, Charles E. Hughes, Carrol J. Hoffman, Lyscomb A. Bruce, Roy V. Collins, A. F. Emery, Henry T. Dunker, Sydney P. French, Carl F. Schipper, Jr., Clarence C. Colby, Raymond A. Green, Norman F. Pratt, Hassler B. Capron, Charles B. Floyd, Warren K. Brimblecom, George A. Bacon, Ralph C. Henry, Harold S. Piper, Rev. M. Russell Boynton, Augustus P. Wakefield.

The observance of the sesquicentennial of the signing of the Constitution of the United States will be observed locally with a magnificent pageant. Although the actual signing of the Constitution took place on September 16th, 1787 it was on February 6, 1788 that the Massachusetts convention ratified that document. Thus the local committee, appointed by Mayor Childs to arrange an observance in co-operation with a national Sesquicentennial Committee decided that the present month provided historical significance in which such an affair might well be held. Three performances of this pageant will be presented to the citizens of Newton in the auditorium of the high school at Newtonville. Evening performances will be given on Thursday and Friday, Feb. 10th and 11th and the closing performance will be presented Saturday afternoon, Feb. 12th in order that many of the school children of the city will have the opportunity to attend.

The accompanying picture shows many prominent men who are taking part in the pageant entitled "We, The People." The picture, taken at one of the recent rehearsals, does not include all those who are giving up considerable time in preparation for the pageant as various scenes and episodes which comprise the entire program are being held at various times and in various places. Under the direction of the committee which is headed by Leverett Saltonstall, Superintendent Ernst Herrman of the Newton playgrounds is general director. Hassler Capron is managing director of the cast and he is being assisted by America's nationally known pageant director, Percy H. Burrell.

Prior to the performances of "We, the People," brief addresses on the significance of the sesquicentennial will be made. On Thursday evening Judge Franklin Field will be the speaker, on Friday evening Federal District Judge P. M. Sweeney will be present and on Saturday afternoon Mayor Edwin O. Childs will speak.

"We, the People" is a historical pageant depicting four major themes in the early development of the country—The Struggle for Liberty, The Laws of Liberty, The Flag of Liberty, and the Laurels of Liberty. A chorus of 150 mixed voices and a group of two score dancers as well as many beautiful scenes and adequate lighting effects will blend to make the affair impressive, educational and entertaining.

The first portion of the pageant depicts figuratively the early struggle of liberty and freedom over tyranny and oppression. In the second portion the audience witnesses brief scenes from the Annapolis and Philadelphia convention, the session of the Massachusetts convention which after much argument and debate ratified the Constitution, and the inaugural ball of President George Washington. The birth of the American flag and the presentation of it to the President by Betsy Ross depicts the third portion and the conclusion shows by pageantry effects the triumph and hope for the future through justice, peace and unity.

Tickets without charge are being distributed.

Investigating Carr School Job

City Solicitor Bartlett is investigating the matter of the defective ceilings at the new Carr School on Nevada st., Newtonville. He is awaiting a complete report from Public Buildings Commissioner Campbell and has had an expert examine the school. Although the bond of the contractor expired one year after the completion of the construction of the school, the city can bring civil suit within six years if it can be proved that there was faulty or negligent work in the building of the school.

CORRECTION

In last week's GRAPHIC was an article relative to defective ceilings at the new Carr School on Nevada st., Newtonville. The article stated that the school was constructed as a PWA project. Then, by error, the article stated that the school was built under supervision of WPA officials and WPA rules, and that $87,003 was received as a WPA grant, when, as a matter of fact, the letters PWA should have been used.

Arthur Garfield Hays at Forum

Next Sunday afternoon February 6, Arthur Garfield Hays, national director and one of the most outstanding workers of the American Civil Liberties Union will speak under the auspices of the Newton Community Forum at Newton High School on "Let Freedom Ring! Civil Liberty in 1938." Mr. Hays has been referred to as "a highly successful capitalist lawyer, who subscribes to the maxim that 'there is no money in defending the underdog.'" He has participated for defendants at the Scopes trial at Dayton, Tennessee; in the Sacco-Vanzetti case, and those charged with burning the Reichstag at Berlin in 1932. He is interested in vital issues and believes that the maintenance of liberty, in all true senses of the word, is the only way toward democracy and peace.

Charge Newton Man With Defrauding

Wilmot A. Nash of 281 Park st., Newton, was arrested on Tuesday by Boston police charged with conspiracy to defraud divers persons to the amount of $125,000 between December, 1934 and December, 1937. According to the police Nash is alleged to have taken orders for stock and then converted the money to his own use. He is also charged with having sold Fawn mining stock at prices as high as 70c per share after the Department of Public Utilities had ordered that this stock not be sold for more than 40c. Nash was formerly president of the brokerage firm of W. A. Nash & Company, State st., Boston, which had its license revoked in May of last year.

Veteran Library Employee Retires

Timothy Shannon, or "Tim," as he is affectionately known by those in charge of the work of the Newton Free Library system, delivered his last box of books on Saturday afternoon. Tim's retirement is not due in the least to his physical inability to drive the library delivery truck about the city on its errands of delivering hundreds of books every working day to the branch libraries. He is hale and hearty as ever and his appearance belies his age, which compels releasing his job to another man. Thus ends forty-nine years of faithful service, during which time he has seen the striking growth of the Newton Free Library system, and he and his truck have been a familiar sight to every book lover in the city.

Born in Skibbereen, County Cork, Ireland, in 1867, Mr. Shannon came to America in 1887 and immediately found employment with Henry C. Daniels, who operated a livery stable at Nonantum sq., Newton. Mr. Daniels had the contract to deliver books for the Free Library and two years later Mr. Shannon began spending part of his time at this work, carrying small boxes of books about the city with a team of horses and light wagon. In 1913 the work had grown to such an extent that he devoted his full time to it. In 1916 the work was taken over by the city, and since then he has been driving the delivery truck, which makes the facilities of the Library constantly available to residents living in every part of the city.

Tim's reminiscences regarding the development of the library system during these forty-nine years present the striking difference between the system then and now. Then books were deposited in stores and club rooms under casual supervision, as contrasted with the present active branches all under professional supervision, many of which are well housed in modern buildings of their own.

Whenever anyone formerly associated with the Newton library work has returned for a visit, their first question has invariably been, "How is Tim?" The librarians now say that they "will not know how to keep house without Tim." It has not been Tim's efficiency alone which has endeared him to his co-workers over the years, but the commendable spirit with which he has performed his many daily duties.

Tim was accompanied, on his final round to all the branches on Saturday afternoon, by the Librarian, Julius Lucht, who, when the trip was over, presented Tim with a bill-fold containing a sum of money contributed by all the workers of the Newton Free Library system.

Mr. Shannon is married and lives on Charlesbank rd., Newton. He has been succeeded by Silas Colligen, formerly an assistant janitor in the Newton library system.

Tore Police Tag, Pays $3 Fine

Robert Anderson of 51 Beaumont ave., Newtonville was fined $3 in the Newton court on Wednesday for parking a car without lights. Patrolman Scott testified that he placed the tag on the car and it had instructions printed on it specifying that it must be brought to police headquarters. Scott testified that Anderson did not bring the tag to headquarters, but tore it up in the presence of Patrolman Riley.

Aldermen Enjoy Annual Dinner

The Newton Board of Aldermen held their annual dinner on Monday night at the Charles River Country Club in Oak Hill. It was attended by all members of the 1937 Board and the invited guests were Mayor Childs, City Solicitor Bartlett and City Clerk Grant. The affair was completely in charge of Alderman Henderson Inches, humorist of the Board. Mr. Inches, disguised as City Solicitor Bartlett, gave an impersonation of that official which was very realistic. Piano selections were given by Alderman Walker, and the singing was led by Aldermen Melcher and Barwise.

Among those who spoke were Mayor Childs, who thanked the 1937 Aldermen for their cooperation. City Solicitor Bartlett advocated the formation of a civic organization to be composed of former members of the city government. The five members of the 1937 Board who retired also spoke. These included Benjamin Bowen, Dennis Cronin, Donald Hill, Albert Lyon and James Melcher. Mr. Lyon gave his impressions of various members of the Board, and Mr. Cronin psychoanalyzed his former colleagues on the Board.

Newton Relief Burden Increases

The number of cases on the rolls of the Newton Welfare Department has passed 800, and with an approximate average of three persons to a family, this means that about 2400 people are now getting aid from the city through the Welfare Department in addition to those getting Soldiers' Relief and persons at the city infirmary. In December the total number of cases was 776; of these 426 received complete aid, and 350 supplementary aid.

Boy Hit By Auto Has Broken Leg

Sidney Snyder, 14, of 354 Kendrick st., Newton was hit about 6:15 on Monday evening by an automobile driven by Roy C. Trimper of 23 Boyd st., Newton. Young Snyder received a double fracture of his left leg and was taken to the Newton Hospital by Trimper. Trimper reported that when he saw the boy in the path of his car, he applied the brakes but could not stop before Snyder was struck.

Gov. Hurley Speaks At Central Club

The Central Club of the Central Congregational Church at Newtonville has been fortunate in obtaining Governor Charles F. Hurley as principal speaker at its next meeting, Monday evening, February 7. Other guests will include Mayor Childs, General Needham, and other prominent men of Newton.

This meeting is the Annual Ladies' Night, and in view of the presence of the Governor a capacity gathering is expected.

After the supper and after the Governor's address the members, their wives and daughters will be entertained by a few selections from the Men's Chorus, following which there will be dancing until 11 p. m. Music for the dance will be furnished by the "Aquitanians," a group of college boys under the leadership of Bob Hendrick, a member of the church. This orchestra formerly played on the steamer "Aquitania."

WPA To Improve Newton Brooks

WPA officials at Washington have approved projects in Newton which will permit improvements to be made on several brooks in this city. These projects will give about six months work to 200 men and will allow the addition of 50 men to the quota now on WPA rolls in Newton. There are now 420 men in Newton receiving WPA allotments. The brooks which will be widened and deepened include Hammond and Paul Brooks at Newton Centre, South Meadow Brook at Oak Hill, Laundry Brook at Newtonville. At some places the courses of these brooks will be changed, and there will also be a small percentage of them covered. The city will be asked to appropriate about $7000 for materials. The authorization of these projects is the result of a recent visit to Washington by Harold Young, liaison agent between the city and the WPA.

Yale Pranksters Cases Filed

Final action on the charges against three Yale students who entered the main building of Lasell Junior College about 3 a. m. on the morning of November 21 was taken in the Newton district court last Saturday morning. The three were to have appeared in court on January 8, but tragedy intervened. While motoring to Boston from New Haven the preceding night, the car in which they were riding went into a river in Connecticut, and one of the three was fatally injured. He was William Wilson, 22, of Cape Cottage, Maine. The charge against him was dismissed. The charges against the other two, drunkenness and trespassing, were placed on file. These two defendants were William Putnam, 19, of Carthage, Missouri; and Robert Humphrey, 20, of Kalamazoo, Michigan. They did not appear personally in court, but were represented by counsel.

Auto Hits Newton Man On Centre St.

John X. Nolan, 62, of 33 Nonantum st., Newton, a salesman for Parke, Davis Company, was hit and seriously injured last Thursday night about 8 o'clock by an automobile driven by John C. Bole, Jr., of 245 Mount Auburn st., Cambridge. Mr. Nolan had alighted from his car near Vernon Court Hotel and was crossing the street when the Bole car, travelling rapidly along Centre st., struck him. Nolan was knocked unconscious and when taken to the Newton Hospital in the police ambulance, was found to have received a brain concussion, and a broken shoulder. Bole reported that he had swerved his car to the left in an effort to prevent the accident, but the right headlight hit Nolan.

Arrest Boys For Stealing Gasoline

Three boys about 15 years of age were captured Saturday night by Patrolmen McArdle and McGrath as they were stealing gasoline by siphoning it from a parked automobile on Berkshire rd., near Bullough's Pond. There were five boys in the gang, but two ran away. The police obtained the names of the two who made their escape and the five will appear in the juvenile session of Newton court today. The boys told the police that they were stealing the fuel for use in the automobile of Domenic Magnarelli, 18, of 125 Adams st., Nonantum, who had been waiting nearby. They also said that earlier that evening they had siphoned some gasoline from a car parked near Newton Y. M. C. A. According to their story in return for obtaining the gas for Magnarelli they were given rides.

Magnarelli was arrested Sunday night on a warrant and arraigned in Newton court on Monday. His case was continued until February 4.

WE, THE PEOPLE — AND THE FUTURE

One hundred and fifty years ago on Sunday the Commonwealth of Massachusetts officially became a part of the United States of America when the delegates to a convention ratified the Constitution by a vote of 187 to 168. Ratification of that important document came after many days of argument and debate and was achieved only through the adoption of certain conciliatory amendments. Pertinent facts, of educational value, patriotic significance, and traditional influence of those days will be portrayed as a part of the pageant, "We, The People" which will mark the official observance of the Sesquicentennial Celebration of the Constitution by the citizens of Newton. The pageant will be presented the latter part of next week in the high school auditorium and should be of great interest to every civic minded citizen. Through our small and minor connection with the pageant we have been impressed by the influences the presentation of these historical facts will undoubtedly leave upon those who witness the affair. We are impressed with the fact that today we are living in an era that is historically significant with many tercentenary, sesquicentennial, and in the middle west, even centenary observances. This country is, from an historical viewpoint, comparatively young, and anything that can be done to preserve for the future the important traditions and essential history of our country will be most worthwhile, for it is "we, the people" upon whom the future of the Land of Freedom depends.

ANOTHER SCOUT ANNIVERSARY

This week is nationally known as Boy Scout Week, marking the twenty-eighth anniversary of the establishment of that organization in America. It takes little imagination to realize the value this organization has contributed to the youth of this country when it is stated that millions of boys have grown to manhood under the training of thousands of leaders who have contributed in no small measure to the teaching and training of boys to become better citizens, mentally and morally, as well as physically. In its four branches, cubbing, scouting, the explorer program, and the rover crew, the scouting movement aids materially in solving the problems of boyhood adolescence from the nine year old to over seventeen. To those who are now actively engaged in scouting we look for an assurance of better scouting, and in a broader sense, better leadership in schools, homes, churches, government and business in the years to come.

NEIGHBORHOOD POLITENESS

An unknown correspondent writes to ask if anything can be done to prevent the blowing of automobile horns by parents attempting to attract the attention of their children as they emerge from school buildings. There is no practical method of stopping such a nuisance to those who reside near school houses that we know of, other than an educational campaign to make each individual automobile driver, whether waiting at a school house, in line of traffic, or even before a private home, to realize that the tooting of a horn is decidedly not an act of neighborly politeness. When such horn tooters consider others and not themselves our correspondent's nerves may get some relief.

Newton Catholic Welfare Committee Annual Meeting

said millions of young people who have graduated from our schools the past six years are idle, and 1,000,000 of these have given up the endeavor to find work. A tremendous increase in juvenile crime has resulted; 39 per cent of our criminals are under 25 years of age. He told of some harrowing experiences he had during the 12 months he was administrator of the Boston Welfare Department. There were 29,700 cases on welfare rolls in Boston in 1937; 20,000 families depending on WPA relief, and 2000 on Soldiers Relief, a total of about 150,000 persons, or about 20 per cent of the population of the city. In this State 23 per cent of the population is dependent on public welfare, either Federal, State or local, and this condition, existent all over the country, will destroy our democratic structure unless it is ended. He said that unattached men and women between the ages of 45 and 65 are the worst off; in Boston they receive but $5 a week for relief, not enough to properly exist on.

Mr. Moynihan stated that in Greater Boston are 2,000,000 persons, and that some measure must be found to aid the City of Boston in its disproportionate share of caring for an unusually large percentage of the poor of this area. He said that one of the great evils of the welfare problem is the influence wielded by politicians in getting public relief for unworthy recipients. He commented that only 10 per cent of the persons on relief are unworthy; the great majority desire work and independence. Referring to persons prone to criticize people getting relief, he said that if some of the critics had to lift barrels of ashes all day long for $15 per week, as do some of the relief recipients, they would not be so critical. He said that selfishness and greed are largely responsible for our present economic troubles, and that Christian principles will have to be applied if we are to get back to our American ideals. He argued that the only way to get people off relief is to create jobs, that those who govern, capitalists and labor representatives, must get together and solve the problem. The gap between revenue and expenditures must be closed. Mr. Moynihan said that the present system of Federal relief is all wrong. When Federal projects in Boston were abandoned, only 22 per cent of those obtaining relief through them came to the city for relief. The same held true in other cities; New York with 49 per cent having the largest ratio. In his opinion this proves that about 50 per cent of the money spent on Federal relief projects can be saved. In Boston $1,500,000 has been spent monthly on Federal projects to give aid to about 20,000.

Newtonville Scouts To Present Annual Show

The Scouts and Cubs of the Newtonville Group will offer their 4th Annual Show Feb. 18th, in the auditorium of the Newton High School. This year's show promises to be even more interesting than the previous ones. Mr. Edw. J. Gough, Chairman of the Entertainment Committee, reports he has secured the following exceptionally good vaudeville acts: a ventriloquist, novelty dance team acrobats, authentic songs and dances by full-blooded Indians in their native dress, and a well known magician.

Proceeds of the show will be used, as in the past, for the maintenance of the Scout Building in Newtonville and for the improvement of the Troop camps at Nobscot Reservation.

LASELL JUNIOR COLLEGE

The seniors of Carpenter Hall were At Home to their guests on Tuesday afternoon. The Dramatic Club sponsored a dance in the Barn on Saturday evening.

Lasell had a half-hour on the radio on Sunday afternoon, Jan. 30, when Dr. Winslow, introduced by Mrs. A. B. Shoemaker, President of the Lasell Alumnae, spoke on "Junior Colleges," and Miss Anna Eichhorn played a group of selections on the violin.

The annual Alumnae Luncheon was held on Saturday at 12:30 at the Pioneer in Boston.

Auto Cemetery

Junkyards are graveyards for wrecked automobiles. Smashed beyond repair, they end their service in huge masses of twisted iron, broken glass and splintered wood. The auto junkyard tells a story of inexcusable waste, not only in property value, but in life and limb. The cost of traffic accidents last year was more than a billion and a half dollars. That's the price tag on just one year of carelessness, indifference and ignorance. A pretty heavy burden, don't you think?

BOY SCOUT WINTER CAMPOREE

On Saturday and Sunday, Jan. 22nd and 23rd, Nobscot Reservation in Sudbury was the scene of the annual Norumbega Council Winter Camporee. From 1:30 p. m. on to nearly 4:00 o'clock, patrols arrived at the Monson Lodge to check in with the official checkers for the week-end of camping competition. Patrols came with toboggans loaded high with blankets, kettles, food, axes, and other camping gear. Other patrols with packs on back came on skiis and still others on snowshoes.

From the lodge at the gate, the patrols moved in groups up the winding trail to the Legion Cabin nearly a mile away where packs were checked by a selected group of judges. Points were awarded for condition of packs, methods of transportation, contents of packs and for the general spirit and morale of the patrols. After packs were checked, the patrols scattered to their assigned cabins and made camp for the night. Throughout the afternoon and into the evening they were visited by judges, working in pairs, who inspected their food supplies, inquired into menus, asked questions relative to patrol organizations, planned programs, and the physical condition of the Scouts after their hike through the snow.

After dinner, all Scouts and leaders assembled in the Legion Cabin for the campfire which was in charge of the Lief Ericson Rover Crew of Newton Centre. One hundred and forty-eight Scouts with forty leaders attended the campfire.

The most unusual feature of the second day of the Camporee was the nonsectarian religious service conducted by Scouts from Troop 22 of Newton. Rev. Ray Eusden conducted the service which was made particularly interesting through the historical background provided by the Scouts of this troop in Indian costume. The service was built around the work done among the Indians of Natick, Mass., by John Eliot in the early years of the 18th century. For this service the Legion Cabin became "Fort Nobscot" and the lines of Scouts in bright Indian blankets approaching the Meeting House over the snow for worship made a stirring sight.

The Camporee was officially closed at two-thirty on Sunday afternoon and the final awards were posted on the porch of the gate lodge when the patrols checked out. Final standings of the patrols are as follows:

Rotary Club

Mr. Roland H. Magee spoke to the Rotary Club on Monday concerning a preparation which has been created for concealing birthmarks and other blemishes of the skin. The speaker illustrated his talk with some colored motion pictures, illustrating how various types of skin defects may be well concealed. Cover Mark, as the preparation is called, has been on the market now for six years, but had not been known by most of the members of the club before this talk. Most people probably know others who have been handicapped socially or vocationally by scars and birthmarks and it was interesting to learn that this preparation can be so effective and safe.

President Frank Clark has appointed Walter Gregg and Herbert McGill to arrange the details for the Newton delegation which will attend the annual Mid-Year Assembly of the 1937 district at the Hotel Statler, Boston on Feb. 11th. Many members of the Newton club are planning to attend the assembly at which Maurice Duperrey of Paris, president of Rotary International will be the chief guest of honor.

62 YEARS AGO

Newton Republican, Feb. 5, 1876

Chief of Police Hinds arrested John Sullivan and Jeremiah Driscoll for cruelty to a horse they were unmercifully beating. They were locked up for trial.

In the general reduction of salaries by request of the Mayor his salary was placed at $750, but the city charter says that the salary of the Mayor "shall not at any time be increased or decreased during the year for which he is elected." This, however, does not change the willingness of the Mayor to submit to the same reductions he would accord to others.

The Newton Free Library has opened a branch office for the receiving and delivery of books on Tuesdays and Fridays at the store of J. T. Norris, Newton Lower Falls. This will be good news to residents of that village.

The fifth of the popular "Coffee Parties" at City Hall will be held next Thursday evening.

Deadlocks between the two branches of our city government are not uncommon this Centennial year. The Aldermen want mounted police; the Councilmen refuse to pass an appropriation for the purchase of horses. The Aldermen want the associate assessors to receive $800 each per year; but the Council says only $700. Reports of committees are received quite differently in the two branches. Last year the Aldermen almost invariably accepted reports of committees, and generally without a dissenting voice. This year action is based on preference of the Aldermen rather than on committee reports. In the Council this year, in the main, reports of Committees have been accepted.

There is also a serious difference between the Mayor and the Aldermen, as evinced by the executive session on Monday evening. For City Engineer, the Mayor nominated E. S. Smilie of Ward 1. This was the recommendation of 4 of the 5 members of the Highway Committee, but the Aldermen refused to confirm the nomination. The Mayor then nominated Rufus Cook of Ward 3, but the Aldermen also refused to confirm him.

At the annual meeting of the Newton Cemetery Corporation on Wednesday evening Mr. Henry Ross, the Superintendent, reported that 860 lots have been sold and selected up to January 1, 1876; 280 lots have been graded and sodded and are ready for sale, and five monuments were erected during 1876. It was voted that no hedges, curbings or iron fences be placed on or around lots without a vote of the trustees.

The attendance at the Lyceum meeting in City Hall on Monday night was larger than at any previous meeting. All seats were filled and every inch of standing room occupied before the opening hour. Mr. Van Duzee was chairman and the crowded audience was beyond his control. At times it was impossible to hear the speaker. Several times during the evening the scene near the door was suggestive of a riot, breaking of glass shades, smashing of settees and other demonstrations of violence. Owing to this tumult it was impossible to get all points of arguments. The question debated was—"Resolved, that women be admitted to franchise in the next presidential election."

Mr. Blackwell of Boston opened the discussion by saying that woman should get the franchise because it is her right as an individual. She is subject to laws made by man without her consent, and taxed without representation, which is tyranny. Woman with her refining influence will bring purity into politics, and if she cannot fight our battles, will bring peace, for she is a peacemaker. Mr. Carter spoke in the negative. The franchise should not be extended to woman because she is not educated for it. If women spent one-tenth of the time in practical studies that they now spend on dress and personal adornment, they might be able to vote understandingly. He would advise mothers to educate their daughters in more practical questions of the times, and have them spend less time on frivolities. He disagreed that women are peacemakers. During the Commune in France women were more bloodthirsty than men, and more cruel. In the late war Southern women were more vindictive than the men.

Rev. Mr. Tiffany opposed the franchise for women because it is demoralizing in its tendency. He has the highest regard for women and would shield them from the hardships and trial of politics. Nathaniel T. Allen disagreed with Mr. Tiffany. He said the ballot is an educator; it would elevate the individual instead of demoralize her. He believes in educating boys and girls alike, both morally and physically. Mr. Noyes thought women are well enough in their present condition; much better off than 50 years ago. Then they had to submit everything to the husband, and were struck by him. They are contented with their finery and laces, ruffles and geegaws, and if they go to the polls with their flounces and hoop skirts, there will be no room for the men to vote. James Allen thought that giving the franchise to women will throw more ignorance into politics. He believes in limited franchise for women—educational and financial. There are more ignorant women than men, and our ranks are now swollen by ignorant men. Let us legislate for a higher and better voting qualification.

Edward H. Powers' Paragraphs

Two veteran employees of the Newton postoffice retired from the postal service on Monday of this week, Denis G. Dargon of Oakland st., Brighton, and Patrick C. Tarpy of Summer st., Waltham. For 30 years Mr. Dargon was associated with the Newton postoffice 10 years of that time as a carrier and 20 years as a clerk. Mr. Tarpy served 27 years as a letter carrier in the Newton postoffice. Both of these gentlemen gave intelligent, conscientious service to the people of Newton. Mr. Dargon gave up working several months ago because of his health. Mr. Tarpy retired because of having reached the age limit.

The annual dinner of the Newton Board of Aldermen was held last Monday evening at the Charles River Country Club. These dinners serve as a farewell to retiring members of the Board. Those who became ex-Aldermen on January 1st of this year include Benjamin Bowen of Ward 3, who served nine years on the Board; Dennis Cronin of Ward 4, who served five years; Donald Hill of Ward 2, who served six years; Albert Lyon of Ward 2, who served three years; James Melcher of Ward 7, who served four years. Mr. Lyon also served nine years as a member of the School Committee, and a number of years as a member of the Newton Planning Board. These men helped to maintain the high reputation which has been achieved by successive Boards of Aldermen during the 64 years that Newton has been a city. Many citizens of Newton are not sufficiently appreciative of the service and time given by members of the Board of Aldermen without any financial compensation.

Senator Henry Cabot Lodge is a nice young man and he was elected to the exalted office he holds partly because of his friendly record toward labor while he was a member of the Massachusetts Legislature. Ostensibly, Mr. Lodge's effort to include the "prevailing wage" amendment in the Federal Housing Bill, was in the interest of labor, and it is true that this amendment had the endorsement of certain A. F. of L. leaders. But there are other labor leaders who agree with Senator Wagner in his contention that the inclusion of the "prevailing wage" amendment would annul the right of workers to bargain collectively, thus hampering labor unions in sections where so-called "prevailing wages" might be lower than union wages.

It is obvious that Mr. Lodge and his Republican colleagues in the Senate desired to hamper the Roosevelt administration in the Federal Housing Bill, just as the Republicans played politics in the Anti-Lynching bill. With conditions as they have been and now are in this country, it is a dangerous time to indulge in partisan politics. Incidentally, it is interesting to observe that President Green of the A. F. of L. seems to have changed his attitude on the fixing of wages by the Federal Government. Quite recently he has been strenuously opposing government intrusion on the question of wages, and contended that the matter of wages is the prerogative of labor unions.

It is difficult to conceive projects for the huge numbers of men who are on WPA lists. There has been tremendous waste of money and human energy in many ERA and WPA projects all over this country the past several years. For example— WPA "white collar workers" have been engaged in the productions of human chess games, human checker games and similar nonsensical activities. In a Western State recently they have been taking a census of fish in various lakes, and of piscatorial living conditions in those lakes. Here in Newton a census of trees has been started. Also, here in Newton for several years huge sums of money received through Federal grants have been spent keeping large numbers of men at Cold Spring playground and Edmands Park. One reason for the difficulty in devising WPA projects is the rule that such projects must be on new work; not on maintenance of public works already existent.

Observing the muddy condition of gravel sidewalks in this city during the recent thaw, a condition which forces pedestrians to walk on streets, we could not help but think how beneficial it would be to Newton if WPA workers could be employed improving sidewalks. Some work has been done resurfacing tar sidewalks. Why could not work be done placing cinders or crushed stone on so-called gravel sidewalks so that they can be used by pedestrians in wet weather? This would not be maintenance. It would be new construction.

Governor Hurley seems to have changed his attitude regarding Federal control over the reservoirs of storage basins which will be created under the program of flood control in Massachusetts, New Hampshire, Connecticut and Vermont. Experts say that little water-power will be produced by the creation of these storage basins. Perhaps the Governor sees the merit of Congressman McCormick's bill. And perhaps he realizes that should his continued opposition further delay the flood control program in New England, and other floods will come in the meantime to cause devastation, such a sequel might be serious to his political future.

Going on two years ago milk dealers were ordered by the Newton police department to cease violating the law by using public sidewalks as storage places for cases of empty milk bottles. For a while the milkmen obeyed, but for many months they have been violating the law as they formerly did, and the police have been permitting them to do so. Small boys search through these cases for "store bottles" which are exchangeable for cash. And sometimes bottles are thrown on the streets to cut automobile tires.

The hearing at the State House on the proposal of the Boston Consolidated Gas Company to make a considerable increase in the cost of gas to customers who use less than about $6 worth of this fuel each month, was continued from February 1 to February 17. Henry Parkman, counsel for the City of Boston was one of those who protested against the increased rates. He stated it will affect 98 out of every 100 customers of the Gas Company.

ONE THING AND ANOTHER

By L. D. G. BENTLEY

Valentine Vagary

Ignoring wealth or trade recession,
Let's join St. Valentine's procession
And on his day be glad and merry,
To wit, fourteenth of February,
By sending cards with fancy letters
To both our equals and our betters,
Informing them, in phrases posy,
We hope their lives are bright and rosy,
Or, if there's that we'd knock them for,
Their portraits send in caricature;
In any case allow no barrier—
Make business for the letter carrier.

Good When There's Snow

Answering the boasts of those who traveled north many miles for mountain skiing is the contention of others who found many a glorious slide not too distant from Newton. Having taken no sides or slides because I have neither the costume nor the courage, I believe that all have experienced that for which they ventured—exhilaration, delightful companionship and the glow of health. Also, that they waked up next morning, either at home or in the country, saying, "I'm lame all over but I certainly had a swell time!" Incidentally, the possession of a pair of skiis is said to be a handicap if one is hitch-hiking as some car owners, ordinarily good natured and obliging, demur at having the sport equipment lashed to the back of their vehicle.

"To the Ladies——"

Feminine tact, or should I say woman's wisdom, is apparently developed at an early age. Lucky for us men! None of us will deny we owe an immense debt of gratitude to the fair sex for their exercise of intelligence. But I'm getting away from original purpose which was to offer evidence in support of my claim.

Walking on the sidewalk was a little girl, somewhere around 8 or 10 years old, while trotting ahead of her was a boy, evidently her brother, several years younger. Something caused the boy to trip and fall with considerable force. He must have felt pain as well as shock when he came in contact with the concrete. Passers-by waited to hear him scream. No doubt he would have had not the little girl rushed to his side, embraced him and inquired, soothingly, "Did you have a nice fall?"

Here was a surprise question for it is extremely doubtful if it had ever before occurred to him that there could be anything nice about a fall. He looked at her with puzzled expression and then replied, with great deliberation, "Yes." There were no tears for sister's diplomacy had given him another line of thought. To me the incident is packed with enough philosophy for all of us to share.

No Excuse Now

It has been pretty cold to keep one's ear to the ground as is the custom and duty of the conductor of this column. Nevertheless, I have not allowed the weather to interfere. In consequence I have learned that some Newton men do not like the idea that the city fathers no longer require householders to keep their sidewalks free of snow. Explaining, one man said, "I can no longer show up late at the office in the morning with the excuse that I had to stay out and shovel my sidewalk."

Not Scared But Hesitant

An invitation has been extended me to accompany a pilot of an airplane on his first trip with a passenger. This means that he, having qualified and received his license to operate, has yet to do so accompanied by somebody other than an instructor. Naturally, I appreciate what is plainly a distinction if not an honor. In fact the importance of the selection has so impressed me that I doubt if I am worthy. I have tried to tell my friend that he should choose as his companion on this flight one whose presence and prominence would make the occasion historic. But he insists that it is merely a test of his skill and that it doesn't really matter who goes up. That places me somewhat in the position of a guinea pig or a white mouse, which maybe is where I belong. At any rate there the matter stands.

Recent Weddings

LOWELL—WRIGHT

Miss Dorothy Allard Wright, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy C. Wright of 15 Elliot ter., Newton Upper Falls, was married to Herbert Stanley Lowell of 28 Linwood st., Hyde Park, at four o'clock on Saturday afternoon, January 29, in the Mary Immaculate of Lourdes Church, Newton Upper Falls. Rev. Wm. O'Connell performed the ceremony.

The bride wore a fitted dress of white velvet with a collar of seed pearls and a long train. Her veil of tulle had a coronet of seed pearls and orange blossoms and she carried a prayer book with shower of lilies of the valley and gardenias. She was attended by Miss Margaret Mulqueeny of North Cambridge who wore rose raspberry taffeta in bouffant style with an old fashioned hat of velvet in the same color and carried an old fashioned bouquet. Miss Delcie Fortin, four-year-old niece of the groom of Hyde Park, was the train bearer. She wore a gown of peach taffeta trimmed with ruffles.

William O'Connell of Boston was the best man.

A reception was held at the Newton Highlands Woman's Club from 4:30 until 8. The couple were assisted in receiving by Mr. and Mrs. Roy C. Wright, Mrs. Delcie Lowell and the maid of honor and best man.

After February 14 Mr. and Mrs. Lowell will make their home in Hyde Park.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Hunting of 28 Champa ave., Newton Upper Falls, announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Ella S. Hunting, to Henry Mekkelsen, son of Mrs. Henry Mekkelsen and the late Mr. Mekkelsen, of Concord, Mass., on Sunday, January 30, at the Methodist Episcopal Church in Cochituate, with Rev. A. S. Anderson, pastor officiating. The couple were attended by the bride's sister and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Cofran of Cochituate.

Owing to the recent death of the groom's father a quiet family reception and wedding supper was held at the home of the bride's parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Mekkelsen will reside in Concord, Mass.

Kiwanis Club

Guests at the weekly meeting of the Newton Kiwanis Club included Rev. Father Joseph Shea of West Medford, Lieut. Governor Bill Gleason and Past President Joe Ross, both of the Wellesley Club, and Angelo M. Serino, Radio Man First Class of the United States Coast Guard.

Mr. Serino exhibited a forty-minute talking picture showing the varied and humane duties performed by the Coast Guard. The picture showed the fine Coast Guard Academy at New London where the officers receive a four-year course of training and are commissioned Ensigns in the service. Long and intensive hours of training follow and then the Guardsman is ready for service.

The work of the Coast Guard is known in some small way by everyone but very few realize the all-embracing scope of this great service. The Coast Guard now has about 300-odd ships and small boats, some very modern air bases including one at Salem, Mass., two hundred and seventy-seven stations and 10,000 miles of coastline to patrol. Last year they examined some 31,800 vessels in the course of their revenue activities. Of these some 1400 vessels were reported and prosecuted for infraction of certain of our laws.

The heroic work done by the Coast Guard in the "Morro Castle" disaster is known to all and was very well shown in the movies.

Prior to 1915 there were two services. One the Life-Saving Service and the other the Revenue Cutter Service. In 1915 Congress passed a law combining these two services into one and calling it The United States Coast Guard.

Not the last important, work of the Coast Guard is keeping the steamer lanes free of icebergs. It is interesting to note that after the disastrous sinking of the Titanic with a loss of some 1100 lives the Coast Guard was delegated to keep watch over these shipping lanes. The eternal vigilance of the Coast Guard has more then proven its worth because there has not been a single shipwreck in the northern shipping lanes since that time.

Famous among the old Coast Guard boats were the "Bear of Oakland." For many years this famous old ship plowed its oaken prow into the icy shipping channels. More recently it was used by Byrd on his South Pole expedition.

Eternal vigilance 24 hours a day is the watchword of these guardians of the coast, who are always ready to aid fellowmen in shipwreck and in storm.

Local Archer In Stunt Features at Florida Club

G. Crandon Woolley, of Newton Highlands, national ranking archer, was the feature attraction in an archery exhibition before 5000 spectators at the Miami Biltmore Country Club pool show here this week.

Shooting the length of the beautiful 50-meter pool, Mr. Woolley put on a fine showing of bow and arrow marksmanship. One of his stunts was to burst balloons attached to the bull's eye of the target. Another stunt was to burst a small balloon attached to a dummy's head in a "William Tell" act.

The performance was put on under great difficulty due to a strong cross wind, and also the mental hazard of the Biltmore orchestra in line of fire behind the target.

West Newton Improvement Club Elects Officers

Monday evening at the meeting of the West Newton Improvement Club, Harry Gray, popular athlete was elected to the office of President with Arthur Lee as Vice-President; Eugene Lomax, Secretary; Melvin Moore, Asst. Secretary; George Turner, Treasurer; Franklin Cooper, Chaplain, and Jonas Perry, Sergeant-at-Arms.

Installation was conducted by the Past officers, Walter Cooper and Alfred Haywood.

Mr. Haywood was given a vote of thanks from the members for the splendid way he had conducted the interest of the club's business during the past two years.

Cooking School At Edison Shop Next Wednesday

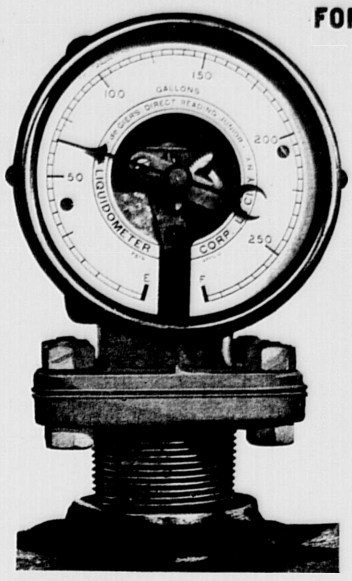

A two hour electric cooking school to which the public is invited will be held next Wednesday afternoon, February 9, at the Newton Centre Edison Shop, 95 Union st. Special arrangements have been made to comfortably accommodate a large audience.

The preparation and cooking of a complete electric oven meal will serve as the centerpiece for the interesting session which is routined to show how all of the modern home electric appliances are best used in the home. The handy electric roaster will be put to work, refrigerator desserts will be prepared, and smaller appliances demonstrated. Electric cooking recipes will be distributed at the close of the class. These interesting sessions bring periodically to local housewives intimate and practical phases of homemaking and are now an accepted part of community life and interest.

THE WEEK IN NEWTON SPORTS

NEWTON TRACK TEAM SCORES 26 POINTS

With a grand display of power the Newton High track forces rolled up an overwhelming victory in the 11th annual Northeastern University Interscholastic track meet at the Boston Garden last Saturday. Coach Don Enoch's crew tallied 26 points to more than treble the score of its nearest competitor and to outscore the total of the four schools finishing next to the orange and black. Lowell was second with 8 points, Worcester Commerce third with 5¾, New Bedford fourth with 5½. Worcester North, Medford, Mechanics Arts, Lynn English and Everett each tallied five points.

The story of the meet was the story of Newton's strength. Starting with flashes of power in the trial heats of the dash and hurdles Co-captain Bud Hines blazed his way to breast the tape in the dash and Don MacKinnon duplicated his feat in the hurdles. The Newton power sparkled intermittently to flare up with a surge in the 600, the final running event with the exception of the relays, to take 7 points with a first and a third. The final spark was lighted in the last of thirteen relays when a Newton quarter ran their Medford rivals into the ground to chalk up the best time for another five point tally. Then the power waned as Billy Pescololido, 1937 high jumping champ and pre-meet favorite, bowed out of the picture at 5 ft. 9½ inches. It was no fault of the Newton leaper's that the spring was gone from his legs as he had run the second leg on the relay to do his bit for the Newton cause. Leg weary and heavy less than five minutes later he could do no better than take fourth in the jump. Thus Newton's twenty-six points were tallied through four firsts, one second, one third, one fourth, for its third straight N. U. title and its fifth in eleven years of the history of the games. In winning its third title the orange and black retired the present trophy the second in the series, the first having gone to Medford back in 1933. Malden and Brookline, in 34 and 35 respectively, each had a leg on the trophy before Newton came back into prominence a year later.

The hurdles were the first event with MacKinnon and Pesky the local entries. The former won trial heat number seven and the latter the eighth heat to qualify for the semi-finals. Pesky was shut out in his semi-final but MacKinnon placed second to Billy Wood of Lowell to get into the finals along with Wolfson of Brookline, Goode of Mechanics Arts, Lisle of Lowell and MacFarland of Winthrop. MacKinnon got off to a nice start in the final heat to beat Wood by six inches at the tape. MacFarland was in third place at the 40-yard mark but pulled a tendon and fell. Lisle slipped into third and Goode took fourth place.

In the dash a large field was reduced by twelve heats to four semi-finals and a run over heat for second men, with Hines winning the third trial heat and Bill Hurley the other Newton entry, failing to qualify. Wood qualified for his second final by winning the first semi-final in the dash in time equalling the meet record of 5.6 seconds. Wesley Taylor, 1937 champ, and Hines did likewise. Walker of Everett was the other semi-final winner and Rupert Leonard of Boston English and Katchpole of Dedham qualified in the run-over heat. Taylor was disqualified on two false starts leaving the other five to run it off. Hines had less than a foot over Wood, again in record equalling time, with Walker third and Katchpole fourth.

The 300-yard run was called next and Newton spectators gasped as Hines withdrew from his heat when his name was called as the Newton star was a favorite to win. With ten points in the hurdles and dash and the meet pretty well in hand Newton wanted to set the mark in the new relay distance and Coach Enoch wanted to save Hines for the first leg. As it turned out Maze, 1937 winner of the 300 for Mechanics Arts, was disqualified for two false starts in his heat and the final eventually went to Herlihy of Medford in 34.8 seconds.

In the 1000 yard run Basil Babcock gave Newton more points, winning the first heat in 2 min. 25 sec. Maloney of Worcester North, surprise winner, turned in a 2.24 time in the second heat to nip Babcock. Points were awarded on a time basis with Faulkner of Somerville taking second and Pocius of Brockton, who was beaten by Babcock, taking fourth. Had the Newton runner run his own race against time he might have taken first but he let the Brockton runner set the pace for a time as the latter was considered one of the best of the field. Bob Cotton was the other Newton entry in the 1000 but failed to finish in the running.

The 600-yard run showed Newton's real strength with both entries coming through. Fred Hall, a sophomore, won the second heat in 1:20 just behind the time of 1:19.9 made by Nute of New Bedford in the opening heat. Then in the fourth heat Art Hughes ran away from his field to break the tape with a clocking of 1:19.4 for first place which with Hall's third gave Newton 7 more points to bring their total to 20, far ahead of any rival.

Newton failed to place in the shot-put as expected but Messier and Pesky were still in the high jump as the relays began. The bar slowly moved higher and Messier finally went out. With the bar at 5 ft. 9½ inches Pesky was called to the track with the relay team. Hines started off against Reid of Medford and winning the first bank gradually lengthened his lead. Pesky, Co-captain Jerry Allen and MacKinnon added to it as a Medford runner fell and picked himself up again to continue the race far in the ruck. Newton's time of 2 min. 31 secs. shaded that of Mechanics Arts by a full second so that Pesky's efforts were not at all in vain although it left him legheavy on his return to the jump where the best the 1937 champ and record breaker with a mark of 6 ft. 2 1/8 inches could do was to take fourth place and Newton's 26th point.

RINDGE FIVE UPSETS NEWTON HIGH QUINT

After keeping its slate clean for seven successive games, six of which were in the Suburban league circuit, the Newton High basketball team was finally toppled by Rindge Tech on Monday afternoon in a 26 to 20 contest. The Rindge victory, coming on the Newton floor, brought the Cambridge school five into a first place tie with Newton in the league standing, each with three more games to play.

With the Newton players having an off day, Rindge was superior throughout Monday's affair, leading at half time, 12 to 8. The Newton team's passing was off with Rindge intercepting inaccurate heaves on three occasions in the first half to score easy baskets. Galloway at centre and O. Paglierini at left forward for Rindge each tallied nine points to almost equal the Newton total. VanGundy at forward and Flagg at guard contributed six points apiece towards Newton's score of points but with their high scoring forward, Don Abbott, and Captain Leger at centre each held to one floor goal, there were insufficient tallies to keep pace with the visitors' five. Wally Maguire tossed in one free shot and Pepper Martin made one floor goal and one from the foul line for the balance of the orange and black tallies.

This afternoon Newton will meet Arlington high in a return game on the Newton floor, having vanquished the Spy Ponders, 29 to 25, in its first round game at Arlington, clinching the decision in the final seconds of play. Next Tuesday Coach Simmons' five goes to Waltham and a week later to Brookline for its concluding league engagements. Next Friday Watertown high comes to Newton in one of Newton's few scheduled games outside of league competition.

Fined $35 For Drunken Driving

Richard Welsh, 23, of Providence, a student at Harvard Business School, was fined $35 in the Newton court by Judge Mayberry last Friday for driving a car while under the influence of liquor. A charge of drunkenness was placed on file. Patrolman E. J. Foley testified that early on that morning he had observed a car driven by Welsh zigzagging on Lincoln st., and that it nearly tipped over when it hit a snow bank.

In court the same day Francis Sullivan, 22, of Washington st., Wellesley Hills, was fined $5 for speeding. Patrolman Lupien was the complainant.

Manley Appointed To Welfare Dept.

Ellery D. Manley of 497 Ward st., Newton Centre, has been appointed an investigator in the Newton Welfare Department under temporary tenure. Director Reynolds of the Welfare Department has asked that an additional investigator be added to the department, which now has four investigators in addition to Mr. Manley. The latter has been doing investigating work for the past few years under Harold Young among Newton residents who have been on WPA rolls.

More Unemployed Than Estimated

Nearly 2500 claims have been filed at the district agency of the State Unemployment Compensation Commission at the State Armory in West Newton. This district includes Newton, Watertown, Needham and Wellesley. It had been estimated that the number in the district entitled to compensation was about 2000, but this will be largely exceeded. Of those who filed applications, about 600 have already received authorization cards, and received their compensation checks the past week.

License Suspended, Keeps Driving; Fine Suspended

Herbert Shapiro of 29 Graylyn rd., Newton Centre, and his wife Rose Shapiro, were arraigned in the Newton court last Saturday charged with driving automobiles after their licenses to do so had been suspended. The licenses had been suspended by the Registrar of Motor Vehicles because the Shapiros had repeatedly failed to respond to summonses issued against them by Boston police for violations of parking rules in that city. Patrolman Joe Smith testified that he had seen the Shapiros operating cars since their licenses were suspended. Shapiro pleaded not guilty and his case was continued until February 4. Mrs. Shapiro pleaded guilty and Judge Mayberry fined her $50. He then suspended the fine and she was placed on probation until August.

WOMEN'S CLUB ACTIVITIES

Edited by EMMA D. COOLIDGE

Two Entertaining Lectures

Exciting adventure, flavored with humorous and instructive touches, will distinguish Miss Edith Scammon's talk on that most northern and distant corner of our country, "Alaska," affectionately nicknamed "Uncle Sam's Attic," at the American Home committee meeting of the Newtonville Woman's Club, on Wednesday, February 9th, at 2:30 p. m., at the home of Mrs. Erskine Gay, 26 Washington park.

Miss Scammon has made several trips into the most remote Alaskan villages, where she has lived for months among the natives, sharing their homes, food, and daily manner of living, with only one other white woman in the colony. From this experience she has brought back many interesting stories to tell, and pictures to show, of the country and people. Mountain climbs taken alone in quest of rare Alpine flowers, with the danger of grizzly bears lurking about, are among the unusual adventures of this courageous traveler. In her informal talk, Miss Scammon will inform, as well as entertain her audience with the scientific data she has obtained, including, for example, tusks of elephants centuries old.

The American Home committee cordially invites Club members and their guests to be present at this unique meeting. Tea will be served.

New ideas for the family menu can be obtained by attending the Spry demonstration at the Newtonville Woman's Club House on Monday, February 7th, at 2 p. m. Cake, pie, doughnuts, steak, and other appetizing foods will be cooked by an efficient demonstrator, and the correct way of using Spry explained. After the demonstration the food will be given to the holders of the lucky numbers. Anyone who wishes may attend. There will be no admission charge.

Noted Editor To Discuss World Outlook

Mr. J. Roscoe Drummond, Executive Editor of the Christian Science Monitor, will speak on "The World Outlook," at the International Dinner, on Monday evening, February 7th, at 6:45 o'clock, at the Newton Centre Woman's Club. While filling the position of European Editorial Manager of the Monitor, from 1930 to 1933, Mr. Drummond travelled all through Europe. He was invited by the Japanese Government to visit Japan and Manchukuo in 1934, and Mr. Drummond also visited China and the Philippines. Members of the Club may attend his address at 7:45 p. m. for an admission fee of 25 cents, and others than Club members may have the privilege of attending for a fee of 35 cents. Dinner reservations at 75 cents should be made through Mrs. Lucius Thayer.

Lucy Simonds in the last of the Opera Recital Talks before the Newton Centre Woman's Club will interpret "Parsifal" on Tuesday morning, February 8th, at 10:30 o'clock.

The hostesses for the coffee and social hour before the regular meeting of the Newton Centre Woman's Club on Friday afternoon, February 11th, will be Mrs. Merriman Hess and Mrs. Harry M. Sutton. Dorothea Brande, author of "Wake Up and Live," the non-fiction best seller for many months, will present "How to Change Your State of Mind." For twenty years before she stumbled upon her magic formula, Miss Brande turned out an average of less than two completed pieces of work in a year. In the two years after what she calls her moment of illumination, she completed three books, twenty-four articles, four short stories, seventy-two lectures, did the ground work for three additional books, and gave consultation and advice to hundreds of people in all parts of the country. Miss Brande has worked out some exercises she considers make the mind flexible and free it from restraint.

Mrs. Donald E. Walch, chairman of the Children's Amateur Hour Entertainment, announces that a tryout for the Entertainment will be held at the Newton Centre Woman's Club House on Tuesday afternoon, February 15th, at 2:45 o'clock. Any child wishing to take part in the Amateur Hour on February 19th at 2 o'clock, must attend the tryout February 15th. The Amateur Hour is being repeated by request. The change in time from 11 o'clock in the morning to 2 o'clock in the afternoon should be noted.

Announcements were made of the Symphony Concert to be held February 4th and the Pageant to be held February 10th and 11th at the Newton High School, for both of which the president, Mrs. Dockstader, had tickets.

The following committee chairmen for the coming year were announced: Finance, Mrs. Louis A. Myers; Ways and Means, Mrs. Patrick Duncan; Program, Mrs. D. Earle Brackett; and Scholarship, Mrs. Emil A. Haas.

After the business meeting, a very interesting and amusing Play-Reading, "And Miss Lunt," written by Gladys Black Wilcox, of Arlington, was presented. The cast included Mrs. Harry S. Wells, Mrs. Patrick Duncan, Mrs. D. Webster Anders, Mrs. Charles E. Gibson, Jr., Mrs. John Shade Franklin, Mrs. Fred H. Fowle, Mrs. Malcolm A. Warren, Mrs. Gordon S. Heath, Mrs. Benton Curtis, Miss Ruth Filene, and Mrs. Ernest A. Dockstader, coach, who took the place of Mrs. Wilson C. Dort who was ill.

Several delightful songs were sung by Mrs. George Abbott, who was accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Henry Shepard.

Preceding the meeting an attractive demonstration-luncheon was served at 12:30 p. m. by the Ways and Means committee. Assisting the chairman, Mrs. George E. Dennett, were Mrs. George H. Jackson, Mrs. Percival Waters, Mrs. William W. Edwards, Mrs. Malcolm Warren, Mrs. Dayton P. Haigney, Mrs. Morgan Hurley, and Mrs. Chester E. Borden. After the luncheon, Miss Ruth Sandermann, hostess for the Louise Luncheon Service, gave a talk on some of the products used on the menu, and also on some new canned goods now on the market. Five lucky women, Mrs. Everett L. Upham, Mrs. C. A. Doten, Mrs. A. N. Needy, Mrs. George H. Bigelow, and Mrs. R. G. Cushing received special gifts of food when their names were drawn.

The White Elephant Bridge which was held at the home of Mrs. Emil A. Haas on January 20th was a great success, and the next afternoon Bridge will be held at the home of Mrs. Fred C. Kemball, 273 Otis st., on March 18th. Members are asked to reserve this date.

The Contract Bridge Class will meet with Mrs. D. Webster Anders conducting, at Mrs. Henry F. Keating's home, on Tuesday, February 8th, at 1:30 p. m.

Character Portrayals of Famous Folk

Attention is called to a change in program for the next meeting of the Newton Community Club, a change announced by the Club president, Mrs. Frank H. Briggs, during the business session of the meeting last Thursday. On Thursday, February 10th, Nan Lagerstedt, who was to have given the program for the Club meeting of March 24th, will give an afternoon of real entertainment in "Character Portrayals." She uses no scenery, no make-up, or change of costume beyond the occasional addition of a scarf, or of some note of color, yet her characters are as sharply differentiated as though she presented them with the most elaborate of costume aids.

The International Relations Group of the Club will hold its regular meeting at the home of Mrs. Earl P. Stevenson, 106 Shorncliffe rd., at 2:15 p. m., on Monday, February 14th. Mrs. Malcolm Green, of Newton Highlands, chairman of the International Relations department of the State Federation of Women's Clubs, will speak on "The Road to Peace," and there will be group discussion of the Foreign Policy Association's latest booklet on "The Alternative to War." Club members and guests are cordially invited to attend this meeting.

International Relations Day of the Newton Community Club comprised the program at the Underwood School Hall, last Thursday, January 27th. The president, Mrs. Briggs, introduced the speaker, Prof. S. Ralph Harlow, who came to the Club through the courtesy of the Newton Trust Company.

Professor Harlow gave a vivid picture of the dramatic situation in the Mediterranean. He said that the Conference held in June, 1915, in London, caused more unrest than anything else until after the Armistice was signed. His description of different countries and their influence upon one another was vastly enlightening, such as his statement that Constantinople was often policed by several nations at one time; and that one year from the signing of the Armistice, fifteen nations were still at war.

Being an American Citizen is priceless, and as a Nation we want Peace, were his significant closing remarks.

George Wheeler, well-known Boston Tenor, accompanied by Mrs. Ray A. Eusden, gave an enjoyable program of songs.

Chairmen of committees called the attention of Club members to the meetings of importance coming during the next week. Among these still to occur. Miss Adelaide B. Ball, chairman of the Legislative committee, spoke of the One-Day School of Politics, planned jointly by the Newton League of Women Voters and the Civic and Legislative committee of the Newton Centre Woman's Club, to be held at the Club House on February 10th.

The Art chairman, Miss Florence C. Bacon, told of the Art Scholarship Lectures to be given at the Boston Art Museum; of several exhibits being held in Boston; also of the Art Conference to be held in Wellesley on February 7th.

Mrs. John MacNeil, chairman of Public Health, had on view in the Hall a splendid assortment of Health Booklets.

Mrs. Alfred Handley announced the Girl Scout Bridge Party to be held in Channing Church Parlors on February 7th, at 2 p. m.

The president thanked all Club members for their co-operation in making the Bridge Party a success. She called attention to the Historical Pageant commemorating the Constitution, to be held February 10th and 11th, in the Newton High School Auditorium.

The Community Service committee, of which Mrs. Louis J. Hunter is chairman, has already accomplished much in aid of their many proteges; forty-four Christmas Bags filled for Newton Veterans in hospitals; twelve garments made for the Red Cross; three pairs of men's outing flannel pajamas, with hoods to match, which are to be given to men in Tubercular Hospitals; and two large Christmas baskets filled to overflowing, for needy families. During the next few months the committee will work for the physically-handicapped, making bed shoes and afghans for the Peabody Home. At their next meeting they will start to make pajamas for the girls of the Pomroy Home. They have knitted already about $40 worth of yarn into various articles.

Following the meeting a social hour was enjoyed. The World and Flags of different nations decorated the teatable, at which Mrs. Clarence V. Moore, Mrs. Frank E. Wing, Mrs. Leon M. Lamb, and Mrs. Frederick White presided.

Juniors' Activities

Waban Junior Woman's Club

On Monday, February 7th, Waban Juniors will present their Club Play for the members, "Blame It on the Movies," which is being coached by Miss Marjorie Jones, president of the Club. Members of the cast include Jean MacDonald, Virginia Wilder, Jane Kingsley, Dorothy Jones, Virginia Hamilton, and Eleanor Greene. This presentation is to be given in preparation for the State Federation Play Contest in which Waban is to compete with the Needham Juniors at Framingham on March 1st.

Also at this meeting, those girls interested in trying out for the State Travel Scholarship Contest are invited to talk for one minute on any subject they wish, after which the Club will vote on the girl best suited to represent Waban in this contest.

Waban has a very active Junior Club this year, and is now making plans for the Twelfth District Conference of Junior Clubs which is to be held in Waban on the 9th of March. Mrs. John H. Kimball, president of the Massachusetts State Federation, and Mrs. Olaf Hoff, Jr. fourth vice-president, are to be guests of honor at this Conference. The speaker has not yet been announced. Miss Marjorie Jones, Waban Junior Club president, will preside at the meeting assisted by Mrs. Benjamin D. Miller, Twelfth District director in the State Federation.

Newton Centre Junior Woman's Club

The Newton Centre Junior Woman's Club will give a Dessert-Bridge on Tuesday, February 8th, at 7:30 p. m., at the Club House, to raise money for their Philanthropic Fund. Tickets are priced at 35 cents. Members and friends are cordially invited to attend. Miss Jane and Miss Betty Hutchison are in charge of tickets.

Newton Highlands Junior Woman's Club

At the February 8th meeting of the Newton Highlands Junior Woman's Club, Hazel Blake French will talk on "Interpretative Jewelry Set with Sandwich Glass." She will have an exhibition with her to illustrate her talk. The meeting will be held at 8 o'clock in the Workshop.

Junior Clubs to Hold Dance

The Junior Clubs of the Auburndale Woman's Club and the West Newton Women's Educational Club will combine to hold a formal Dance, Friday evening, February 11th, from 9 until 1 o'clock, in the Auburndale Club House, with music by Jimmy Gahan and his orchestra.

Co-chairmen of the Dance are the two presidents, Constance Hirst, of

Newton Highlands Woman's Club

The regular meeting of the Woman's Club of Newton Highlands was held at the Workshop on Tuesday, January 25th, with the president, Mrs. H. Herbert Hale presiding.

The program for the afternoon was under the sponsorship of the American Home and Art committee, who presented Caroline C. Saunders, whose subject was "The Lore and Lure of Hooked Rugs." Mrs. Saunders exhibited rare and beautiful rugs and gave a brief history of many of them. She stated that the art of pegging or hooking rugs originated in Scandinavia, and the rugs were first designed for bedcovers. From there it worked down to the Orkney Islands. These rugs were a part of every bride's dowry. In due time they reached Scotland, where they were first used as floor covering. Thence they arrived on American shores.

The audience was urged to use always the old designs, as they were created by people of high imagination. An interesting fact is that the lion which is so often used, originally typified the "lion of England," and later, when it was shown amid tropical trees —Africa—denoted slavery and the Civil War. The Oriental designs were copies of rugs brought home by sea captains. Frost, the tin peddler from Biddeford, Maine, was a strong factor in rug development as he was the first to sell the printed designs. Early rugs were not hooked with a high pile and then sheared, but, because of the shortage of materials, were hooked very short and never sheared, thereby giving a much softer texture.

Protest Use of California St. For Parkway

Monday morning a hearing was held at the State House by the joint committee on Metropolitan Affairs, of which Senator Arthur W. Hollis is chairman, on the bill introduced by Representative Leo Landry of Watertown for the extension of Charles River Parkway from Galen st. bridge at Watertown through Nonantum to Waltham. Mr. Landry said that if money will not be available to extend the parkway to Waltham, it should at least be extended to Bridge st., at Bemis. He said that the use of California st. as part of the route of the parkway is not mentioned in his bill, and that if Newton objects to the use of the street, it is agreeable to him to have the strip of land along the riverbank, and owned by the Metropolitan District Commission, used for this purpose. This land was purchased many years ago for the parkway site.

Otis Fellows, engineer for the M. D. C., presented a plan showing the use of the riverbank, but suggested that California st. might be used temporarily. He said that originally it was the plan of the M. D. C. to use the riverbank for the parkway route, but about 1930 the State Public Works Department stepped in and planned using California st., probably getting the idea by looking at a map without knowing conditions.

Representative Warren K. Brimblecom of Newton said he sympathizes with Representative Landry in his efforts to relieve traffic conditions at Watertown sq. and on Main st. between Watertown and Waltham by the extension of the riverway and believes it should be a project receiving early consideration, but he and many other Newton residents emphatically object to the use of California st. either permanently or temporarily. He stated that many children and factory employees use California st. and several fatal automobile accidents have occurred on the street. Mr. Brimblecom told of the history of the roadway along the south bank of the Charles River. For a long time it ended at the foot of Maple st., Newton, then it was extended a short distance to Water st., Watertown, and remained that way for several years. A few years ago it was finally built through to Galen st., near the bridge at Watertown. He feared that if California st. were used "temporarily," so called, it might be many years before the road would be built along the riverbank. He argued that if any part of the riverway is extended, it should be built along the riverbank between Galen st. and Bridge st.

Alderman George Rawson of Ward 7 said he had introduced an order in the Newton Board of Aldermen objecting to the use of California st. in any way as a part of the parkway extension. He presented a plan of the California st. section, prepared by City Engineer Harvey, which shows the manufacturing and residential buildings along California st. Street Commissioner Mahoney of Newton told of a traffic count which had been taken on California st. and which refutes the statement made some time ago by a State official alleging that there is little traffic on California st. Chief of Police Hughes told of a number of serious automobile accidents which have occurred on California st. the past several years.

According to plans the parkway extension would proceed from Galen st. along either the riverbank or California st. to Bridge st., thence along the riverbank to a point at the rear of the Standard Oil Company on Calvary st., Waltham. Then it would follow River st. to Elm st., through part of the land of the former Boston Manufacturing Company, across Moody st., along the river shore and under the Boston & Maine tracks. An overpass at Prospect st., Waltham, would carry the parkway with Weston st. near the railroad bridge there.

Protest Against Furbush Auto Yard

A large group of residents from the vicinity of Davis ave., West Newton, appeared at Newton City Hall on Monday night to register their protests against the petition of Wesley J. Furbush for a permit to use land at Davis ave. for the display and sale of second-hand automobiles. Hugh Boyd, as attorney for Furbush, said his client is an old and respected member of this community, had been truant officer of the schools for many years, and had been in business at his present location in West Newton for over 30 years. He stated that Mr. Furbush has displayed cars on his land for many years and acquired this right before the zoning ordinance went into effect. Answering arguments that the display of the used cars outdoors adversely affected neighboring properties, Mr. Boyd stated that his client had formerly owned 33 acres of land in that locality, had built seven streets in developing the property and was interested in maintaining the values of property there. Boyd also said that the argument of increased fire insurance rates did not apply to the outdoor sales space, but only to the Furbush garage. He reminded the Aldermen that with one or two exceptions they are all Republicans, that the present Republican slogan is non-interference with business, and this should be practiced in the Furbush case.

Boyd Jones of Amesbury, representing the Provident Institution for Savings, objected to the Furbush petition. He said persons had built homes in the vicinity on the supposition that it would not become a business district. Benjamin Freeman of 52 Orchard ave. argued that the parking of used cars on the Furbush property increased the fire hazard in the neighborhood and lowered property values. E. L. White of Stoneleigh rd. said the use of the place as an outdoor sales yard increased the traffic hazard to children. Alderman Gaddis asked Boyd if he would like to have a lot of old automobiles near his home, and Mr. Boyd replied that he would not mind it a bit. Boyd called attention to the fact that this is the first year the Aldermen have insisted on Furbush applying for a license to use his land for the sale and display of used cars, despite the fact that he had conducted such a business there for many years. Boyd asked for a ruling on the matter from the City Solicitor, but that official was not present at the time.

Mrs. E. C. Reed of 51 Davis ave. praised the Furbush family as excellent neighbors, but said it is not pleasant to constantly look at a string of old automobiles, and that she has not been able to sell her house as a result of the auto yard. Francis MacCrudden of 19 Stoneleigh rd. said that on two previous occasions the Aldermen have turned down attempts to extend the business zones at West Newton and should do so in this case. On a showing of hands about 30 persons registered objections to the Furbush petition.

Following a long recess, Alderman Inches of the Licenses Committee reported that the committee recommended the refusal of Mr. Furbush's petition and the Board voted to accept the recommendation.

Gasoline Thieves Put on Probation

Six youths arrested by Newton police for stealing gasoline by siphoning it out of parked cars, were arraigned in the Newton court last Friday. Domenic Magnarelli, 18, of 125 Adams st., Nonantum, was given a suspended prison sentence of 6 months, and placed on probation. Nicholas Gentile, 17, of 33 Chandler st., and Donato Tocci, 17, of 18 West st., Nonantum, who came to appear as witnesses for Magnarelli, were also found guilty and placed on probation. The other three youths found guilty and placed on probation, were under 17 years of age.

Want Old Buildings At Newton Coal Yard Torn Down

The Newton Board of Aldermen held a hearing on Monday night on an order recently introduced which asks the Metropolitan Coal Company to show cause why the old, dilapidated buildings at the former Brackett coal yard on Washington st., Newton, opposite Our Lady's Church, should not be adjudged dangerous, and ordered removed or altered. James Anderson of Roslindale said he owns a house directly across Washington st. from the former coal yard and because the old buildings there are such an eyesore, he could not rent his house for 5 years. He contended the old buildings will fall down some day and kill children who may be playing around them.

Bartholomew Hayes of 631 Washington st. said the old coal yard is an eyesore to the Garden City, that the buildings have been abandoned for 10 years, and it is an injustice to have them opposite a school which saves many thousands of dollars each year to the City of Newton. Michael Norton of 9 Washington ter. exhibited a piece of very decayed wood which he said he had taken that day from a sill which supports one of the buildings at the coal yard. He said the buildings are unsafe and apt to collapse. Lawrence Mazzola of 181 Adams st. said the place has not been used for business for many years, constitutes a nuisance, and boys play there. He argued that the buildings are a fire hazard, a fire having recently occurred in one of them, that they harbor vermin, and afford an opportunity for some degenerate to attack children. He said that friends of his from outside Newton criticize the city permitting such an eyesore on its main street.

Rev. John A. Sheridan, pastor of Our Lady's Church, gave a brief outline of the history of the widening of Washington st. 43 years ago, when all buildings between Centre ave., Newton, and Felton st., West Newton, were either razed or moved except the buildings at the Brackett Coal yard and Ladder 1 fire station between Newtonville and West Newton. Father Sheridan said the Boston & Albany railroad company had repeatedly endeavored to have the Brackett Coal Company move its yard across the tracks adjoining the freight yard and Newtonville ave., and had made inducements for such a move. He stated that the coal buildings had been abandoned seven years ago, and later an old tenement which was located at one end of a stable, and which the Board of Health should long before have condemned. He told of propositions made to interest the church in the purchase of the property. He said he has seen little children playing in the dangerous old buildings. Dr. Roland Barrette said he resides in the old Jackson homestead, one of Newton's heirlooms, that this property has been improved and beautified, and the nearby abandoned coal yard is a sorry contrast.

J. L. Johnson of 29 Merrill rd., Newton Centre, informed the Aldermen that he is president of the Metropolitan Coal Company, present owners of the old coal yard property. He asked the Aldermen to refrain from taking action on the matter for a week, in the belief that some solution may be reached. On a showing of hands, about 40 persons evidenced that they approve of the removal of the old buildings at the former coal yard.

Present Gift To Retired Fireman

A testimonial banquet was tendered Frederick A. Fontannay of Ladder 2, Newton Fire Department, last evening at Station 10, 964 Boylston st., by members of the crew and department in honor of his retirement which became effective this morning.

Chief Clarence W. Randlett was toastmaster. Other speakers were Chief Thomas Quinlan of Needham, Capt. M. F. Turner, Newton Fire Department; Lieutenant Daniel E. Crowley, Newton Police Department; Lieutenant Fred Thompson, Milton Fire Department; George Mullen, Milton Fire Department, and Joseph Coppinger of Needham.

Chief Randlett presented Mr. Fontannay with a check from the members of the department and a fine pipe and tobacco given by a Newton Highlands business man.

Mrs. Fontannay was remembered by members of Ladder 2 Company by a large bouquet of carnations at her home at 68 Carl st., Newton Highlands.

Fireman Fontannay was appointed a substitute call man at Hose 7, Newton Upper Falls, June 1, 1909. Appointed call hoseman at Hose 7, Aug. 1, 1910. Appointed Lieutenant at call Hose 7, Dec. 1, 1915. Appointed to permanent force July 1, 1917, and assigned to Ladder 2, Newton Highlands.

Escaped Prisoner Appears In Court

Otha L. Smith, 25, of Hopkinton, was arrested on Wednesday in Roxbury by Inspector Connors of the Registry of Motor Vehicles. Last October, Smith was arrested on the turnpike by a motor vehicle inspector charged with drunken driving. He was permitted to enter a gasoline station to telephone, and vamoosed. In court Smith was charged with drunken driving, speeding, driving a car after his license had been suspended, and taking a car without authority. His case was continued to Feb. 16 and in default of $1000 bail he was sent to Cambridge jail.

Hays Speaks On Civil Liberties At Forum

Cites Several Instances of Alleged Injustices

Last Sunday afternoon, Feb. 6th, Arthur Garfield Hays spoke at the next to last meeting of the Newton Community Forum for the current season. His subject was "Let Freedom Ring: Civil Liberty in 1938."

Arthur Garfield Hays has been outstanding in his work with the Civil Liberties Union both as a lawyer in the defense of justice and freedom and as a writer and lecturer. He said that so gradually that it is unnoticeable to the average person, liberty and freedom are leaking out of this country and seeping into the gap are bigotry, politics, injustice and all the ingredients of fascism.

Mr. Hays cited many cases of injustice done individuals and groups by the misdirection of officers of the law and their superiors; such, for instance, as not granting citizenship to a woman over sixty, who had served in the government of her own country for years, merely because she was a pacifist and would not swear to take arms against the enemy should this country become involved in a war.

The trouble with the American people, Mr. Hays thinks, is that they are too acquiescent. They accept this and that, even though they don't like it very well. He said that if Americans would lose their self-control and fly into a rage over some injustices once in a while, it would be a great deal better for the cause of independence and liberty.

In conclusion, Mr. Hays said, "What this country needs more than anything else is not only people who believe in, but people who are not afraid."

Raymond Moley, first of the "Brain-trusters," will speak on Feb. 20 on "Our National Policy." This will close the current Forum season.

Oppose Two Family Houses In Single Residence Zones

The Claims and Rules Committee of the Newton Board of Aldermen held a meeting on last Thursday night and conducted hearings on several petitions. Albert Temperley asked for a permit to change a single family house at 38 Paul st., Newton Centre into a two family dwelling. This petition was opposed by Alfred Tower of 50 Paul st., and John Basler of 14 Oxford rd. Frederick Steele has a petition for a permit to change a single dwelling at 454 Walnut st., opposite Newton High School, into a two family dwelling. This petition is opposed by Mrs. Kenneth A. Brown of 442 Walnut st.

A petition was received asking for a permit to establish a radio diction school at 36 Brackett rd., Newton, a single residence zone. The petition was signed by Natalie Rose, who also signed it Mrs. Harry Aronson. The latter is her legal name. This petition was opposed by Thomas Burke of 40 Brackett rd. who said it would be a shame to allow a commercial enterprise in a strictly residence neighborhood.

The committee set a date for another hearing on a new petition by Mrs. Delphine Charlton of 147 Linwood ave., Newtonville asking for an annuity. She is the widow of Charles Charlton, formerly a fireman on Engine 8, Nonantum. Two similar petitions by Mrs. Charlton were turned down by the Aldermen last year. It is contended that Charlton's death was caused by an injury he received in the performance of duty as a fireman.

Farewell Party To Pastor of Auburndale Church

A farewell party in honor of Rev. Harold E. Hallett, pastor of the Church of the Messiah, Auburndale, was given on Tuesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Philip R. Bridgeman on Orchard ave., Weston. Mr. Hallett, who has been here for the past three years, will leave next week to assume his new duties as pastor of Christ Episcopal Church in Quincy. The party was attended by a large number of parishioners and Mr. Hallett was presented with a purse of money. Miss Anne E. Bunker read an original poem appropriate to the occasion and Mr. Hallett responded with expressions of appreciation. Miss Amelia Bridgeman and a group of young ladies from the church served refreshments. Mrs. W. W. Heckman and Mrs. E. T. Edmands poured.

Mail Truck Driver Accidentally Shot

James L. Calhoun, 45, of 215 Bolton st., So. Boston, driver of a United States mail truck, accidentally shot himself shortly after noon yesterday in the cab of the truck while it was in front of the Auburndale postoffice. The bullet crashed through his stomach and physicians at the Newton Hospital feared it had penetrated his kidney.

Calhoun was noticed by Leonard Delvin, 12, of Lexington st. and Calhoun told the boy to tell employees in the postoffice that he had been shot. Police were notified and Calhoun was taken to the Newton hospital in the police ambulance. His condition was critical and a blood transfusion was given. Calhoun explained that the holster containing his revolver caught on something after he had entered the cab of the mail truck.

A number of Mayors of Massachusetts cities were guests at the banquet held in conjunction with the meeting. These included Mayor Childs of Newton, Mayor Tobin of Boston and Mayor Hansen of Waltham. Mr. Mahoney is the third Newton man to be elected president of the association. In 1897 Charles W. Ross, then Supt. of Streets of Newton was elected, and in 1910 George E. Stuart.

New. Ctr. Man Hit By Hit-Run Driver

John Pendergast of 85 Cummings rd., Newton Centre, reported to Newton police last Friday night that he had been struck by a car at Walnut st. and Commonwealth ave. about 11:20 p. m., and that the driver of the car did not stop. Pendergast gave the police registration numbers which he claimed were on the car which had hit him. The numbers had been issued to a car owned by a Waban resident, but the latter asserted he had driven from Newton Centre to Weston at 8:40 p. m., on Friday night, did not return until 12:30 a. m. Saturday, and then did not pass the intersection where the accident occurred.

Middlesex Court 52nd Anniversary

Middlesex Court, Massachusetts Catholic Order of Foresters, observed its 52nd anniversary on Tuesday night at Elks Hall. About 150 were present. Miss Mary M. Mulligan, Chief Ranger of the Court, and a daughter of one of its charter members, welcomed the assemblage and introduced James T. Flynn, Vice Chief Ranger of the Court, as toastmaster. Among those who spoke were James Desmond of Jamaica Plain, of the High Finance Committee of the M. C. O. F., and William McCrystal of Medford, of the High Standing Committee. Edward H. Powers referred briefly to the past history of the Court. An enjoyable program was given by Stephen Keefe of Watertown, baritone; Patrick J. Lally of Brookline, tenor; Eddie Dugan and Dick Paine of West Newton, popular songsters; Jack Murphy and Chester Boudrot, novelty dancers. A buffet supper was served following the program, and dancing was enjoyed with music provided by Frank Cunningham.

Middlesex Court is the largest in the M. C. O. F. It has about 900 members and through it $275,000 in benefits have been paid to dependents of deceased members. During the more than half century it has been active in Newton Middlesex Court has accomplished much good, and has been an important factor in the Catholic social life of this community.

The hall was attractively decorated for the affair in a Valentine motif. The committee in charge included James Flynn, Chairman; Marion Goode, Eleanor Mulcahy, Mary Shea, Kathryn Hannon, Mary Blake, Mabel Bryson, Mrs. Mary Leahy, Mrs. Edward Mulcahy, Margaret Vahey, Mary Buckley, Mary McDonald, Lillian Shea, Barbara Boudrot, Thomas FitzGerald and Charles Fagan.

Gov. Hurley Speaks At Central Church

The Central Club of the Central Congregational Church, Newtonville, observed its Ladies' Night on Monday evening in the church social hall. President George Rawlings presided and an entertainment was provided with Fred Blanchard serving as master of ceremonies. Among the performers were Barbara Ridson, Kathryn Arnold, Walter Arnold and Stephen Hanscom. The principal speaker was Governor Charles F. Hurley.

Referring to the finances of the State the Governor said that this year's budget is $117,000 less than that of last year, and that $4,500,000 was paid on the State debt in 1937. He assured his audience that the people of Massachusetts are getting 100 cents on every dollar paid during his administration. He also asserted that he is aiding in the recognition of civil service, and that many more positions are being filled from civil service lists than before. Governor Hurley devoted much of his speech to the question of the Massachusetts judiciary. He said he has selected the best men in appointing judges, realizing the importance of such selections. He advocated the retirement of judges under the present very liberal pension system, arguing that when a young man is appointed a judge, he gives up a practice which brings him more income, is put to large expense educating his children, and should have a liberal income for his declining years.

More Burglaries In This City

Last Saturday a report was made to Newton police by Olaf Anderson, caretaker of the estate of Sumner Robinson, 19 Burnham rd., West Newton, that someone had forced a cellar door at that residence. Saturday morning it was discovered that a pane of glass in the door of the Paramount-Rich Company, 70 Needham st., Newton Highlands had been broken, and the place entered and ransacked.

Legacy Adds To Library Fund: 85 Per Cent Pledged

At a meeting of the Trustees and the Campaign Committee of the Newtonville Library Fund, on Tuesday, Feb. 8th, it was announced that one of the most ardent supporters of the Library project, the late Miss Carrie E. Silloway, a much-liked former teacher in the Newton High School, had by her will left the sum of five hundred dollars to the Fund. Miss Silloway had previously made two generous donations, and only the week before her death had also turned over to the Fund the proceeds from the sale of an old book in her possession.

Miss Silloway eagerly looked forward to the completion of the new home for the Library, and the Trustees had decided that she should have the honor of taking out the first book from the new building.

The committee at the meeting was also very mindful of the efforts and the generosity of Mr. John R. Prescott, who through the sale of his booklet, "The Story of Newton," turned in over fifteen hundred dollars to the Fund, being the largest subscriber.

With the total more than 85% paid in or pledged, a selected group of men, assisted by a number of interested women, will make, under the chairmanship of Mr. Albert M. Lyon, a determined effort to finish the campaign within the next sixty days.

Throughout, the Trustees have been very careful not to interfere with the Community Chest or other campaigns, and have withheld their efforts while these were going on.

Newtonville To Get Playground

The long demanded playground to serve that part of Newtonville near the Horace Mann School will soon be a reality as a result of action taken by the Newton Board of Aldermen on Monday night. On recommendation of Mayor Childs, the Board appropriated $30,972 for the purchase of about 17 acres of land. The land is located between Albemarle rd., Watertown and Crafts sts., and most of it was formerly part of the Schofield estate. In addition to providing playground facilities for the children and youth of the district, it can be used by the pupils of the Horace Mann and F. A. Day Schools. Residents of the neighborhood in the vicinity of the Horace Mann School have been agitating for this playground for several years, realizing that unless the city acquired the property now, it would soon be developed into house lots.

Offers City Land At Auburndale

Frederick Plummer of 155 Woodland rd., Auburndale has offered to give to the city property at 393-395 Auburn st., Auburndale, adjoining the public library there. A condition of the gift is that the building now on the property shall be removed within 6 months. Mr. Plummer does not restrict the city in the use of the land, but expresses the desire that it might be used to beautify the appearance of the library and nearby school. He was one of the donors of the Auburndale library.

Arraigned Twice In Court On One Day

John T. White, 35, of 80 Madison ave., Newtonville, was arraigned twice in the Newton court on Wednesday. He was charged with larceny by passing a worthless check, but was released when the court was told restitution had been made. The other arraignment was on a civil case because of White's alleged failure to comply with a court order in the payment of debts. The case was continued to Feb. 19.

SIMPLICITY AND HONESTY

February is an important month from the standpoint of the anniversary of the birth of men who have played a most important part in the history of the United States. Volumes upon volumes have been written of the many characteristics of Abraham Lincoln which endeared him to the country as a humanitarian, the emancipator, and the savior of the Union. Simplicity and honesty were, perhaps, the two most important traits from a psychological view of this Great American's personality. Although conditions are today considerably more complicated, because of the pressing problems arising from an increasing population and an increasing need for an improved social order there is little necessity for complexity in the consideration of these problems. It takes neither extensive research nor lengthy argument to determine whether a thing is right or wrong. In pausing to honor Abraham Lincoln we might well practice more diligently the honesty and simplicity which were his to the end that the entire country would be vastly improved.

MORE PLAYGROUND SPACE

The appropriation by the Board of Aldermen for the purchase of land for playground purposes in the northern section of Newtonville virtually assures that part of the city with more and necessary playground space. For some years agitation has constantly been growing for improvement in this respect and with the acquisition of a portion of the property known as the Albemarle Golf Course, residents of the vicinity are gratified at the culmination of their desires.

NORUMBEGA STAMP CLUB

At the annual meeting of the Norumbega Stamp Club, held at "The Hollis," Centre st., Newton, on Jan. 24th, the following officers were elected: Abner Bailey, President; Anton Wilde, Vice President; Mrs. Harold Greene, Secretary, and Lyndon Antz, Treasurer.

After enjoying a most interesting display of Bourse books, some very fine stamps were offered at auction, the choice of the evening being a collection of 8000 different stamps.

Plans for the year are already under way for a more educational program, that the members may know more about philately. The meeting on Feb. 28 will be open house with a "surprise" program.

It was voted to hold meetings the second and fourth Monday of each month and to change the time to 7:30. A social hour followed and refreshments were served.

LASELL JUNIOR COLLEGE

About 85 of the girls are anticipating a long week-end of winter sports at Russel's Camp, Kearsarge, New Hampshire. They left this morning and will return Monday evening. The Misses Virginia Amesbury of Auburndale, Anne Appleton of West Newton, Eloise Lane of Wellesley, and Priscilla Sleeper were among those who went. The group was accompanied by Miss Muriel McClelland and Miss Karin Eliasson.

Sunbeam Chats

The District Nurse came in to see me the day after I had such a time with my gums. She told mother I was cutting my teeth and needed a hard ring to chew on instead of my fist. She certainly is a live saver.

(Sunbeam Chats are sponsored by the Newton District Nursing Association.)

Christmas Seal Sale

It is with considerable pride and pleasure that the Committee for the Sale of Christmas Health Seals in Newton reports that the receipts for this season show a slight increase over those for the 1936-37 receipts. However, there must still be some fugitive coins and dollar bills which should be received by the local chairmen, and thus build a fund to enable the Health Committee of the Family Service Bureau of Newton, Incorporated, (formerly the Newton Welfare Bureau) to accomplish more in the fight against tuberculosis.

If the name of the local chairmen has been misplaced, that name will gladly be furnished by Mrs. Chester W. Tudbury, General Chairman, Centre Newton 3124-J, or by Mrs. Robert S. Bowen, Publicity Chairman, West Newton 1255.

Following is the statement of Mr. Frank L. Richardson, Treasurer, for receipts to February 8th:

Newton	$ 881.27
Newtonville	$ 860.25
Newton Centre	$1,112.41
Newton Highlands	$ 539.25

Auburndale	$ 416.78
West Newton	$ 831.07
Chestnut Hill	$ 421.38
Newton Upper Falls	$ 137.00
Newton Lower Falls	$ 36.50

SONG RECITAL

Jeanne DeLand Kimball, of Dedham, gave a song recital Wednesday evening, February 9, at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Fabian Bachrach, 128 Highland st., West Newton.

Accompanied by Miss Barbara Whitman, Mrs. Kimball sang three groups of songs in German, French and English. The German composers were Brahms and Erich Wolff, the French were Debussy and Chausson, while the English numbers included songs by Arne, Rummel, and Rachmaninoff.

Assisting in serving refreshments following the concert were Mrs. Frank W. Kimball of Dedham, and Mrs. Irving J. Fisher of West Newton. The artist is the former Jeanne DeLand Bachrach, who married Frederic Paige Kimball of Dedham May 15 in the West Newton Unitarian Church.

Auto Collides With Fire Truck

As Engine 6 of Lower Falls was going to a fire at Upper Falls on Tuesday afternoon at 2:30, it collided at Beacon st. and Collins rd., Waban, with a car driven by Clement Richardson of Leonard st., Waltham. Richardson said his head and neck were injured, but he did not go to the hospital. The fire was on the roof of the house at 949 Chestnut st., occupied by Raymond Hamilton.

STONE INSTITUTE AND NEWTON HOME FOR AGED PEOPLE

Mr. Metcalf W. Melcher was re-elected President of the Stone Institute and Newton Home for Aged People at the annual meeting on Saturday, Feb. 5th; Mr. Seward W. Jones, Vice President, and Mr. William H. Rice, Clerk. Mr. Robert H. Loomis was elected Treasurer and director, and Mrs. L. Jean Carver was reappointed Matron.

In his annual report to the Corporation, President Melcher paid tribute to Mr. Albert P. Carter, who retired as Treasurer of the Home after serving in that capacity for a period of 27 years. Although Mr. Carter felt it necessary to request that he be not considered for re-election as Treasurer, he remains a director.

Mr. Frank Fanning, one of the original incorporators and a director since its inception, was present and spoke very interestingly regarding the early days of the Home.

During the year the Home lost two of its most devoted friends and supporters in the death of Mr. Charles E. Riley, who served as its President for 25 years, and Mrs. Albert M. Fowle, a director and clerk of the executive committee. Miss Mabel E. Riley, daughter of Mr. Charles E. Riley, and Mr. Robert H. Loomis were elected to fill the vacancies.

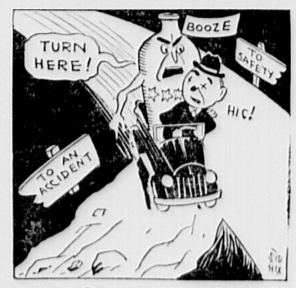

The board of directors for the ensuing year includes, Mrs. Geo. W. Bartlett, Russell Burnett, Albert P. Carter, Mrs. Albert P. Carter, Wm. F. Chase, Marshall B. Dalton, Mrs. Marshall B. Dalton, Mrs. James Dunlop, Frank Fanning, Mrs. John A. Gould, Frank J. Hale, Mrs. Frank J. Hale, Mrs. Wilton E. Harding, Mrs. Fred R. Hayward, T. E. Jewell, Seward W. Jones, Mrs. Arthur W. Lane, Miss E. W. Leatherbee, Robert H. Loomis, Mrs. Elmore I. MacPhie, Donald McKay, Metcalf W. Melcher, Mrs. Metcalf Melcher, John E. Peakes, George E. Rawson, Mrs. George E. Rawson, Wm. H. Rice, Mrs. Frank L. Richardson, Miss Mabel E. Riley, Mrs. Charles A. Sawin, Frank A. Schirmer, Mrs. Charles L. Smith, Mrs. George S. Smith, Clifford H. Walker, Thomas A. West.

The Treasurer's report, presented by Mr. Carter, showed the finances to be in sound condition, with income for the year from all sources exceeding expenditures. Attention was called, however, to the great need for additional capital funds for enlargement and particularly for providing a small infirmary in the Home for the care of the sick.

NEWTON CIRCLE

Mrs. Lawrence Black will open her home on Leonard ave., West Newton, for the next meeting of the Newton Circle, Inc., of the Florence Crittenton League, which will take place on Monday, February 14, at 2:30. Mrs. Robert T. Bushnell, who is Chairman of the Boston Chapter of the Motion Picture Research Council of America, will be the speaker and will use for her subject "Our Movie Made Children." Following the meeting tea will be served by Mrs. Payson T. Lowell, Jr., of Wellesley Farms and her committee.

Drunken Driving

There is an insidious back-seat driver who is forever reaching for your steering-wheel, trying to turn your car down the road to disaster. This pest is commonly known as Booze. Liquor causes a great many traffic deaths and injuries—and the number seems to be increasing steadily. Either pass up drinking or give up driving. The two just simply do not go together. There is enough trouble in traffic without adding the foolish and dangerous peril of drunken driving.

Kiwanis Club

Finland, its government, its resources, its customs, its scenic vacationland, its 7,000 lakes and streams all were glowingly portrayed to the Newton Kiwanians at their weekly meeting by Miss Nina Strandberg, official representative in this country of the Finnish Travel Bureau.

In a special trip here from New York Miss Strandberg was presented to the Club by Assistant Principal of the High School, Ray Green, who had the pleasure of travelling through Finland last summer.

Supplementing her talk with exquisitely beautiful lantern slides Miss Strandberg told, in story form, of the history and life of Finland. The Finnish Parliament on December 6, 1917 declared itself a free government with a one chamber Parliament of two hundred members and a six year term President. Voting age is reached at twenty-one for both men and women, Finland being the first country in Europe to grant to women the privilege of the ballot.

Its small population of three million eight hundred thousand people belies its extensiveness geographically. About sixty per cent of the people are occupied in farming, seventeen per cent in industries, four per cent in transportation, four per cent in business and the balance in miscellaneous callings.

In the entire country there are now eight political parties. There are four hundred Electors. The government controls most of the forests and railroads. Taxes are quite high, the average salary tax being twelve per cent. Cooperative buying and selling by authorized government agents does much toward regulating the normal flow of business and industry.

In concluding her presentation Miss Strandberg painted a word picture of lasting clearness of a beautiful scenic country with its lakes and streams, of a happy, sincere people and of a place most desirable as a vacationland. Paying of the National debt is, to such people, a cardinal principle, violation of which would be unthinkable.

ZONTA CLUB

Newton Zonta met on Monday at the home of Miss Caroline Freeman on Mt. Vernon st., West Newton. Dinner was served at 5:30, followed by a business meeting, presided over by the president, Miss Annis Sturgis. Two names were proposed for membership to be acted upon later. A white elephant sale was planned; names were presented for endorsement for international officers, and the service committee proposed a continuance of the custom of awarding a high school graduate a scholarship for continued study.

At a recent meeting of the Newton Zonta, Mr. Paul Elicker gave a highly enlightening talk on the information acquired by him in his survey of the school systems from New England to the South coast. Interesting contrasts between the various systems were made by means of moving pictures. Mrs. Elicker contributed much additional information in a gracious way.

On Feb. 28th, Miss Elizabeth Fyffe of West Newton will be hostess to the club at her home on Margin st. At that time the members will be entertained with a recital by Miss Dorothy Kovitz, a music student for whom the local lub has financed a scholarship for continuance of her musical studies.

On March 21st, an invitation has been extended to the Waltham Zonta Club to be the guests of Newton Zonta, at which time State Representative Mary Barrows of Melrose will be the speaker.

Miss Gladys Bigelow, High School Librarian, will give her annual talk on current literature, an event always anticipated by Zonta members, on March 7th.

Briscoe, of Central st., Auburndale, is chairman for the Dartmouth Women's Club Dance to be given Friday evening, February 18, from 9 until 1 o'clock, in the Georgian room of the Hotel Statler, with music by Jack Marshard and his orchestra. Their guests will include Mr. and Mrs. Charles Milton and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Bigelow of Brookline; Mr. and Mrs. Willard Freeman of Longmeadow; Mr. and Mrs. Arthur D. Chantler of Auburndale, and Mr. and Mrs. Francis N. Langlois of Newtonville.

62 YEARS AGO

Newton Republican, Feb. 12, 1876

A grand dramatic entertainment was given last Tuesday night at Prospect Hall, Upper Falls for the benefit of the Upper Falls Cornet Band. Dickens' fairy tale of home—"Cricket on the Hearth" was presented by a select company of some of our best home talent. The band, as an orchestra, furnished some choice selections of music.

A correspondent writes to the REPUBLICAN—"Please make mention that on nights when street lamps are allowed a rest because the moon is supposed to be shining, that a committee of the Common Council have it for their duty to see that Old Probabilities keep our city clear of clouds and rain, since darkness comes with a storm." "Vide" the evening of February 1.

The bill authorizing the transfer of the Newton Free Library to the City of Newton, passed to be engrossed in the House of Representatives on Wednesday.

The night police of Newton find plenty to do in caring for various matters. One part of their work is to assist home those who are unable, from frequent patronage of a licensed eating house, to reach home alone. A list of these names in the REPUBLICAN would be sorrowful reading to many Newton families. A few nights ago a horse and buggy, under the guidance of one who knew not what he did, was found on the railroad tracks, and was got off just in time to escape a train.

Mr. A. H. Adams of Newtonville has a natural curiosity—a chicken with four legs, four wings, two tails and one head. It lived only one day.

50 YEARS AGO

Newton Graphic, Feb. 10, 1888

Some elegant stained glass windows have been designed for the new Eliot Church and will be presented as memorials.

The second Read Fund Lecture will be given on Saturday evening at Armory Hall. Prof. Goodale will take "Flowers" as his subject.

On Tuesday a wild steer got loose at the Brighton abattoir and made its way to Newton. It was followed by men in a pung, overtaken on St. James st., and shot.

The Newton Bicycle Club will hold its monthly meeting at the residence of Mr. Hastings on Washington st. next Tuesday evening.

There have been no vacant boxes at the Newton postoffice the past year and 100 new ones will be put in by the first of April. There are so many applicants that even this increase will no more than supply the demand.

Persons looking for safe investments should consult D. B. Needham of Newtonville who is agent for the Buchanan Mortgage Company of Ottawa County, Kansas. The coupons are payable at the National Bank of Commerce, New York, and 7 and 8 per cent interest is paid. For particulars call on Mr. Needham at his handsome dry and fancy goods store.

The ground is frozen to a depth of from 4 to 5½ feet all over the city; a greater depth than has been known for many years. This has caused great trouble with water mains and service pipes, as they have been considered safe from frost at a depth of 5 feet. The Water Department has had a large force of men thawing them out. The gas pipes are also in trouble and many houses have but a very faint light.

At the meeting of the Board of Aldermen on Monday evening a letter was received from the Selectmen of Watertown asking the city government of Newton to unite with them in asking Congress to make an appropriation for the dredging of Charles River. City Solicitor Slocum said it would involve the city in no expense, and Mayor Kimball said it would enable coal barges to come to Watertown, and coal for Newton could be brought here as was the case some 25 years ago, at a savings of at least 50c a ton.

Alderman Pettee presented an order from the Water Board asking for the exchange of two horses at an expense not to exceed $250; and the purchase of a new wagon and harness, not to exceed $210. He stated that the old wagon is worn out and one of the horses is too old for effective service. The other horse is balky, it having balked on a railroad crossing the other day.

Mayor Kimball is undoubtedly right in his contention that the city of Newton should not be required to bear any portion of the expense of doing away with grade crossings in Newton. It is for the benefit of the Boston & Albany railroad and that corporation is abundantly able to stand the expense. If the B. & A. were to build a new road through Newton now it would not be allowed to cross the streets at grade. The B. & A. is paying larger dividends than any other railroad in this State and is indebted to Newton for a goodly share of its surplus revenue. In Connecticut the railroads succeeded in getting through the Legislature a law saddling a portion of such expense upon cities and towns, greatly increasing their debts.

Edward H. Powers' Paragraphs

That conference of "little business men" at Washington was a big help to this country in solving its muddled economic affairs. Just how were these representatives of the "little business men" selected? It is probable that if communities throughout the country had been given an opportunity to choose its little business man to go to the Washington conference, the bedlam sessions would not have followed, and the American public would have regarded the conference seriously, and not as a farce.

According to a Boston newspaper Dr. Kelley, superintendent of Tewksbury State Infirmary, upon being questioned regarding the possession of a gun by the maniac who killed several inmates there, gave this answer—"He had as much right to have a gun as you or I; he was a welfare patient, not a mental patient, and could go and come as he pleased. I don't know or care whether he got the gun by express or mail, and I am not going to argue about it." What do you think of this attitude? And according to another newspaper report, the killer sometime ago cut off one of his big toes with a chisel, because the toe had been bothering him, and nonchalantly left the dismembered digit in his bed, where it was found the following day.

The city governments of Boston, Waltham and other communities affected by the proposed large increases in the rates of the Boston Consolidated Gas Company protested against these increases and had representatives at the hearing on this matter at the State House on February 1, or will have them at the hearing on February 17. But the Mayor and Aldermen of Newton made no protests against the poorer people who use gas being penalized, partly so that the gas company will obtain more revenue, and partly so that wealthier persons by using more gas will obtain lower rates. Apparently it doesn't matter much if persons of humble means get gouged.

Governor Hurley spoke at the annual "Ladies' Night" of the Central Congregational Church at Newtonville on Monday night. Part of the Governor's speech referred to the appointment of judges and the pensioning of judges. According to the Governor, the selection of men who are to serve as judges is a very important matter. With this statement we all agree. In Massachusetts, judges and justices are appointed for a life tenure. It is a serious matter, therefore, if a man who is not quite competent or who is not actuated by a high standard of ethics should be appointed as a member of the judiciary of this Commonwealth. The Governor also stated that he endeavored to select the best qualified men as judges. We won't question the sincerity of the Governor in this statement, but many will question its accuracy. Seemingly, some of Governor Hurley's appointments of judges and justices have been on a basis of personal friendship or for political reasons, rather than on a basis of the legal knowledge and experience of those whom he appointed. And this holds true of appointments of judges made by Governor Hurley's predecessors. Which fact causes us to differ with another of the statements made by the Governor at the Central Club meeting on Monday night.

The Governor stated that he firmly believes a judge should be allowed to retire at the age of 70 with a pension, if he so desires. Most persons agree with the Governor on this point. But they don't agree that judges who have been receiving large salaries for many years should be retired on a pension which amounts to three-quarters of the salary received. Not when the great majority of our people are struggling along under economic conditions as have prevailed for the past nine years, and which are likely to prevail for years to come; not while millions of people are dependent on public welfare and taxes are constantly increasing.

Neither will many persons agree with the statement made by Governor Hurley at the Central Club that when a young man is appointed a judge he immediately makes a sacrifice by giving up his practice, which brings him a larger income than will the judgeship. When the Governor made such a statement he must think people are stupid. It is common knowledge that for almost every opening in an appointment to a judgeship there is no need to importune candidates for the job. Even for associate justiceships in district courts there are usually at least several aspirants. And for the lucrative appointments to the Superior or Supreme Court benches, a Governor usually has a headache trying to make the selection without creating a lot of political enemies. Furthermore, most judges in the lower courts have continued their practice, and the prestige they gain as members of the judiciary benefit their private practice. Only recently men who had been appointed as judges by Governor Hurley gave a testimonial to the Governor and his wife at the Copley-Plaza Hotel and presented Mrs. Hurley with a diamond studded wrist watch to show their gratitude. That was the night the electric dynamo in the hotel quit, and the party had to be continued in candle light. Possibly that was an act of God. So Governor Hurley, don't indulge in blather about the sacrifices men make in accepting appointments as judges.

We congratulate the residents of that section of Newtonville along Watertown st. and adjoining streets to the West of Crafts st., who for years have been demanding a playground, for the successful culmination of their efforts. Newton is usually well provided with large and excellently equipped playgrounds. They have been a big asset to the city in past years. They will be an even greater asset in years to come, as the city becomes more and more thickly settled. Open air play spaces are helpful not only physically to the young, but also morally.

By L. D. G. BENTLEY

"Mister Moderator"

The voice of the plain citizen will soon be raised in town meeting, reminding us urban and suburban residents of the right of free speech. If there is any call an American citizen should acknowledge a privilege to answer, it is the call to town meeting. Here is an institution often sneered at by Communists, Leftists and parlor pinks but to which these very people owe their inalienable right to shoot off their faces. Never would they be allowed to open their yaps in the land of the Soviet to which they point with pride. Their continual arguing against the one country that does not cast its critics in prison without trial reveals an absence of intellect, deplorable but not unexpected. In spite of them we still have representative government. Long live "Town Meeting Day" and the land that still cherishes it.

Always Openminded

One thing I have often wondered about is what the leaders of thought intend when they urge an appropriate observance of Washington's Birthday. Do they assume the masses understand and will reason for themselves? If they do, it seems to me they are taking a great deal for granted. I know of no more popular diversion on February 22nd than visiting automobile display and show rooms. Here gather the crowds, possibly with thoughts other than honoring the Father of His Country. Then there are those who remain at home to diligently study seed catalogues and garden literature. Not as exciting but fully as patriotic. The answer may be that there isn't much else to do. But is that correct? If some one has a program not yet adopted, will they please write and earn my gratitude?

Gastronomic Enterprise

If ever compelled to act as a committee of arrangements for a debating society I shall introduce what I believe will prove an outstanding feature. I shall pit against one another the man who eats a very light breakfast and the man who eats a hearty one. If you know these individuals you will find them thoroughly convinced of the value of their habits and ready to fight to the finish to prove it. One man maintains that orange juice, toast and coffee are enough sustenance for the huskiest individual. The other will say that he barely makes out on fruit, cereal, bacon and eggs, meat, rolls, milk and coffee. As I go about half the distance of the latter and twice that of the former I feel I would make an excellent judge. But that isn't where I would improve my time and my bank account. No, indeed, I have a far better scheme. After the audience had listened to talk about food they naturally would become hungry. It is at that moment I would step in and sell tickets for refreshments. With a well-stocked buffet in the basement I'd have the prices as high as the traffic would stand because I know they'd eat their heads off.

Have You Any Choice?

Most every day, and certainly on those that are fair and sunny, somebody remarks, "Thank goodness, Spring is on the way!" It occurred to me that it would be well to determine if it were psychological or factual. Therefore, I asked a number I met what could be accepted as definite signs, or rather evidence of Spring's approach.

The first, a sort of romantic fellow said, "The sunset! Observe the western skies are of lighter pink, softer and warmer withal." Next I approached a cynic who replied, "Women talking about Spring hats and men boasting about getting a new car." A third, "Longer days."

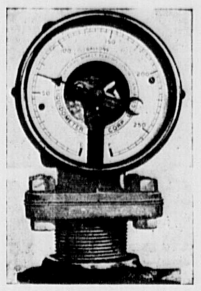

Then the replies became so numerous that I merely listed them as follow: plans for house-cleaning, baseball talk, trimming trees, balmy air and everybody saying, "It won't be long now."

The last man to whom the inquiry was put said, "What nonsense. Haven't you got a calendar?"

Oddments

If it isn't the snow shovel it's the broom. When the walks are cleared of everything but the basic coating of ice and sand is generously sprinkled, along comes the rain. Then we have steps and walks dried by the sun and sand and grit to be tracked over everything. We bring out the broom until the next snow falls after which we return to the shovel.

There appears to be unanimity in postponing the filling-out of income tax blanks. The result is that these days find many people with papers and figures of their own before them, studying these and the printed questions, general instructions, etc. The whole thing produces an outstanding example of reading and writhing.

Wear Straw Hats In Winter Time

Too early to be harbingers of spring, certain citizens of Newton emerged recently wearing straw hats, in seeming defiance of the wintry blasts.

Climbing into their automobiles, they removed their coats and vests and drove off nonchalantly in their shirtsleeves, whistling "In the Good, Old Summertime."

Observed in various parts of the city, this spectacle astonished neighbors and others who saw the gay and carefree drivers.

Reporters sent out to unravel the mystery found that the straw hats and shirtsleeves, after all, weren't "badges of balminess."

Rather, they learned, the wearers were, in a manner of speaking, answering a nationwide "call to arms" —doffing coats and vests and donning summer head-gear so as to dramatize the newest automotive development, conditioned air for winter driving.

The straw-hatted drivers, it was found, were members of the sales organization of August Osterlund Inc., Nash dealer, who, together with several thousand other dealers throughout the United States and Canada, has embarked upon a campaign to demonstrate the conditioned air system which the Nash Motors Division of Nash-Kelvinator Corporation has introduced in its new series of cars for 1938.

"Straw hats and shirtsleeves are appropriate garb for these conditioned air cars, for comfortable room temperatures can be maintained within their interiors at all times when they are in operation," Mr. Osterlund said. "We know of no better way in which to call attention to the comfort that prevails within these cars than to have our salesmen travel about the city in straw hats and shirtsleeves when driving and making demonstrations."

SARAH HULL CHAPTER, D. R.

The annual meeting of Sarah Hull Chapter, Daughters of the Revolution, was held at the home of Miss A. Gertrude Ensign, 48 Billings Park, Newton, Wednesday, Feb. 9th, 1938, at 10:30 a. m.

After the salute to the flag, a short business meeting was held, with reports for the year from Mrs. Sampson, the recording secretary, from Mrs. Curtin, the corresponding secretary, Miss Ensign, the treasurer, and an interesting paper from Mrs. Godding, the historian. Then ballots were passed, and officers for 1938-1939 were elected as follows: Regent, Mrs. Mabel L. Hinckle, Jr.; Vice Regent, Mrs. Gertrude H. Whitney; Recording Secretary, Mrs. Susan F. A. Sampson; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Mary C. Curtin; Asst. Cor. Secretary, Mrs. Helen L. Ratcliffe; Treasurer, Miss A. Gertrude Ensign; Historian, Mrs. Adelaide M. Godding; Auditor, Mrs. Mary W. Murdock; Councillors for two years, Mrs. Annie L. Eastman, Mrs. Blanche S. Porter; Chairman of Veterans' Relief Committee, Mrs. Ellen P. Harris.

The meeting was closed by singing "America," and the members enjoyed a social hour, with lunch at 12:30.

After the luncheon, an auction sale was held, with Mrs. Albert B. Hinckle, Jr., as auctioneer.

THE WEEK IN NEWTON SPORTS

TRACK TEAM LOSES IN DUAL WITH LOWELL

The first defeat of a Newton High School track team in many moons was suffered last Saturday when Coach Don Enoch's stellar forces succumbed by a score of 40 to 37 to the strong Lowell High team. Although cause for the defeat may in part be blamed to the Lowell track which is far from one of the best and the lack of familiarity with the track by Newton athletes the defeat goes on the books without alibi.

Captain Billy Wood, who placed second to two Newton stars in two events at the Northeastern meet the week previous, came back into his own to personally account for 13 of his team's total points. Wood won the 35-yard hurdles (the straightaway of the floor being sufficient to allow no more distance to this event or the dash) over Don MacKinnon and Billy Pescosolido of Newton who placed second and third. MacKinnon nipped Wood at the finish of the 45-yard barrier event at the Huskies meet. Wood also won the 35-yard dash with Otis, a teammate second, and Hurley of Newton third. The 35-yard distance is too short for Bud Hines of Newton whose fastest sprint comes after the first 25 yards.

King of Lowell won the 600 over Hall of third with a Lowell runner third as Newton's best entry in the event, Art Hughes, Northeastern winner, was not competing. Newton came back in the broad jump for first and second with McNeil and MacKinnon and swept the high jump with Pesky winning and Callahan and Messier tied for second. Hines, as was expected copped the 300 over Wood of Lowell with Pesky in third position. Lowell took one and two in the shot with Walsh getting in for a third place point. The Lowell victory became certain with the running of the 1000 in which event Lowell took all three places as Newton's star, Basil Babcock, was out of competition with a sore foot.

NEWTON MEETS BOS. ENG. AT RELAY CARNIVAL

Although the past week has been disastrous from the point of view of winter sports victories at Newton high, with the hockey, basketball and track teams all losing, the Newton runners turned the corner yesterday with an expected victory over Brookline high. Tomorrow Newton will compete in the third annual Eastern Seaboard Relay Carnival at the Boston Garden. Although facing a strong competition in Boston English in feature relays of the day, this very fact is likely to press Newton sufficiently to enable them to bring home additional honors for the track trophy cabinets. Winners of the Northeastern meet by an overwhelming margin, Coach Enoch's lads showed their ability as competitors, when the going is toughest they are most apt to come through. Several of the Newton lads have been invited to compete in special events being held to add spectator interest to the meet but as the fields in these events are strictly limited, it will necessitate few, if any, trial heats. Accordingly, the Newton mentor will be able to run practically a free team in the one-lap per man and two-lap per man relays against the string Boston school athletes.

Captain Bud Hines, dash winner at Northeastern, will compete in the special dash; Don MacKinnon, N. U. winning hurdler, in the hurdles; Art Hughes, 600-yard winner, in that event, and if foot blisters heal sufficiently, Basil Babcock, second man in the 1000-yard run in N. U. meet, will compete in the distance special.

BELMONT RELEGATES NEWTON SIX TO CELLAR

Unless an unexpected miracle takes place in the next four series of Greater Boston Interscholastic League hockey games the Newton sextet will wind up the season in the cellar. The lowly berth, shared jointly for the past few weeks by Newton and Belmont, is now solely occupied by the orange and black six as the result of a 3 to 2 win on the part of the Belmont team in last Saturday's games at the Boston Arena. With four more games to play unless Newton unexpectedly upsets one of its opponents the chances of the local outfit for earning a higher position are slim indeed.

The saddest part of the Belmont loss was the fact that Newton enjoyed a 2-0 lead midway of the second period, tallying once in each of the first two sessions. With about two minutes left to play in the second period Belmont got back into the game with a tally on a slashing shot from twenty feet out and then staged a courageous uphill battle to tie and then take the lead in the last period. Halfway through this session the twing score came with Henry sinking the rebound of Sullivan's shot. Two minutes later the winning tally was made by Talbot who took a short pass from his teammate Murphy.

Newton pressed in the first period and just before the bell Don Manchester popped one into the Belmont cage for the opening tally. After four minutes of play in the second period the puck slid off the stick of a Belmont player in front of the goal. Tom Dugan hopped on it and weaving in beat Goalie Sharkey as the Belmont guardian came out in a vain effort to stop the shot.

With nothing to lose and much to gain Coach Evan Johnson of the Newton team will probably give his sophomore and junior lines the opportunity to get experience in preparation for another season. Although the 1938 season has been discouraging and disheartening there is another year coming and considerable talent, though lacking experience, available. Down in the ruck this year the Newton team may well be among the leading outfits when another winter rolls around.

TITLE CHANCES GONE WITH THIRD LOST GAME

Whatever chances the Newton High basketball team possessed for capturing the 1938 Suburban League court title were dispelled this past week when the local lads dropped two more contests. In their second engagement with both Arlington on the Newton floor and Waltham at the Watch City the Newton team failed to maintain the pace set in the first round games when it rolled over all opposition. With a second game with Brookline the only remaining league contest on the schedule the locals have no chance to catch the leading Rindge five, defeated only by Newton in nine games, also with but one game to go.

A tight defense by the Waltham five on their own court prevented the Newton scorers from getting free and Waltham emerged victorious by a 19 to 16 count. Throughout the second half Newton failed to score from the floor and picked up but two points on free throws. In the first period Newton built up a 10 to 4 lead and at half time had protected its margin leading 14 to 8. Less than a minute after the second half began Newton caged a penalty try but that was all until with less than a minute to go Captain Gene Leger tallied on another free toss.

A last minute shake-up in the Waltham line-up saw Furbush starting at centre and Mele at guard, weakening the Waltham offense but stiffening the defense, as later proved, immeasurably. Trailing in the first half Waltham fought doggedly in the third period to reduce Newton lead to a single point, 15 to 14 as play for the final session began. A point on a foul try evened matters early in the last period and three minutes later Beaver's third lengthy toss found the strings to put Waltham out front. Furbush's two-pointed clinched the verdict just prior to Leger's lone tally to end the scoring.

Last Friday Newton succumbed to the Arlington five on a visit to the Newton gym in a 32 to 28 affair which was in doubt until the closing minutes of the game. In Newton's previous meeting with the Arlington five at Arlington the orange and black clinched the verdict with less than a minute to play with two quick scores, 29 to 26.

Waban Garden Club To Hold Illustrated Lecture

On Thursday evening, Feb. 17th, at 8 o'clock at the Angier School, the Waban Garden Club is to have guest night for friends of the Garden Club members. There is to be an illustrated lecture by Mrs. V. Pearce Delgardo, an American by birth, a resident of Holland for many years, and a professional lecturer of charm, who has been selected by the Dutch government to present these pictures to American Garden Clubs. Mrs. Delgardo will lecture in New England this season for the first time, and the Waban Club is one of the fortunate ones to obtain her service.

Mrs. Delgardo will be introduced by Mr. H. E. Van Oosten, Consul of the Netherlands in Boston, and there will be an informal reception to them after the lecture in the Kindergarten Room.

In appreciation of this active American enthusiasm, the Dutch government has sponsored the making of some films (motion pictures in colors) of the unique beauties of their country framing their great national industry of bulb growing. These pictures are considered an artistic achievement and comprehensive in their scope.

Rotary Club

The regular meeting of the Rotary Club of Newton was held at the Charles River Country Club on Monday, February 7th., Pres. Frank Clark presiding. The Club was favored with a solo by "Bill" Helms.

Frank Richardson introduced a club member, "Ted" Leonard, who spoke on his classification, "Optometry." He said that the profession was rather young and only in the past 25 to 30 years had much been known about optometry. Up to that time most of the people needing glasses tried out various lenses and the ones they could see best with were the ones they were satisfied with. Now studies are made and ways of testing each eye with the result that glasses are fitted to meet each individual case. Among the most usual causes for eye correction are: fatigue, focus, headaches and nearsightedness. He mentioned that about eight years ago an extension course was started for all optometrists who wished to join and that it was doing a wonderful work to aid in this very necessary work. The young people today are receiving a great deal more attention in order to insure the proper help that they need during school years and in later life.

MUTUAL SAVINGS BANKS STABILITY OF MASSACHUSETTS

Abraham Lincoln Said:

"The prudent, penniless beginner labors for wages for a while, saves a surplus with which to buy tools or land for himself, then labors for himself another while, and at length hires a new beginner to help him. This is the just and generous and prosperous system, which opens the way to all, gives hope to all, and consequent energy and progress and improvement of conditions to all."

"Save a Surplus". That's the important thing! Are you banking something every week?

Edited by EMMA D. COOLIDGE

Famous Physician On Program For Philanthropies

On Saturday evening, February 19th, at 8:15 o'clock, Dr. Victor G. Heiser will speak in the Newton High School Auditorium under the auspices of the West Newton Community Service Club. Besides his now famous "An American Doctor's Odyssey," Dr. Heiser is also the author of several books on medicine and has written many articles on beri-beri, leprosy, and other subjects for medical journals. From 1915 until his retirement in 1934, Dr. Heiser was Director of the International Health Division of the Rockefeller Foundation. Over this long period he probably inaugurated more movements to save and prolong life than any other living person. During his service in the Philippines he was responsible for the building of the Philippine General Hospital, and was connected with the work of stamping out smallpox, plague, cholera and other dread diseases from the Islands. Not long ago he returned from his fifteenth trip around the world but it was only a short time before he was on his way to Africa to study a peculiar form of leprosy found only in the central part of that country. Dr. Heiser has chosen for the subject of his lecture "More of An American Doctor's Odyssey".

The other part of the program will be a concert by the distinguished male quartet "The Boston Singers"; Wesley Copplestone, Raymond Simonds, Ralph Tailby, Edmund Boucher, and Willem Frank, pianist. This group of men was chosen in a nation-wide contest as the finest male quartet. They were contracted, as a result, to appear over the radio five times weekly for the Fleischmann yeast program. Mr. Copplestone, the first tenor, has sung for three years with the Rangers quartet, and is soloist in a Worcester Congregational Church. The second tenor, Mr. Simonds, has been soloist at Temple Israel for fifteen years, and at the New Old South Church for nine years. He has also been soloist with the Boston Symphony Orchestra. Mr. Tailby, the baritone, has been connected with the Varsity Quartet for ten years, and is the soloist at the Harvard Congregational Church in Brookline. Mr. Boucher, bass, for the last four years has been giving programs at the Gardner Museum concerts. He has sung with many choral societies in New England, and at present is soloist with the Mt. Vernon Church in Boston. Mr. Willem Frank, the accompanist and piano soloist, is particularly well-known for his arrangements, and is doing this important type of work for the National Symphony Orchestra for Washington, D. C. He is now the organist at the Universalist Church in Belmont.

The program they have arranged promises to be delightful.

Proceeds from this evening entertainment are for the support of the philanthropic interests of the Club. Reserved seats at $1.00 and unreserved ones at 50 cents, may be obtained from Mrs. Roy R. Merchant, Telephone W. N. 0343; Mrs. Harry F. Morse, W. N. 2293; and Mrs. Harold C. Scranton, W. N. 3269.

Attractive Lectures And Other Events

Sketching the colorful art of American glass-making from the beginning, and including information about Stiegel, New England, and Sandwich factories, Grace Lyman Stammers will give a lecture entitled "Seeing Old Glass in a New Light," at the Newton Centre Woman's Club on Wednesday afternoon, February 16th, at 2:30 o'clock. Tickets are for sale by the members of the Antiques committee.

Mrs. Frank Mansfield Taylor will give one of her talks on Current Events on Thursday morning, the 17th, at 10 o'clock.

The Art committee of the Club offers a particularly interesting program for the next few weeks. An Exhibition of Water-Colors, by Polly Nordell, a well-known Boston artist, is now showing in the Club House Art Gallery. This exhibit is open to the public without charge from 2 to 4:30 o'clock, except Sundays, until February 25th.

A trip to the Worcester Biennial Art Exhibition and the opportunity to view the work of over a hundred outstanding living American artists is the program for Monday, February 14th.

Grace Pierce Maynard will give an illustrated lecture on "Andrew W. Mellon's Fifty-Million Dollar Gift to the Nation," at the Club House, on Friday afternoon, the 18th, at 2:30. Tickets at 35 cents each may be bought from any member of the Art committee.

The list of children registered for the Amateur Hour Tryout on Tuesday afternoon, the 15th, at 2:45 o'clock, promises the success of this venture. The chairman, Mrs. Donald E. Walch, announces that ice cream will be served to each child participating in the Amateur Hour on Saturday afternoon, the 19th, at 2 o'clock. The child winning first prize will lead the grand march.

Elwell, 398 Wolcott st., Auburndale.

Pourers at the tea following Mrs. Phaneuf's lecture will be Mrs. John F. Brown, Jr., the president; and Mrs. Everett H. Potter, a member of the Garden Club committee.

Six of the Club members recently took the two-day course in Flower-Judging given in Horticultural Hall, Boston, under the auspices of the Garden Club Federation of Massachusetts. They were Mrs. Ralph E. Keyes, Mrs. E. Graham Bates, Mrs. Paul A. Chandler, Mrs. Benjamin W. Pepper, Mrs. Charles S. Grover, and Mrs. John F. Brown, Jr.

In Tribute To Frances E. Willard

The program at the meeting of Thursday, February 3rd, of the Newton W. C. T. U., was in honor of Frances E. Willard. Many women from the different sections of Newton attended this meeting, which was held in the Parlor of the Methodist Church in Newton Centre. Mrs. William E. Birdsall, president, presided.

Mrs. Hattie E. Shutts and Mrs. William F. Ferrin, in the devotional period, included scripture and songs appropriate to the life and character of Frances E. Willard, who is considered the greatest woman leader of her day in all lines of public welfare.

Mrs. Everett C. Herrick, a vice-president, read a tribute to Frances Willard from "Current History", written by Zona Gale. She described

Oriental Rugs Described And Displayed

The Story of "Oriental Rugs" is the fascinating subject for the program of the Newtonville Woman's Club meeting on Tuesday, February 15th, at 2:30 p. m. The talk will be given by Captain G. Harry Adalian, a resident of Newton, and an authority on Oriental rugs. He will bring many of his rugs to the lecture to illustrate the different designs of genuine Oriental rugs and the method by which they are so skillfully and durably made. Born in Armenia but now a citizen of this country, Captain Adalian is able to present his theme with interesting stories of life in his childhood home across the water, in which rug-making was such a prominent traditional feature.

Discussion of Spanish Affairs

On Monday, February 14th, at 2:30 p. m., at the Waban Neighborhood Club House, Dr. Frank E. Manuel, of Harvard University, will address the Waban Woman's Club on subjects timely and interesting. Dr. Manuel, who is an extremely able public speaker and an authority on Spanish affairs, has recently returned from Europe, and he will give a first-hand picture and interpretation of important events.

The lecture will be followed by a tea hour, with Mrs. Henry Hudson as hostess, and Mrs. Benjamin D. Miller and Mrs. J. Earle Parker as pourers.

Recital of Dance Impressions

The program for the afternoon at the next regular meeting of the West Newton Community Service Club, which will be held on Wednesday, February 16th, in the Parish House of the Unitarian Church, promises most unusual entertainment when Miss Dorothy Kornhauser will give a recital of Dance Impressions. Miss Kornhauser received her initial training at the University of Wisconsin, under Margaret H. Doubler, later graduating from the Alys Bentley School of Dancing, of New York City. Later she became a student of the ballet under Kosloff. At the present time Miss Kornhauser is head of the Department of Dancing at Dana Hall, Wellesley. Her interpretations are new and colorful, showing outstanding depth and ingenuity.

Tea will be served by Mrs. George F. Earnshaw and her committee.

Frances Willard as a "Spectacular Citizen", one who saw the right and always fought for it. In the period in which she lived she was first in promoting education for women, equal suffrage, equality of property rights, justice, equality of rights for labor, and to bring about a temperate country. She foretold a warless world, where international differences would be settled by courts of law, instead of by war.

The request has gone forth that anyone who has a souvenir or any token of Frances E. Willard give or lend it to be placed in the Museum at National W. C. T. U. Headquarters in Evanston, Illinois.

Mrs. Ella L. Young, State W. C. T. U. director of Legislation, graphically presented the National Capper-Culkin Bill, which would prevent interstate advertising of alcoholic beverages in States and areas where liquor is illegal. Of the Massachusetts State Bills, Mrs. Young presented information on that limiting the authority of the State Alcohol Beverage Control Commission to overrule the decision of the local Control Board, when the latter refuses a local license, particularly when the citizens and the local Alcohol Beverage Control Board are united in refusing to grant a local license.

Police Complete Listing of Adults

The ten Newton policemen who have been engaged since January 3 in the listing of Newton residents over 20 years of age, completed this work on Tuesday. When the policemen were assigned to this duty someone estimated that it might take two weeks, but this estimate was regarded as much too short. In former years day patrolmen did the listing in connection with their regular duties, and because results were far from satisfactory, a number of night patrolmen were picked and instructed to give all their working time each day to listing adults, and to do the work carefully. On recommendation of the Mayor, the Board of Aldermen appropriated $1800 to pay reserve policemen to cover the route assignments of the men doing the listing work.

John W. Murphy, chairman of the Board of Assessors says the policemen seem to have done an efficient job and that not only may a considerable increase in poll tax assessments result, but also that many names which have been carried as "deadwood" on the list of assessed polls for some years will be dropped. These are names of persons who have removed from the city, and in some cases of persons who have died.

Youth Arrested on Serious Charge

Dominic Magnarelli, 18, of 125 Adams st., Nonantum, was arrested about 1:30 Thursday morning by Serg. Bannon and Patrolmen McEnaney and Keating on a serious charge involving a 14 year old girl. He was arraigned in the Newton court on Thursday and held in $5000 bail for trial on February 25. The girl in question was apprehended on Tuesday by Newton and Boston police in the office of a pseudo surgeon at Boston when the officers raided the place. Magnarelli was supposed to have fled to Baltimore, but the police observed him early Thursday morning at the corner of Watertown and Adams sts. The youth was in the Newton court a couple of weeks ago charged with being involved in the theft of gasoline from parked automobiles.

Houses Entered At Newton

Two houses near together in Newton were entered on Monday evening, but nothing of value was taken from either. Mrs. George Bauer of 116 Jewett st. reported to the police that when she returned to her home at about 10:30 that night, she found the house had been entered. Allen Rockwood of 60 Waban pk. also reported that his house had been entered, but the only thing missing was a jar of cream. As no visible means of entry were found, the police thought false keys might have been used, and that the intruder was some hungry individual looking for food.

Policemen Return After Sickness

Several members of the Newton police department who have been absent from duty for weeks because of illness, have returned to duty. Sergeant Thomas Burke of the Inspectors' Division is back after having been ill for eight weeks with sacro iliac trouble and pneumonia. Motorcycle Patrolman Dowling is performing house duty while convalescing from an attack of pneumonia. Traffic Officer Henry McDonaugh of Newton Corner will return to duty this week after having been under observation for kidney trouble at the Chelsea Naval Hospital for a week.

Charged With Drunken Driving

William Edson, 41, of 11 Central ter., Auburndale was arrested early Wednesday morning at River st., West Newton by Patrolmen Hickey and Cunningham on charges of drunkenness and driving a car while under the influence of liquor. He was arraigned in the Newton court that day and his case continued to February 24. Before Edson was arrested a report was received that a car parked on Washington st., Newton Corner had been hit by an automobile which did not stop. The policemen observed that the car driven by Edson had been damaged, and this was one reason they stopped him, on suspicion that he might have been involved in the Newton collision.

Water Dept. Makes $65,000 Profit

The Newton Water Department in 1937 made a profit of $65,000 according to figures made public this week by Comptroller of Accounts Daniel White. The total revenue of the department for the year was $354,955.93. Of this profit $26,900 was used to construct two new wells at the water reservation in Needham, and $32,745 to continue the construction of a new belt loop main at Newtonville and West Newton. The balance of approximately $6000 was added to the Water Surplus fund, making it total $228,686.30. Several years ago the water rates in Newton were increased, and it has since been suggested that the rates be lowered as the department continues to show a considerable profit each year. A couple of years ago Alderman Temperley contended that the excess revenue from the sale of water should not be used to pay deficits in other city departments, and that the minimum rates should be lowered.

Newton Schools To Broadcast Eight Programs

Through the courtesy of Mr. John Shepard, 3rd, and Mr. Roy Harlow, Assistant to the President of the Yankee Network, the Newton schools have been extended the facilities of Station WAAB for a series of eight broadcasts, known again as "Newton School Days."

I hope you will find it not only convenient but constructive to tune in as many of these programs as is possible from your angle. The initial performance will involve a topic which will be of interest to junior high boys and girls. It is entitled 'The High School Looks Back at the Junior High." Mr. Russell V. Burkhard, principal of the F. A. Day Jr. High School is chairman at the Newton Radio Committee in charge of the series.

Man Rescues Wife From Flaming Auto

William Burke of 17 Crescent st., West Newton, rescued his wife, Marion Burke, from the seat of a blazing truck on Wednesday night in the yard of their home. Burke's hands were burned as he pulled his wife from the seat, and her hair and eyebrows were singed. The motor on a truck owned by Burke was out of order and he had removed the gasoline filter cup, holding a lantern to give him light. The fumes from the dripping gasoline exploded and the tank on the truck, located over the motor, burst into flames. Box 351 was sounded at 9:05 p. m., but the flames had spread so rapidly and fiercely, that the truck was practically a total loss.

Arrested After Long Search

Albert Prevost (alias Jurard) was arrested on Monday near Franklin Park, Dorchester by Inspector Hammell of the Newton police on a warrant issued in July, 1933. Prevost had forged signatures of Charles Berg at whose market he had been employed, and cashed checks amounting to $35 at Newton Centre stores. Recently Inspector Hammell learned that Prevost was frequently seen near Franklin Park, so last Monday the policeman took a ride out that way and spotted his man. Prevost was arraigned in the Newton court on Tuesday and sentenced to serve one month in Billerica prison.

Large Audiences Attend Performances of Newton's Sesquicentennial Pageant

"We The People" Depicts By Drama, Dance and Choral Music, Traditional History In Observance of The Signing of The Constitution

Official observance of the sesquicentennial of the Constitution of the United States by the city of Newton was held last week with the presentation of a magnificent pageant entitled, "We the People." Performances were held on Thursday and Friday evenings and Saturday afternoon in the high school auditorium before audiences which filled practically every available seat. Admission, without charge, was by ticket only and it is believed that many others would have availed themselves of the opportunity to witness the dramatic historical presentation had space permitted larger audiences. The Saturday afternoon performance was planned to give school children a glimpse of American history and the audience at that time was largely comprised of grammar school and junior high school pupils.

The pageant, compiled and directed by C. Hassler Capron of Newton Centre was presented in four parts, opening with a prologue by the Voice of the People and trumpets in cacophony. The four parts depicted the Struggle for Liberty, the Law of Liberty, The Flag of Liberty and the Laurels of Liberty. The pageant concluded with an epilogue by the Voice of the People and a tableau depicting the Spirit of the Constitution. Throughout the performance a mixed chorus of voices, massed in a section of the balcony of the auditorium, presented a choral program which enhanced the impressive spectacle. Rev. Herbert Hitchen symbolized the voice of the people in the prologue and epilogue. Prior to each performance brief addresses introducing the pageant were made. Justice Frederick T. Field was the speaker on Thursday evening, Judge George C. Sweeney on Friday evening and Mayor Edwin O. Childs on Saturday afternoon.

Following the symbolic presentation of the epilogue the curtain rose on a group of dancers arousing from slumber. These dancers represented tyranny. Awakening and slowly rising they began a dramatic pantomime. A second group of dancers, representing freedom, appeared on an upper stage level and continuing the pantomime the conflict between the two concluded with freedom triumphant. The chorus ended the presentation of the struggle for liberty with the rendition of "Lighten Our Darkness" by Oxenham-MacCunn.

The Law of Liberty was presented in four episodes. The first of these episodes depicted the Annapolis Convention of 1786 at which Commissioners of several states adopted the call for the Philadelphia Convention a year later when the Constitution was signed. The Annapolis Convention was presented in two scenes, the first of which showed Alexander Hamilton of New York conferring with James H. Madison and Edmund Randolph of Virginia. The second scene portrayed the appointment of a committee to draw up a report to the convention and, the dimming of lights indicating the passing of three days, the adoption of the report by the Convention. This report urged the States which they represented to concur in and endeavor "to procure the concurrence of other States in the appointment of Commissioners to meet in Philadelphia on the second Monday in May next, to take into consideration the situation of the United States, to devise such further provisions as shall appear to them necessary to render the Constitution of the Federal Government adequate to the exigencies of the Union . . . afterwards confirmed by the Legislatures of every State, will effectually provide for the same."

The second episode presented the Adoption of the Constitution at Philadelphia in Independence Hall on Sept. 17, 1787, revealing the delegates in session with George Washington presiding. Brief remarks urging the adoption of the Constitution and remonstrating with some of its provisions were made by some of the delegates. These included Robert Morris of Pennsylvania, Charles C. Pinckney of South Carolina, William Blount of North Carolina, Edmund Randolph of Virginia, Benjamin Franklin of Pennsylvania, Thomas Mifflin of Pennsylvania, William Patterson of New Jersey, James Madison of Virginia, and Alexander Hamilton of New York. With the time for action at hand, George Washington signed the Constitution and on the call of the States by Secretary Major William Jackson, the delegates proceeded to the presiding officer's desk to add their names to the document. During the signing of the Constitution an impressive moment occurred when Benjamin Franklin, from a studied reverie of the back of Washington's chair spoke out, "My fellow delegates, painters have always found it difficult to distinguish in their art a rising from a setting sun, and I have often and often, in the course of this session and the vicissitudes of my hopes and fears as to its issue, looked on that insignia on the chair behind the President (of the Convention) without being able to tell whether it was a rising sun or a setting sun, but now at length I have the happiness to know that it is a rising sun and not a setting sun." The call of the States continued and after its completion the scene concluded with a statement and prayer by Washington, "Gentlemen of the Philadelphia Convention, the Constitution is duly approved and signed. Our duty to our country has been fulfilled. Verily we have written the Law of Liberty: "We the people of the United States, in order to form a more perfect union, establish justice, insure domestic tranquility, provide for the common defense, promote the general welfare, and secure the blessings of liberty to ourselves and our posterity, do ordain and establish this Constitution for the United States of America. May God, in His infinite wisdom, protect and guide us. Amen." The curtain fell and the lights were dimmed as the chorus sang the doxology.

The third episode portrayed the ratification of the Constitution by Massachusetts on February 6th, 1788 after four months of debate and argument. Governor John Hancock presided over the sessions which were held in Boston. Governor Hancock called upon Theophilus Parsons of Newburyport to present nine conciliatory amendments in a final effort to obtain the support of sufficient delegates to ratify the Constitution. Most of these amendments, originating with Massachusetts, eventually became a major portion of the first ten amendments of the Constitution, commonly known as the Bill of Rights.

The major part of the ensuing dialogue was an adaptation of the actual speeches and letters of the delegates. This dialogue was presented in speeches by those taking the parts of Dr. John Taylor of Douglass, Amos Singletary, a Worcester county farmer, General Samuel Thompson of Topsfield, Me. (Maine at that time being a part of the State of Massachusetts), Rufus King of Newburyport, Jonathan Smith of Lanesborough, Charles Turner of Scituate, William Symmes of Andover, James Neal a Quaker from Kittery, Me., Nathaniel Barrell of York, Me., and Captain Phanuel Bishop of Rehobeth. With cries of vote, vote, vote, Governor Hancock called for the vote of those in favor and those opposed to the ratification of the Constitution as amended. The vote being close, a rising vote was taken. The actual vote of the 355 delegates was 187 to 168 but because of the impossibility of staging a complete session a greatly curtailed number participated and the announced vote of 14 to 12 was an approximate ratio.

A choral interlude preceded the fourth episode in the Law of Liberty, showing the inauguration of George Washington as the first president of the United States on the balcony of Federal Hall in New York City on April 30, 1789. Here Washington took the oath of office administered by provided by an instrumental group of gentlemen and ladies in colorful costumes of the period, crowded before the balcony with applause and cheering resounding.

A candle light interlude with music provided by an instrumental group comprising violin, cello, flute and harp introduced the ball room scene following the inauguration. Before President and Mrs. Washington and a large number of guests assembled on the upper stage level six couples of colorfully costumed dancers presented a minuet to the music from the instrumental group.

The portion of the pageant portraying the Flag of Liberty showed Betsy Ross sitting before the fireplace attempting to sew strips of cloth into a desirable pattern. Failing in the attempt she drowsily watches the fire in a deep reverie. As she watches dancers appear on the stage, some in blue costumes with a star on front and back, others in red and others in white. As they danced they wove themselves into various patterns and finally concluded in an arrangement of red and white stripes with a blue field and stars in the corner. The back stage curtain opened again to find Betsy Ross holding the American flag, with thirteen white stars, as the result of the vision which came to her. A third scene in the episode showed Betsy Ross presenting the flag to General Washington and concluded with the "Star Spangled Banner."

The Laurels of Liberty were symbolized by the chorus in the singing of "Crown of Freedom" by Griggs-Gaines in the first public performances of this new composition. Following the epilogue by the Voice of the People the curtain rose on a beautiful tableau portraying the Spirit of the Constitution. The central figure of this tableau was that of Peace with various characters grouped in front of her. Its portrayal effectively climaxed an impressive dramatization of historical fact and tradition which has been the goal of the sesquicentennial observance throughout the country.

The pageant was presented under the auspices of the Mayor's Committee for the Sesquicentennial Celebration, composed of Hon. Leverett Saltonstall, chairman, Joseph W. Bartlett, Henry B. Patrick, Harry Silverman, Harold W. Knowlton, David Greer, James P. Gallagher, James A. Waters and Edward O. Proctor. Ernest Herrman was general director. The pageant was compiled under the personal direction of C. Hassler Capron, assisted by a production staff which included Hazel Sands Welch, lyric pantomime and dance director, Mrs. Ellis Spear, Jr., enlistment director, assisted by Mrs. Arthur W. Lane and Miss Anne Bunker, Charles W. Peterson, stage manager, D. Ralph Maclean, musical director, John Hitchcock, lighting director, William Lynch, make-up director, Mrs. Charles Abrahms, Jr., costume director. Lighting equipment and special effects were by the Capron Lighting Co., and costumes by the Hayden Costume Co. Director Capron was assisted by Percy J. Burrell, regarded as America's foremost pageant director and a member of the national pageant committee in connection with the Sesquicentennial, Mr. Burrell wrote the second, third and fourth episodes of the Law of Liberty, the first episode of which was written by Marie Moore Forrest.

The soloist on Thursday evening was John Tulloch, Jr., and on Friday evening and Saturday afternoon Ermond Lewis. Mrs. Franklin E. Leland was at the organ Thursday evening, Karl Switzer Friday evening and Gerald F. Frazee on Saturday afternoon. The chorus was composed of singers from the Highlands Glee Club, Community Service Club, Newtonville Women's Club, Central Cong. Church, Newton Highlands Woman's Club, Church of the Good Shepherd, Waban, and Eliot Church Choir, Newton.

REPUBLICAN OPTIMISM?

Although it is still pretty difficult to arouse much interest in the primary and state elections to be held next fall the announcement by Lieut Gov. Kelly that he will be a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Governor introduces numerous interesting possibilities. His further avowed intention is that if elected he will serve but one term. Already there is considerable speculation as to whether or not Mr. Kelly has received promise or overtures of endorsement from the New Deal advocates in this state, including James Roosevelt, whose aspirations for state office here are definitely apparent. Many persons are asking as to whether or not the national administration will manifest real interest in Massachusetts politics. Many persons are also wondering what effect Mr. Kelly's candidacy will have upon Governor Hurley's chances of re-nomination. And of course, beyond that is the concern of the G. O. P. as to the effect of Democratic lack of harmony upon Republican chances. Broadly speaking it looks as though the Republican party can regard the future with greater optimism than for several years past but such optimism should be tempered with sound judgment and careful consideration of many political factors and factions.

WE THE PEOPLE

Although George Washington is better known as the General of the Revolutionary army and the First President of these United States, there were many other important years in his life. As the father of his country he not only brought it through the conflict for freedom and administered its affairs in its early days as a country, but he played a most important part in the preparation and adoption of the Constitution which was so dramatically shown last week at Newton's pageant. We little doubt that Washington's Birthday will mean more to many persons in Newton because of the impressions they received as to the deliberations and developments of that uncertain period of the nation's life between the close of the war and the inauguration of the first president. It is for us, we the people, to carry on the tradition, foresight, judgment and spirit of compromise and need for co-operation that exemplified those years.

Five Valentine Babies Born at Newton Hospital

On February 14, the mail service and the florists delivered gay colored packages, scores of cards and beautiful flowers to the patients in the Newton Hospital as greetings from their friends to remind them of St. Valentine's day. Of all the valentines received the most excitement and happiness came with the arrival of five new babies known in the hospital as the Valentine babies.

Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Cummings of 13 Crovelly rd., Wellesley Hills, received special attention in that they were presented with twins, a boy and a girl; Mr. and Mrs. Levon Bedegian of 85 Mount Vernon st., West Newton with a baby girl; Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Leonard, Sudbury rd., Wayland, with a son; and Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Redmond of 67 Baume st., Auburndale, with a son.

Sunbeam Chats

Well, I learned something today which makes me feel a lot better about taking that awful tasting cod liver oil. Mother was asking the District Nurse whether she should give me a bigger dose of it and they talked about it for a long time.

Letters To The Editor

AMBULANCE EXPERIENCE

11 Washburn Avenue,
Auburndale, Mass.,
Feb. 12, 1938.

Editor, Newton Graphic:

Dear Sir:

I had occasion to ride in the ambulance of the police department very recently and when I reached the hospital I wrote the following while my feelings were fresh.

"I rode in our ambulance, I sat trying to ease the pain of a wounded man who felt pain, deep, sharp pain at every jolt and jar. I held him when he was thrown sideways, forward, backward, each jerk bringing forth a moan. I rode and I suffered with him and damned the city of Newton for such a vehicle of torture."

I have only to add that I am going to agitate a new ambulance at every chance I get.

If our mayor and aldermen want to realize what a tough vehicle it is let them call it and be laid out in the stretcher and then go for a ride.

With a little imagination on their part they may realize how they would feel were they cut and bleeding.

Yours truly,
FRANCIS P. JONES.

Newton Over Top In Boston Drive

Newton went over the top in raising its quota for the 1938 Greater Boston Community Fund Campaign, of which Leverett Saltonstall of Chestnut Hill was general chairman. Newton contributed $18,411.72 or 102.3 per cent of its allotted quota. Ripley L. Dana of Newton Centre, chairman for Newton, expresses his appreciation of the loyalty of Newton residents in meeting this great inter-community responsibility.

Kiwanis Club

Marble, varying from the crudest building blocks to the basic working material for the world's greatest sculptors was shown and described at the weekly meeting of the Newton Kiwanis Club by the technical experts of the Vermont Marble Company of Proctor, Vermont.

With marble described as, "Any limestone crystallized by metamorphism and granular to compact in texture, and so capable of taking a polish or of being used for fine architectural work" and further aided by talking movies the various steps of this great industry were ably described.

A six thousand year old industry in which the artisans of King Solomon's time were just as proficient as our sculptors of today, the marble industry goes steadily on its way.

From the quarries or mines the stones are cut in huge blocks and delivered at the mills either for fine architectural treatment or to be roughly squared into blocks for sculptural purposes.

At the mill great moving flat saw blades aided by sand and water cut through the massive blocks. Pneumatic hammers in the hands of expert craftsmen, chisel and cut these blocks into statues and ornamental works.

Of the five hundred types of marble in the world Vermont produces about seventy different kinds and imports for finishing purposes practically all of the other types. The finished products of this company are shipped to all parts of the world.

The Newton Kiwanis Club will go to Arlington on Feb. 24th to meet in an inter-club meeting with the Arlington Club.

Winter Play Days at Camp Mary Day

Newton Girl Scouts are anticipating two days of outdoor fun during their school vacation. Skating, coasting, tracking and games at Camp Mary Day are on the calendar for February 23rd and 24th, if Old Man Winter will send some snow! This gala occasion is being sponsored by the Outdoor Activities division of the Camp Committee of which Mrs. Arthur Soule of Waban is chairman. She will be assisted by Mrs. Harry Baird, Mrs. Robert Curtis, Mrs. Merrill P. Delano, Mrs. Montague Knott, Mrs. Samuel Oldfield, Mrs. Frank Saddler, Mrs. Arthur Weston, Miss Ruth Wilkie, and Mrs. Chester Wilson.

Mary Reidy, Dorothy Chandler, Linda Smith, Ada Merriam, Arlene Webster, Cynthia Carlisle, Doris Oldfield, and Nancy McGill, Senior Girl Scouts are assisting with the preliminary plans, and will be on hand to help their smaller sisters enjoy what may be their first experience at Camp Mary Day, the Newton Girl Scout established camp. Besides the fun of participation in winter thrills and spills, the girls will have an opportunity to eat their lunches before an open fire, to join in the good spirit of group singing, and to have a taste of winter camping. Enthusiasm is running high, and only unfavorable weather will dampen the spirits of the many who have already made plans to be the first arrivals.

Rotary Club

The regular meeting of Rotary Club of Newton was held at the Charles River Country Club on Monday at 12.15. President Frank Clark, presided with Cecil Clark leading the singing. Fred Lowe read a Valentine verse which everyone enjoyed.

The speaker, Mr. Ernest Johnson, secretary and treasurer of the Boston Building Trades Union was introduced by Frank Richardson. He stated that his organization is a part of the American Federation of Labor which is an organization which has been in existence for the past 50 odd years. He said that the rival C. I. O. had not bothered labor in the state of Massachusetts, probably from the fact that there is no great mass production in the state same as in the steel and auto districts. He does not think that unions could exist if they became incorporated bodies. He suggested that unions were looking into the idea of annual wages rather than a higher hourly wage with the goal being a more steady volume throughout the year.

The members asked a number of questions which were answered by the speaker.

Watch That Road

Yes, brother, you might as well fold up that road map and head for home. Your fun is over. You thought you could watch the map and the road at the same time. But you guessed wrong—and like thousands of other motorists who let their minds and their eyes wander when driving, you ended up off the road. Mister, it's a fundamental of the safe driving code that you keep your eyes on the road, your hands on the steering-wheel, and your mind on the job of getting there safely.

Arnold, president, in the chair, Miss Nelson, Executive Director reported a total of 740 patients visited for the month of January, 161 of whom were new patients. While this marks an increase of 162 visits over the same period last year, Miss Nelson pointed out that the increase was owing to the increased number of visits paid for Health Supervision of children, rather than actual nursing service.

Miss Elena Perkins of the Massachusetts Tuberculosis League showed the extremely interesting sound motion picture "Behind the Shadows" illustrating the importance of tuberculin testing for young people in the teen age.

62 YEARS AGO

Newton Republican, Feb. 19, 1876

A special meeting of the School Committee was held on Tuesday evening, Mayor Speare presiding, to further consider the question of reducing school expenses. The question of the Superintendent of Schools being before them, Mr. Blakeslee favored the appointment of an assistant superintendent at a salary of $2500. He proposed abolishing all the masters positions, thus saving several thousands of dollars. He was aware it would be a complete change from the present system, but thought it as efficient. Mr. Latimer thought such action unwise. He would retain the present system and read statistics to support his position. Mr. Allen favored the proposal and urged it as the best way to reduce expenses. He thought most of the superintendent's work could be done by the secretary and members of the School Committee. A general discussion was held, mostly in favor of the present system.

The night school for men and boys at the Lincoln School on Pearl st., bids fair to be a success. There were about 60 present on Wednesday evening. School is held on Monday, Wednesday and Friday nights.

At the meeting of the Board of Aldermen on Monday evening Alderman Rice offered an order that so much of the Mayor's address as refers to the establishment of a Police Court in Newton be referred to a special committee, and Aldermen Rice, Barnes and Gilman were appointed.

The Newton Boat Club will inaugurate a grand fair at City Hall, West Newton starting on Tuesday evening, March 7 and continuing for four evenings, in aid of their new boat house. A great variety of useful and fancy articles donated by the ladies of Newton and friends of the club will be offered for sale, and in addition the following prizes will be sold on shares. A gold watch valued at $200 donated by Beals & Jones of Boston; a beautiful cabinet organ valued at $400, donated by the Wood Organ Company; and Worcester's quarto dictionary contributed by Brewer & Tileston of Boston. In addition a single scull racing shell contributed by Mr. Ruddock of Charlestown will be given to the member of the club receiving the largest number of votes.

There are a few cases of scarlet fever reported on the outskirts of Newton Centre.

The contractors on the Boston Water Works aqueduct at Newton Upper Falls have been of late quite careless in the use of gunpowder for blasting the rocks in the new conduit. Within a short time the village was showered with rocks from a blast on the Needham side of the river. Some of the stones were thrown 700 feet. One went through the side of the Baptist Church and another through the roof of the postoffice building.

Newton Graphic, Feb. 17, 1888

The system of ventilation and heating devised by City Engineer Noyes and put into the Bigelow School at Newton stood the test of the severe weather this Winter remarkably well. The rooms have been warm, and yet well ventilated.

The latest invention in telephones is called the Pulsion telephone. Mr. L. Millet is the inventor and manager and quite a number have already been installed in this city. They are certainly a vast improvement over the Bell telephone as it is always possible to hear what the man at the other end is saying, and there are no batteries to get out of order. You talk through an ordinary speaking tube to the man at the other end, and his replies can be heard in any part of the room. The private wires which have been put in so far in Newton have been perfectly satisfactory. Charles Rand has one between his office and his house. Henry Daniels has his house and stables connected.

On Thursday there was more trouble with the heating arrangements at Newton High School and it was impossible to make the rooms in the new addition comfortable.

A new bell has been ordered for the Congregational Church at Newton Centre. The old one has not been serviceable for over a month and the school house bell has been rung on Sundays.

Cruelty to horses by boys driving store delivery wagons has been marked for sometime in Newton Centre and complaints have become so numerous that police have determined to break up this practice. One arrest has been made and others will follow unless warnings are heeded.

25 YEARS AGO

Newton Graphic, Feb. 21, 1913

The widening of Hammond st. at Chestnut Hill is a needed public improvement and one which should be borne by the whole city, as there can be no question that this important street is a thoroughfare. It would be the height of folly to delay this widening as it can never be done cheaper than at present. An investment now will yield constantly increasing benefits as the years pass by.

Edward H. Powers' Paragraphs

The critical injuries received recently by the driver of a mail truck at Auburndale when the 45 calibre pistol he was carrying accidentally discharged, causes one to think whether or not drivers of mail trucks should be compelled to tote such heavy, dangerous weapons. We have yet to read of a mail truck driver defending himself from bandits by means of the pistol he carries. What chance would a postal employee have to use the weapon if he were suddenly accosted by bandits covering him with revolvers or automatics? And the moral effect produced by the mail truck driver having a Colt hung in a holster at his side does not deter modern bandits. However, since the mail truck drivers must carry the weapon, they should at least have the cartridge chamber under the trigger of a revolver unloaded.

Nearly four years ago, on April 21, 1934, Miss Elizabeth Spear of Newton died at the age of 92. For three score years Miss Spear was one of this city's outstanding philanthropists. Her lifelong avocation had been to work in behalf of the needy of Nonantum and Newton. Upon her death it was learned that she had donated her home at the corner of Walnut Park and Washington Street, Newton, to the city she so dearly loved. In her will Miss Spear specified that the residence should be used for any useful purpose to which it might be adapted, and if the building could not be so used, that it should be razed and the land converted into a "green spot" to be used as a small park. Miss Spear also donated a sum of money for the installation of a drinking fountain at some location in Newton. The then Commissioner of Public Buildings was instructed to inspect the old Spear homestead and report if it could be used for any public purpose. He reported that it could not be so used. After some debate, the Board of Aldermen voted to accept the bequest of Miss Spear.

For nearly four years the once attractive home of Miss Spear has been unoccupied. The former well kept yard has been allowed to grow rank with grass and weeds. The old house has grown dingy, and recently boys of that mean type who derive pleasure from breaking windows in unoccupied buildings, have been showing disrespect to the memory of Miss Spear by wreaking this form of vandalism on her former home. Isn't it about time that the old house be torn down and the property converted to the use for which Miss Spear bequeathed it?

Now that Newton's official sesquicentennial observance of the signing of the Constitution of the United States is over, and the many who attended the productions of the pageant have been imbued with patriotism, why wouldn't it be a good time for steps to be taken for the city to purchase a small plot of land adjoining the memorial to Roger Sherman on Waverley avenue, Newton. Although Roger was not featured in the pageant, he was the only native of Newton directly engaged in the drafting and signing of the Constitution. A delegate from Connecticut, he took an important part in the deliberations preceding the signing of the historic document. The site of his birthplace is one of the few vacant lots in its neighborhood and there should be no delay in providing for a small park to surround the humble memorial to Sherman's memory. Newton might well have purchased this land and had dedicatory exercises there in connection with the sesqui-centennial observance. The land immediately adjoining the memorial is privately owned and soon will be built on.

A couple of weeks ago in this column we commended Chief of Police Asa McKenna of Waltham for his enforcement of traffic rules in that city. This week we shall criticize Chief McKenna for some alleged economies he has ordered in his department. One is—that all prisoners held at Waltham police headquarters shall receive but one meal a day; said meal to consist of a bottle of coffee and two sandwiches. The other is—that no free lodgings be given to itinerant travelers. The latter economy is to eliminate the small cost of lighting the cell room when such a wayfarer is lodged there. Last year Mr. McKenna was advanced from the rank of Lieutenant to that of Chief, with a resultant large increase in salary. Economically he is much better off than he was. Apparently he does not possess the sympathy he should for those less fortunate, especially in these troubled times when so many men can't find work. If he did have such sympathy, he would not deny a night's lodging to any poor victim of the depression, or even to any human derelict, particularly in this cold season of the year. Neither would he limit to one meagre meal a day any unfortunate who transgressed, even lightly, the law, and does not possess enough influence to be released from the Waltham hoosegow. Prosperity makes many more generous and kindly, but it does not seem to have had this effect on Asa.

The announcement of the candidacy of Lieut. Governor Francis Kelly for the Democratic nomination for Governor against the present occupant of that office, Governor Hurley, may put an end to the recurring reports which have been published the past few months regarding the Roosevelt forces attempting to induce this or that man prominent in politics to oppose Governor Hurley. Among those who were alleged to have been offered Roosevelt support were Attorney General Dever, State Auditor Buckley and Judge Joseph Hurley of the Superior Court, the former Lieutenant Governor. All of these men refuted the reports that they intend to oppose the Governor for the nomination. Many persons thought it poor politics on the part of the Roosevelt forces to seemingly be so impractical, but, according to those who claim to be in the know on political schemes in this State, the publicity regarding the alleged Roosevelt efforts to induce these men to oppose the Governor, was started by a couple of sagacius supporters or Charles F. Hurley. The purported strategy of the publicity was to smoke out any probable opponents of the Governor, and thus cause them to affirm or deny the suspicion that either might be a candidate.

By L. D. G. BENTLEY

Still Wondering

Any person who can read a book under circumstances not entirely conventional excites my envy. Try as I may I cannot sit at a dining table or lunch counter, as so many people do, and absorb the author's work. Nor can I sit in the waiting room of a doctor or dentist and apply my undivided attention to the volume before me. But there are those who can carry a book under their arm and, when the moment offers, open it up and plunge into the narrative without delay. I have seen men and women apparently getting complete literary satisfaction, or whatever it may be, while on their feet. I must say that I have read on a train or trolley but never with much success. There are, though, gifted folk who peruse the pages of a novel while holding a strap in the aisle merely because all seats were occupied. Some women take their books into the kitchen and read while waiting for something to boil or brown or bake, or whatever process may be underway. Now, as I see it, it is an accomplishment to be proud of—reading a book at any time and anywhere—but how to achieve it I have never learned.

Pedestrian's Suggestion

Every year the question of a uniform charge for compulsory automobile liability insurance is agitated and, as has happened this year, nothing is done about it and the law remains as written. As a non-owner I have no opinion but it would seem that it might be more beneficial to the public if for a while those most vitally affected turned from flat rate to flat tire insurance.

"Over-Simplification"

The haste with which several readers have sought to enlighten me regarding signs of approaching spring is noted with gratitude; together with some of the harbingers—men running through the streets in shorts to get ready for the Marathon; annoying brush fires and burning rubbish piles; men (and some women, too) beating rugs on the lawn; boats pulled up and overhauled and exchange of ideas as to the best available blood purifier and general tonic.

A suggestion that this column comment on the prices charged by barbers recalls the Ezra Kendall story: A man who had had his hair cut and was requested to pay 50 cents, objected, saying to the barber, "Your sign says 'First Class Haircut 35 cents.' To which the barber replied, 'Yes, but you haven't got first class hair.'"

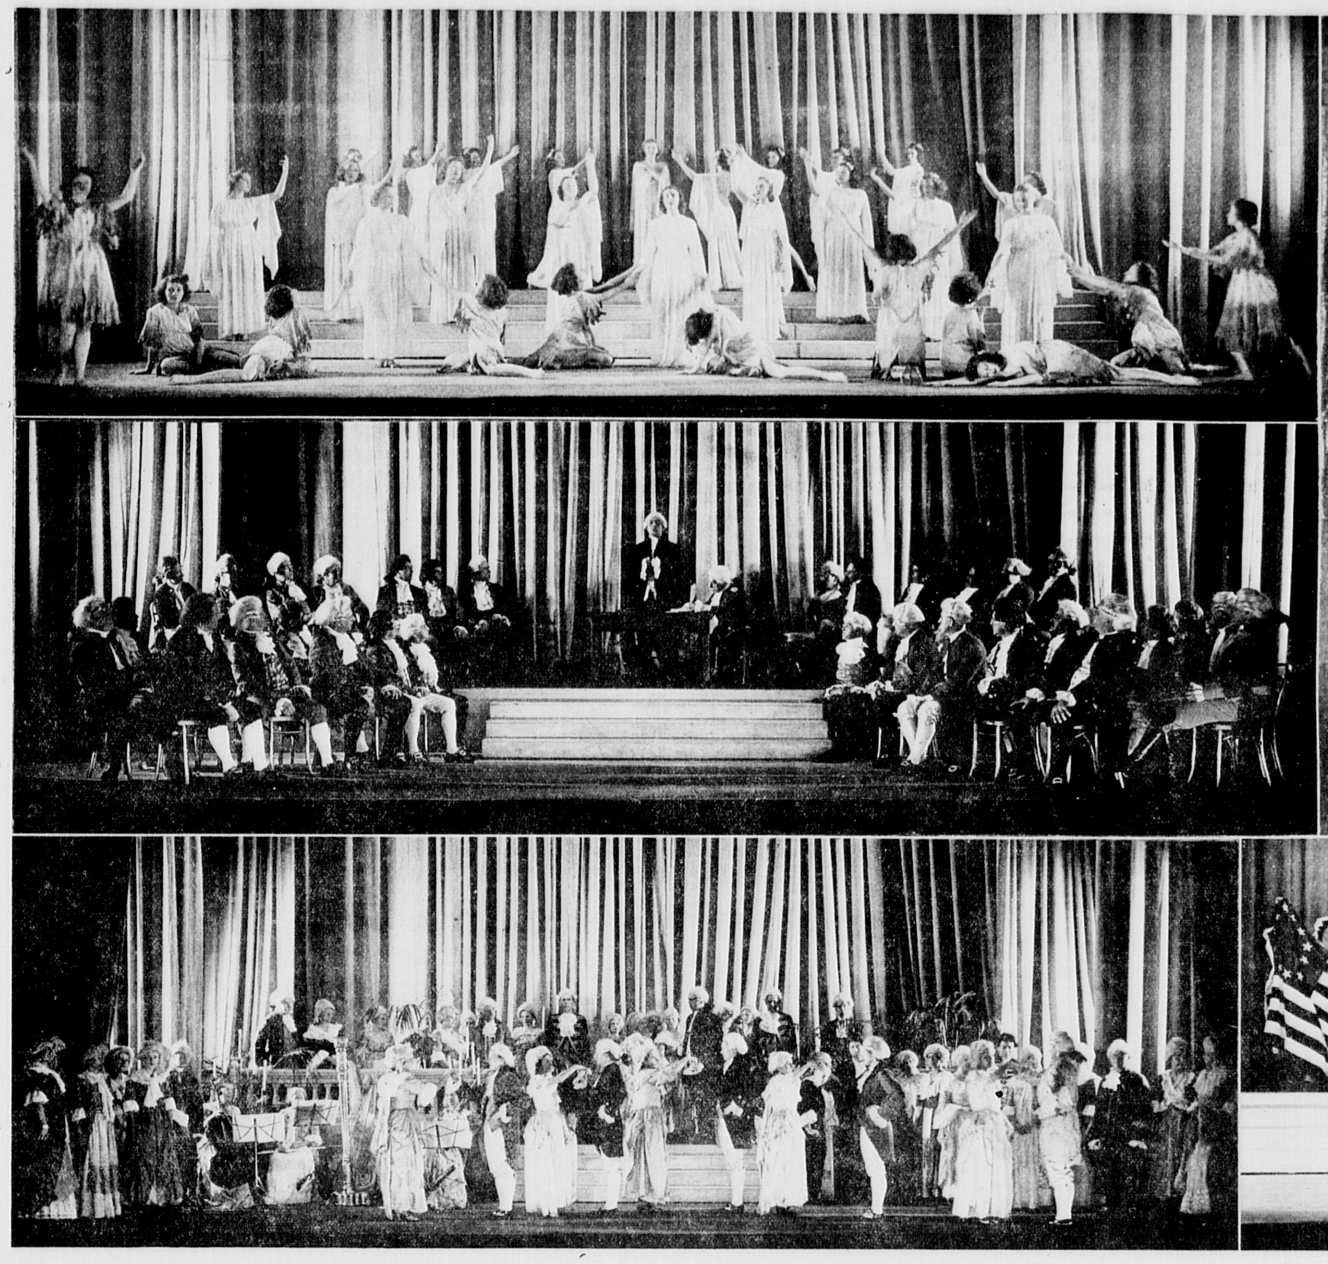

The "Cop's" Calling

As I often hear it said, "The police should do something about it." I assume that practically everybody knows a policeman's business except the officer himself. Either that or it is the old situation of offering advice from the sidelines. Of course the police have their orders and they possess a knowledge of the general laws and city ordinances. Thus equipped they go forth, with certain weapons, to keep the peace for you and me. But in an emergency they probably become, like every other human being, somewhat upset. The answer to that is training, at least in part. But some men, in or out of uniform, "cops" or civilians, do not think as quickly as others. A patrolman whose duties are performed in a quiet community is seldom confronted with extreme emergencies. Had he been through a school for policemen, he ould at least apply some of the lessons taught. With so many young men receiving appointment to the police force, it strikes me that a rigid course of instruction should be demanded. The State patrol training is most effective and for my part I don't see why the members of a municipal police department might not gain from similar preparation.

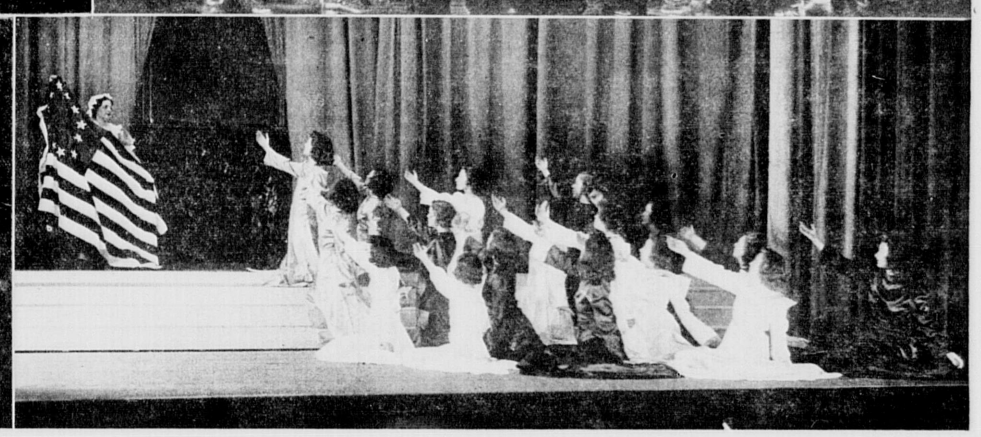

The Right View

It was one of the coldest mornings of last week when two Newton men, both employed in one of the larger mercantile establishments in Boston, were stepping along Federal st., having left the train at the South Station. It was comparatively early and therefore chilly in the extreme. "We don't amount to much," observed one, somewhat ruefully, "turning out in the cold to work all day indoors on a hard job." His companion, still possessing optimism, replied, "Yes, but don't forget they keep the building well heated in Winter."

Pageantry With Color

By P. W. C.

It may not be amiss to record the feelings and impressions of one of the most enthusiastic Pageanteers of last week. At the outset, candor compels me to state that the early rehearsals at the Newton Centre Playground failed to impress. It seemed to many of us that we were performing a necessary civic duty and we went through the motions with such graciousness as we could muster. The general public may not realize how tiresome it must have been to a good many men to spend hour after hour waiting for a chance to speak one line, and perhaps not even that. But that was part of the game and everybody acted like a good sport as soon as the situation was understood.

The next phase revealed the noble actors cutting up. Even though it was at my expense, I can still get a laugh out of the schoolboy antics of three distinguished Aldermen—"H. L." "D. D. M." and "J. B. J." (That is all the publicity they rate.) These worthies saw fit to tie the coattails of the writer to his chair every time he rose to his feet to make some brief historic statement. The effect was somewhat marred as the speaker's chair dragged along behind him and the other pageanteers roared. Other men let off steam by playing basketball during lulls in rehearsals.

Along came the famous Percy J. Burrell, rendering first aid to the harassed and overworked director, C. Hassler Capron. If the High School audiences really feel that the gang gave a "good show," take your hats off to these energetic, patient and long-suffering gentlemen. How they could coach and direct that motley crew of statesmen, politicians and other equally undesirable type of citizens and still remain gentlemen is beyond me. And I think I know what I am talking about.

And now to be serious for a moment. Let's pass over the hectic days when Messrs Capron and Burrell were transforming "hams" into actors and getting a bit of solace whenever an embryo actor like Charlie Floyd showed up. Gradually the pageant took form and the mass of detailed work produced tangible results. We moved over to the High School for the last two rehearsals. There, for the first time, we were privileged to see in action that inspiring group of dancers who delighted our audiences on the last three days of the week. That marked the turning point. If those youngsters could "do their stuff" with the grace and skill they displayed and show such splendid spirit, certainly there was no excuse for a crowd of grown men falling down. Here and now I take off my hat to those little troupers. My hat comes off likewise in sincere tribute to the equally inspiring chorus and to all the others who had a part in the musical part of the pageant. Frankly, the music and dancing were the most important part of the whole show, as I see it. There had to be actors and actresses, of course, to speak the various historic lines and to re-enact significant, historic scenes. Could they have stood all alone? I wonder. In this connection, it should be noted that the scenery was in every way adequate even if the costumes were not. In case this last comment is too subtle, I hasten to add that there was nothing wrong with the costumes as costumes. It was merely unfortunate that some of them were not adequate in the sense that they revealed altogether too much of the peculiarities of some of our distinguished men-folk. Such legs as we all saw. Some of our noblest statesmen have such pathetic underpinnings that it is hard to see how they can stand up for themselves, let alone their constituents. But were they good sports? I'll say they were. Every last man and woman in that production gave everything that he or she had in order to present a creditable performance. When you stop to consider that not one person in twenty, probably, had ever had even a smattering of stage experience, it is really rather remarkable that the pageant was so successful.

One of the most valuable by-products of the pageant was the opportunity which it presented to make new friendships and cement existing ones. I think we all took full advantage of this. My guess is that even the members of the Board of Aldermen, twelve in all, became closer friends and revealed talents hitherto not disclosed. Who, for example, knew that the president of the Board, Hon. Charles B. Floyd, might have acted with George Arliss if he had only set his mind on it, earlier in life. Who knew that Alderman George Bacon was so efficient as a presiding officer that he could pull off an important meeting like the Annapolis Convention in less time than it takes for our Board of Aldermen to take one roll-call? Who knew that Alderman Inches could strut so magnificently as a General and that Ray Green could wear military boots which completely engulfed him in such an impressive manner? And lastly, who would have thought that one of our new School Committee members, Clark Bristol of Newton Centre, would make such a natural and convincing George Washington?

In closing this rather rambling dissertation, may I pay my tribute to Mrs. Ellis Spear, Jr., Mrs. Arthur W. Lane and the many, many other organizers and helpers. To Mrs. Spear fell the thankless task of signing up the cast. That she succeeded in enlisting the aid of so many busy citizens speaks volumes for her ability and personality. Last, but very far from least, we have the stage crew and all those who contributed directly or indirectly to some of the most beautiful lighting effects it has ever been my privilege to gaze upon. It is quite impossible to measure up the importance of this side of the production. You will see many professional performances in big cities which cannot hold a candle to Newton's pageant.

I am most grateful for the privilege of participating in this historic pageant. None of my efforts behind the foot-lights during the past thirty years have paid such rich, satisfactory dividends. How about it, fellow pageanteers? You wouldn't have missed it for anything, would you?

Scholarship Exams April 9

This year students desiring scholarships given by colleges will take, in most cases, a general examination by the College Entrance Examination Board. Although not all colleges have yet adopted this new method of scholarship examinations, many of them have agreed to it. A few of these colleges are Harvard, Yale, and Swarthmore. The scholarship examinations will consists of a Scholastic Aptitude Test and a Scholarship Achievement Test. The latter will probably be a general test in English, mathematics, history, and a foreign language. These examinations will be given at the high school on April 9, 1938.

Williams will require admission examinations for those entering by certification, and Wellesley will require examinations for Plan D candidates. These admission examinations will consist of a Scholastic Aptitude Test, a foreign language test, and a Mathematical Aptitude Test. All candidates for admission to college and those applying for scholarships should inquire of the chosen college which examinations will be required.

Wants No Foreign Entanglements

Francis J. Horgan of 67 Putnam st., West Newton, sent to the GRAPHIC a copy of the following letter which he had also sent to Senators Lodge and Walsh:—

February 15, 1938.

Hon. David I. Walsh and Hon. Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr.,
United States Senate,
Washington, D. C.
Dear Senators:—

"Beware the Greeks bearing gifts." The World War left behind it the stench of spoliation, broken promises, debt repudiation by "our friendly nations" whose past histories of selfishness, greed and lust for power warn against again becoming a "catspaw" in their "crooked" games.

Despite the statement by Mr. Hull, we agree with Senator Johnson that we are entitled to know fully our "foreign policy"; whether we have any "understandings" with any other nation, and if so, what; whether we are ordained of Heaven "to purify the world," even though our people are clamoring for food, jobs, living wages and control of the "financial and industrial oligarchy" which now apparently rules us. We want no "foreign entanglements" with any nation, especially with Russia, France and England whose records of "bloody conquest" stink to Heaven. We want Congress, not the Navy, to determine our foreign policy. The people bear the brunt of war, its death toll, its hardships, its suffering, and its burden of debt while the "internationalists" wax "fat and rich."

Withdraw our troops from foreign lands. Investors in foreign securities and business as well as Americans who refuse to leave troubled foreign lands, must "fish for themselves." We want an army and navy sufficiently strong for defense purposes but we first ask assurance that such "defense" applies only to our possessions in the Western Hemisphere. We humbly and with trepidation remind our public officials that they are the servants of our people.

If members of Congress vote for a war "of aggression" to further the greed of internationalists, in justice to our citizens, they ought to provide that all members of Congress who vote for such a war shall serve as common soldiers in the front rank trenches. Surely such "heroes" ought gladly to lead the onslaught for "Mammon."

Incidentally, while Americans were homeless and jobless, have the American dollars used to "stabilize the French franc" been repaid? Who received, what were the amounts given, and what is the purpose for which our $2,000,000,000 "stabilization fund" was used, and how much thereof now remains in the Treasury? Who alone have the right to coin and regulate money?

Surely, Massachusetts Senators will turn the search-light of truth upon questions of such momentous importance to the American people.

Respectfully and sincerely yours,
FRANCIS J. HORGAN.

Show Box Theatre at Newtonville Church

The Show Box Theater of Marionettes, an authentic scale miniature theater known to thousands throughout the Northeast, will present a popular program to St. Johns Parish in the newly decorated parish house at Lowell ave. and Otis st., Newtonville, at 8 o'clock, Thursday evening, February 24. Dinner will be served from 6 to 7:30 and there will be dancing following the entertainment until 12.

The program will feature "Three Pills in a Bottle," a one-act fantasy by Rachel Field, recently broadcast on the well-known Chase and Sanborn Hour.

Following this will be five acts of vaudeville which, in seven short years, have made puppet history. Barbara Tufts Adams, outstanding puppet dance interpreter in this country, will repeat selections from her famed "International Dance Revue."

Miss Adams is in charge of marionette production assisted by Clara Andrews, equally versatile craftsman and talented theatrical designer. Stanley Marshman, formerly of Newton, is manager and owner as well as technical supervisor of the Show Box.

After the performance the audience will enjoy the experience of going "backstage" to find such a maze of lights, scenery, drops, microphone, control panel, transmitter, and sundry wires that one wonders how the show "goes on" at all. Careful observation, however, reveals that all is a precisely arranged theater which in no way compares to conventional puppet stages. Even the proscenium arch, as in great theatrical palaces, is set off with indirect lighting effects.

Popcorn, American Crop

Popcorn is a peculiarly American crop. In early Spanish writings reference is made to a ritual of the Aztecs in which "one hour before dawn there sallied forth all these maidens, toasted and popped, the grains of which resembled orange blossoms, and looped on their necks thick festoons of the same which passed under the left arm."

New England Dairy Co. Wins Business Leadership Award

The executive management of the Whiting Milk Company received recognition of their service to their industry and the public at large by the presentation to them, this week, of the Boston Herald Award for Distinguished Business Leadership. This tribute is reserved for organizations, which by their superior management, high quality products, and contributions to business and the general public, have won the esteem of their own particular industry and the people they serve.

The executives now directing the Whiting Milk Company represent one of the most experienced and outstanding groups connected with the dairy industry. The new management is headed by Dr. Carl W. Larson, President and General Manager; Harry L. White, Secretary and Assistant General Manager; Joseph G. Fearey, Treasurer; Dr. J. Arthur Keenan, Louis A. Cooley, Robert A. Burns and John K. Whiting—all of whom are active members of the board of directors.

Dr. Larson expressed the thought that the staff of far-sighted, expertly-trained executives of the company is not content to rest on the laurels of Whiting's "Quality for a Century" reputation. They feel that there can be no ending to the forward movement for the safeguarding of the public health and the maintaining of the standards of Whiting's products.

In presenting the award, Mr. Preston, publisher and general manager of the Boston Herald, praised the accomplishments of the new management—lauding particularly the advancement the company has made in intensified laboratory control, the installation of new machinery, its fine type of modern equipment, and the perfect servicing by the men on the individual milk routes.

Buick is the ONLY car on the market today offering the efficiency of valve-in-head straight-eight design—modernized with the phenomenally efficient new DYNAFLASH principle of combustion.

Buick is the only car your money can buy with the marvel-ride of TORQUE-FREE SPRINGING — springs of stout, shock-smothering coiled steel that lessen skid-risks, lengthen tire life, actually make the whole car more directable.

Buick is the only car with the safe-security of Unisteel Body by Fisher — plus the blessed quiet and peace of Silent Zone Body Mounting.

Buick is admittedly the best looking car on the market — chosen as such by popular vote with a greater margin over its nearest competitor than any other car enjoys!

Buick's performance is easily the most outstanding on the road — for soaring, thrilling lift and power it doffs its hat to no other car even approaching it in size and comfort.

Such are the facts, and on them you can well decide, "Better buy Buick!"

But they do not end the tale. There are two points dealing with figures still needed to complete the full picture of Buick value:

— Buick is not only the lowest-priced straight-eight of its size on the market
—But Buick actually lists at lower figures than do some sixes!

Check the facts, check the figures. We know where you'll find yourself in the end.

In a Buick dealer's showroom getting the dope on his easy terms!

You get a complete car when you buy a Used Car from a Buick dealer—completely reconditioned, completely safe, completely equipped.

WOMEN'S CLUB ACTIVITIES

Edited by EMMA D. COOLIDGE

Legislative Day For State Clubwomen

The Mid-Winter Meeting of the State Federation will be held at the Hotel Bradford, Tremont st., Boston, on Monday, February 28th, at 10 o'clock. This is the Legislative meeting when current bills selected for study will be considered. Affairs in China will be discussed by two of the speakers, Dr. Anton J. DeHaas and Dr. George Shepherd, whose subject will be "The New Life Movement in China." Dr. Shepherd has spent twenty years in China, where he has become acquainted with the rural districts, besides serving as an adviser to Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek. He recently left China for London where he was to meet Mrs. Shepherd, who, it is hoped, will attend the Federation meeting. Dr. Shepherd's address will be in the afternoon. This will be radiocast over Station WBZ from 3 to 4 o'clock.

Prof. DeHaas will speak in the morning. This will be broadcast, also over Station WBZ, at 11:15 o'clock. He has recently returned from the Orient, so should have much of interest and value to tell of conditions in China, also.

Mrs. Mark T. deSilva, the State Legislative chairman, will have charge of the morning presentation of such measures as Jury Service for Women, Biennial Sessions, and the proposed Sales Tax, which is arousing such keen interest at this time.

Reservations for luncheon in the "Pent House" must be made by February 26th with Mrs. Everett Moxon, 7 Central st., South Weymouth, or Mrs. William Jahn, 1046 Central st., East Bridgewater.

Music Day and Reception To New Members

The Newton Community Club meeting on Thursday, February 24th, will be Music Day. The program will be given by the Symphony Orchestra String Quartette, which is composed of four members of the Boston Symphony Orchestra. Boaz Piller, the director, is a distinguished graduate of The Hague Conservatory. The first violinist, Norbert Rene Langa, was graduated from the Paris Conservatory, and joined the Boston Symphony Orchestra in 1928. Einar Hansen was born in Denmark, and he has been a first violinist in the Boston Symphony since 1926. Charles Van Wynbergen, who plays the viola, had the distinction of playing, at the age of five years, before the Queen of Holland.

A most interesting program has been planned. And an added feature of interest will be the Reception to the New Members of the Club.

The Club enjoyed a rare treat on Thursday, February 10th, when Nan Lagerstedt held the keen attention of her audience by a varied program of readings, not only portraying her characters in a most entertaining way but making them very real personalities in visualization.

Miss Florence C. Bacon announced the change of meeting place for the Interior Decorating Class from Mrs. Garrett Schneck's to Mrs. F. P. Powers, 25 Farlow rd.

Mrs. John MacNeil asked the Club members to vote as to whether or not they would like to have speakers come before the Club on Health subjects.

The president, Mrs. Frank H. Briggs, read part of Washington's Farewell Address; also from one of Lincoln's speeches.

Special guests of the afternoon were the Mothers' Club members from the Stearns School Center.

Tea and sandwiches made from Youma bread were served. The pourers were Miss Margaret Aubin, Mrs. Roger S. Hodges, Mrs. Paul C. Sykes and Mrs. Charles F. Hooper.

Reader To Entertain With Monologues

Monday evening, February 21st, the meeting of the Newton Upper Falls Woman's Club will be held at the home of Mrs. Walter J. Billings, 19 Indiana terrace. Mrs. Thomas L. Aiken, chairman of the Printing committee, will serve as hostess. Miss Betty Campbell will entertain with original Monologues and Character Sketches. Miss Campbell is a graduate of the Leland Powers School, and for three seasons played with the Marshfield Players.

The Club celebrated their nineteenth Birthday at their meeting on Monday, February 7th, in their Club room at the Emerson School. The president, Miss Nellie M. Osborne, announced the gracious gift of a beautiful bouquet of snapdragons in honor of the event, by the Garden Club, through their president, Mrs. Raymond Capobianco.

Music Conference

The Annual Music Conference of the State Federation will be held at the Brunswick Hotel, Boston, on Wednesday, March 16th, from 10:30 a. m. until 4 p. m. Reservations must be made before March 14th with Mrs. Ralph W. Smith, 22 Scotland rd., Reading. Mrs. John W. Kennedy, 22 Dearborn st., Medford, is chairman of Registration.

Speakers announced by Mrs. Harold B. Wood, chairman, will include Mrs. John H. Kimball, Mrs. Herbert F. French, Miss Helena B. Shipman, Mrs. Moses H. Gulesian, Professor Robert E. Rogers, Madam Mercier, and Rev. William R. Stidger. Choruses, soloists, trios, and a male quartette will appear on the program.

Triennial at Kansas City In May

When the date for the Triennial of the General Federation of Women's Clubs was set, states "The Missouri Club Woman," a consultation was held with Kansas City florists to determine the time of year when Kansas City is at its greatest beauty. The second week of May was the decision, and one of the delightful features of the week for visiting clubwomen will be the Garden Tours planned by the Kansas City Garden Club. The gardens of this Convention City are noted for their beauty.

The meeting will be held in the Municipal Auditorium of Kansas City from May 10th to May 18th, and 5,000 first-class hotel rooms are within walking distance. Mrs. Marjorie B. Illig, of Massachusetts, chairman of the division of Public Health, is planning a morning and luncheon meeting of the Women's Field Army, on Tuesday, May 10th, with outstanding speakers, and an Exhibit.

Saturday will be Play Day, which will include a Sight-Seeing Tour of Kansas City, with the compliments of the Kansas City Chamber of Commerce, and a Ball will be held in the evening for the Juniors.

Wednesday morning the Convention proper will begin with business reports, resolutions, club institutes, parliamentary law classes, departmental programs, exhibits, and speakers, who will be announced very soon by Mrs. Roberta Campbell Lawson, president of the General Federation.

At the Club meeting last Friday, February 11th, at which Dorothea Braude, the author, was the program speaker, a most unusual decoration of the tea table attracted much attention.

Decorated in the national colors, a long, wide band of national blue ribbon extended the length of the table over the lace cloth, and tapers of red, white, and blue glowed over the white and red flowers of the centerpiece. At one end of the table Mrs. Frank E. Anderson, Club president from 1904 to 1908, presided, and at the other end Mrs. John W. Merrill officiated.

Attractive Painting Classes

The Art committee of the Waban Woman's Club was entertained at a Tea by Mrs. Edward Ellis Allen, Jr., on Tuesday, February 8th, at her home, 40 Ridge rd. Plans were discussed for the Tuesday evening Classes in Drawing and Painting which are to be held in the Waban Library. Other special guests included the president of the Waban Club, Mrs. Herbert W. Smith; the first vice-president, Mrs. George M. Belcher; and guests from Wellesley and Oak Hill Village.

These evening Art Classes will be in addition to the day Painting Classes sponsored by the Waban Woman's Club, which have proven so successful. The Class offers instruction in charcoal drawing; pastel, water-color, and oil painting. The Instructor is Virginia Warren Allen, who graduated at the Boston School of the Museum of Fine Arts and continued her studies in advanced painting under Charles Hopkinson, at the Howard-Walker School in Boston, at the Cleveland Art School, and at the Ecole Colorossi in Paris.

Classes will be on Tuesday evenings, from 8 to 10 o'clock, and are open to both men and women. Memory drawing, action sketching, still-life painting, and a live model for portrait work are offered, so there will be work for beginners as well as for more advanced work for those more experienced. Tuition will be $1.50 a single lesson, or $8.00 for a course of six lessons.

West Newton Women's Educational Club

Hildreth, the first vice-president of the State Federation will be a guest. Miss Mary Cameron will play a piano solo.

The Contract Bridge Class will meet, with Mrs. D. Webster Anders teaching, on Tuesday, February 22nd, at 1:30 p. m., at the home of Mrs. Henry F. Keating, 29 Rangeley rd. Any member wishing to join this Class may call Mrs. Keating, Telephone, West Newton 2546.

The Garden Club will have the fifth botany lesson, of a series of eight, on Monday, February 21st, at the home of Mrs. Eben Kirtley, 371 Austin st., at 12:30 p. m. Mrs. H. R. Heartel will talk on "Building up Our Soil."

The Sewing Day for February at the Newton Hospital has been postponed.

Presidents' Day at the West Newton Women's Educational Club, held in the Second Church Parish House on February 11th, was a very interesting day, with the many honor guests already announced present. Mrs. Ernest A. Dockstader, president, presided.

The speaker, Miss Margaret Slattery, noted Boston author, speaking on "Educating the Emotions of Youth," entertained her audience not alone with her lecture but with her keen sense of humor. She said, "Youth needs to be in contact with people who can think, feel, and have power to express and make living a reality." Miss Slattery said Russia is what it is today because of suppressed emotions.

Richard Haas, boy soprano, entertained with three songs: "Snowflake", "The Pine", and "The Cuckoo". He was accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Dorothy Fairbanks Baesler.

Refreshments of Valentine cakes were served with ice-cream and coffee or tea.

The pourers were Miss Lucy Ellis Allen, Miss Agnes C. Early, Mrs. Francis E. Nowers, Mrs. Ernest F. Robinson, and Mrs. J. Herbert Brown. The tea-tables were beautifully decorated with centerpieces of red and white roses and sweet peas. The stage was arranged attractively, and the stately basket of white lilies was very effective.

The Art Exhibit arranged by the Art committee added greatly to the enjoyment of the guests and members.

Auburndale Woman's Club

Members of the Auburndale Woman's Club heard a most unusual and entertaining discussion on the subject of "Keeping Out of the Ruts of Stagnation," at their last meeting in the Auburndale Club House by F. Alexander Magoun, Professor of Humanics at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

By way of introduction, Professor Magoun defined stagnation as the inability to see a change when it is necessary, and conservatism as unwillingness to change unless the change be right. Stagnation, Professor Magoun continued, occurs quickest in those people whose patterns do not change. Its greatest cause is self-satisfaction.

The speaker stated that there were three ways to avoid mental stagnation: first, by providing for periodic change in exposing oneself to new events, such as those afforded by women's clubs, a university extension course, reading one good book a month and taking notes; second, by providing for a series of periodic checks to find just where one is going and how fast; third, by providing for periodic sprees, such as a new permanent and facial, rearranging the furniture, cooking a new dish, or climbing a mountain.

In closing, Professor Magoun said that the majority of marriages were just plain mediocre because husband and wife become stagnated and take each other for granted. As a remedy for this he suggested the above-mentioned changes, declaring that all marriages require knowledge, capital, and some attention to one's competitors.

The speaker was introduced by the Program chairman, Mrs. Joseph C. McCarron, in the absence of the Day chairman, Mrs. Bradley L. Hill. At the business meeting preceding, the guest of honor was Mrs. Edgar P. Hay, president of the Newton Federation of Women's Clubs, who spoke briefly on the drive for winter clothing and of the concert by the Massachusetts Symphony Orchestra.

Tea was served at the close of the afternoon by Mrs. Silvanus Smith and the Hospitality committee. Pourers at the candle-lighted tea-table were Mrs. Edward B. Gray and Mrs. Ernest F. Drew, both past presidents of the Club.

Newton Highlands Woman's Club

At the last regular meeting of the Club held in the Congregational Parish House, the Club Chorus sang a group of four songs, conducted by Mrs. Thomas B. Ginn, and accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Maurice A. Reidy.

Professor William G. Sutcliffe, whose subject was "The Social Value of Education" made many interesting observations, some of the highlights being that although education is five thousand years old, it sometimes seems that it has not progressed very far, when war and prospect of war can still exist. Education teaches the art of living, and also the use of tools, so that the art of living may pertain. Nationalism, by virtue of education, is not conducive to world peace. Radio is an important means of education. Radicalism is increasing, perhaps, because the youth from the age of 18 to 21 is educated to fill a job and such a job is not obtainable. What America needs is a greater number of people educated for good citizenship.

At the close of the lecture, tea was served, with Mrs. H. Augustine Smith and Mrs. Herbert G. Dunphy at the tea-table.

Larry Paglia Wins Publication Name Contest

At last the new publication has a name. From now on it will be known officially as "The Oriole," the significance being in the orange and black colors of that type of bird. Prize Speaking Preliminary

At the prize-speaking tryouts recently from 23 boys assembled in room 128, Mrs. Bemis, Miss Thumin and Miss Leathers, chairman, chose the eight best. Three-minute selections only were permitted; therefore most of those given during try-outs will not be presented on the all-important final night. The boys chosen and the selections given were the following: William Stark—Sparticus to the Gladiators; Ellis Dierdorff—an original dissertation on music, Lee Pattison—en excerpt from Cyrano de Bergerac, Joseph Palmieri—Mia Carlotta, Leon Kruger—a selection from Emperor Jones, Oliver Wyman—a second selection from Emperor Jones, and Roger Walen and Donald Fulton each gave The Yarn of Nancy Belle.

At the same time 15 girls, rather amazingly composed of all juniors but one, were trying out in room 1204. Miss Nute, chairman, Miss Robinson, and Mr. Cutting chose the seven best speakers. They were Juliette Harvey, who repeated The Waltz, Aura Kern—Seventh Heaven, Dorothy Copeland—a part of Winterset, Constance Elrod—also The Waltz, Mavise Hayden—Renaissance, Helen Shapiro—Calivan of the Coal Mines, and Barbara Tower—a piece from Les Miserables.

Gulesian Awarded $50,000 In Suit Against Trust Co.

Moses Gulesian of Commonwealth ave., Chestnut Hill, was awarded $50,000 by a jury in the Suffolk County Superior Court last week in his suit against the Newton Trust Company and officers thereof for $525,000. Gulesian alleged conspiracy in an attempt to deprive him of real estate at Falmouth, Massachusetts. Gulesian was represented by Harold J. Smith of Wellesley, who has tried many civil cases in Suffolk County courts. The Trust Company was represented by Dunbar, Nutting & McClennen. The Trust Company loaned money to Gulesian in 1931 on notes for $75,000 and $28,500. In security the Trust Company took mortgages of $100,000 on Gulesian's Falmouth property, and $50,000 on his property at Chestnut Hill.

Officials of the Trust Company state that the evidence presented did not warrant the finding of the jury and they intend to contest the decision through to the highest courts if necessary.

THE WEEK IN NEWTON SPORTS

BASKET SEASON ENDS WITH BELMONT GAME

The Newton high basketball team concludes its season this afternoon, meeting the Belmont high team at Newtonville. The visitors are leading the Middlesex League at present and the game should be close all the way. The local five wound up its Suburban League schedule on Monday, trimming Brookline High, 30 to 20, to end up in second place with a record of 7 wins and 3 losses.

Wally Maguire was the fair-haired boy in the setto with the Wealthy Towners, scoring 16 of the 30 Newton points. The league title was clinched by Rindge, which has lost but one to Newton in its 9 games, with its final tilt scheduled for Washington's Birthday with its city rival and cellar occupant, Cambridge Latin. The title was decided last week when Newton dropped 3 straight league games, Rindge, Arlington and Waltham, to fade out of the picture, after winning 6 straight games. Despite its slump, the Newton team has compiled the best defensive record of any of the six teams in the circuit, holding its opponents to a total of 196 points in 10 games. Rindge Tech is second at present in this respect at present, with 217 points tallied against it. Arlington High is resting comfortably as the leading scoring team in the circuit with 318 points. Rindge, with 260, must tally almost 60 points against the Cantabs to surpass this mark. The 52 to 40 win which Arlington chalked up over the Cantabs this week was the high-scoring game of the season and unless Cambridge is stronger defensively against Rindge the engineers' quintet may pull off the unexpected. At present Newton stands as the second high-scoring outfit with 289 points but Rindge should easily pass this, needing but 30 digits.

Last Friday Newton vanquished an invading Watertown High five at Newtonville to the tune of 27 to 15. At half time Watertown was leading by a 12 to 6 count but Van Gundy turned Newton's gloom into happiness with some nifty basket tossing to turn the tide.

RELAY HONORS SPLIT —ANDOVER MEET NEXT

Four schools divided the championship relay trophies at the third annual Eastern Seaboard Relay Carnival at the Boston Garden track last Saturday. A Newton quartet won the high school one lap crown by the barest of margins over Worcester Commerce. Worcester Academy won the prep-private one-lap title, Boston English the high school two-lap affair and Bridgton Prep the pre-private two lap honors.

Newton's one-lap team conquered Boston English in its preliminary heat with Frank Hines, Don MacKinnon, Don Ashley and Billy Pescosolido running in that order. The Newton four were clocked in 1m. 9.2s the fastest time of any of the shorter relay races. English received a setback in this event when Leonard, its first runner, fell on the first bank.

The race with Worcester Commerce in the final was one of the closest of battles with Newton leading most of the way. Hines beat Cyr of Commerce to the first bank and held a two yard advantage. MacKinnon and Ashley clung to this margin and Pesky took over the anchor duties. Jenkins, Worcester anchor, had the pole and edged the Newton runner to the first bank. Down the back stretch they raced shoulder to shoulder. Jenkins came off the last bank wide and seeing his chance Pesky sneaked inside and beat his rival to the tape by inches.

In the two-lap affair preliminary the Newton quartet of Pescosolido, Fred Hall, Neil Cheney and Jerry Allen was no match for the Boston English four which ultimately won the final over Hyde Park.

Featuring the meet was the dual victory of Bill Wood of Lowell High in capturing both the invitation dash and hurdle events. Wood conquered MacKinnon over the barriers and beat Taylor of Roxbury Memorial and Sundlum of Tabor Academy to the tape in the dash in which Hines got off to a slow start. In the invitation 600-yard run Arthur Hughes of Newton failed to keep up with the leaders while in the 1000 Basil Babcock was prevented from running because of foot blisters.

Tomorrow afternoon the Newton team journeys to the Andover Academy indoor dirt track for the annual interscholastic meet there. By virtue of its overwhelming Northeastern meet victory the orange and black has again been installed as the favorite. It is conceivable that both MacKinnon and Hines will come back into their own against Wood as the latter will face the necessity of running trial and semi-final heats, which he was not handicapped with last Saturday. Hines will not run the 300-yard at Andover, as the danger of spills is great because of the sharpness of the banks and the short stretches which make it virtually impossible to pass the leader after the first bank is reached. Newton's 600-yard chances are dimmed with the scholastic probation of Hughes. From Hall, Allen and Antonelli two runners for this event will be chosen by Coach Enoch although Antonelli may be sent into the 1000 unless Babcock's blisters are healed and he is in shape to run. The 600-yard loss is the broad jump's gain as the scholastic ban has been risen on Newton's best broad jumper. Stewart MacNeil and Bill Alpert may both come into the points at Andover. With Pescosolido backed up by the return of Callahan to the high jumping pit after a siege of illness the two Newton boys may fight it out for individual honors at a height six feet or over. As in the Northeastern meet the Coach Enoch crew may well wreck all competitors with a point total well into the twenties.

Defies Policeman And Is Fined $25

William Lyon, 25, of 122 Charles River rd., Watertown, was fined $25 by Judge Mayberry in the Newton court last Friday for refusing to sign his name when ordered to do so by Patrolman John P. Murphy. Lyon was also fined $5 for driving a car without proper lights. Murphy testified that when Lyon produced his license after the officer had stopped him, he asked the defendant to sign his name so he could compare it with the signature on the license. Murphy said that Lyon refused and accompanied his refusal with some strong language.

Newton Welfare Bureau to Be Known As Family Service Bureau of Newton

Change Made To Show Interest In Strengthening Wholesome Family Living

The Annual Meeting of the Newton Welfare Bureau, Inc., held last week at the home of Mrs. Maynard Hutchinson in West Newton, marked a date on which the agency officially changed its name to Family Service Bureau of Newton, Inc.

The General Secretary, Miss Harriet Persons, in her report said, "Through the past 48 years the Agency, as a private social service and relief agency, has taken leadership in meeting the needs of Newton as a community. Its services and the growth of social thinking and needs are expressed in its three names—Associated Charities, 1889; Newton Welfare Bureau, 1915; Family Service Bureau, 1938. Under this last name we clarify to the community our interest in the family as a social unit, and our offer to Newton of professional services related to the strengthening of wholesome family living."

In the report, it was pointed out that during 1937 the total number of families seeking advice and help, 690, showed an increase of 38 over the previous year. There has been, also, a 30 per cent increase in families for whom the agency took long-time service responsibility. The recession has been noted by increased necessity for certain relief, the percentage mounting to 50 per cent of the families cared for. It was also shown that $3,000 was spent for health needs. Other expenditures were: for special vocational assistance, meeting of educational needs, clothing, milk, in addition to other services in connection with budgeting and planning with the family.

During the year the Bureau was more than ever aware that it was not within its power or competence to assume a wide relief responsibility, but it did, through co-operation with the Department of Public Welfare, give careful supplementation of public relief where, with service allied with relief, it could, for example, give opportunities for vocational re-education to children of Department families who have left school inadequately equipped; or where families whose capacity to pull themselves out of an atmosphere of conflict and despair can be helped by understanding and patient work, but who are so lowered in their resistance and physical ability, that slow first steps of rebuilding must be taken on a co-operative basis of both public and private agencies. The emphasis has been toward alleviation of anxiety and strain and helping clients to work out their own problems by standing by, giving security, and building up health, with all relief given not just as food, rent, etc., but as part of a plan of rehabilitation and prevention.

The co-operative relationship with the Department of Public Welfare has continued to be most helpful, with real understanding from the Department on the increasing demands for relief in families who never before have been compelled to accept public assistance. Through the co-operation of the Department, the Bureau has been better able to use its relief funds in careful, well planned supplementation, with emphasis on getting people off public rolls and plans for preventive measures.

There has been an increase of parents bringing their children for advice and families coming for budgeting service. Along with this is a new plan which the Bureau, during the past year, has offered to the schools; namely, consultation with the Weeks Junior High School. Two of the staff sit in at the Guidance Meetings with the faculty, and in turn work with families where certain home problems seem to be affecting the child's school adjustment.

Mr. Arthur G. Rotch, President of the New England Community Chest and Councils, and formerly State Director of the ERA, spoke on "The Relief Problem." He stressed the fact that relief is a most serious and perplexing problem to the American people, and that unemployment and relief expenditures are with us for a long time to come. In Massachusetts, for example, at the present time, there are about 80,000 people unemployed, and 60,000, approximately, are still on public relief. Many of these are employable. Mr. Rotch recommended, as a member of the National Citizens Committee of the Community Mobilization for Human Needs, that the WPA be liquidated, and in place of it that we should plan to go back to the ERA days of work relief with help given on the basis of individual needs, along with a public works program with projects which are self-liquidating as far as possible. He also suggested a federal commission to study the problem in unemployment, and to work out a co-ordinated plan of real partnership between federal, state, and local authorities. Mr. Rotch also emphasized that the private agency would never be able to take back the relief load, but must continue to blaze the way by setting standards. In closing, he said, "The job of a private agency is to give service and to keep people from coming to the point where they need public help."

Mr. Elliot B. Church was re-elected President, and the other officers were: Mrs. Bertrand E. Taylor, first Vice-President; Richard B. Carter, second Vice-President; Clifford H. Walker, third Vice-President; William M. Cahill, Treasurer; Dorothy Simpson, Clerk; Mrs. George W. Auryansen, Corresponding Secretary. The following were elected directors for three years:

Mrs. Malcolm P. Bail, Mrs. Norman W. Bingham, Jr., Dr. George F. H. Bowers, Warren K. Brimblecom, Grosvenor Calkins, Mayor Edwin O. Childs, Mrs. John D. Coward, Mrs. Maynard Hutchinson, Dr. Sterling Loveland, Dr. Edward Mellus, Dr. Boynton Merrill, Rev. John S. Moses, Mrs. Charles A. Riley, Mr. Howard Rich, Mrs. J. Porter Russell, Rev. G. Vaughan Shedd, Julius Warren, Edward H. Woods, George A. Bacon, Mrs. John Cook.

John Hart Victim Of Hit-Run Driver

John Hart, 69, of 153 Edinboro st., Newtonville, was seriously injured about 6 o'clock Tuesday evening when he was struck near the corner of Watertown and Edinboro sts. by an automobile driven by a hit-run driver. Two women saw the car, a black sedan, as it hit the elderly man, but it speeded away before they could obtain the registration numbers. The only clue was some broken pieces of glass from a road light on the car. Hart was taken to the Newton Hospital in the police ambulance. He received a fracture of his right leg, a severe head injury, and cuts on his face and right arm.

License Refused By Local Board

A petition from Mrs. Rose Grobman for a common victualler's license at the store conducted by her husband Philip Grobman at 273 Centre st., Newton, was refused by the Newton License Commission last week. Grobman had previously applied for the license, but the License Commission delayed granting it until the applicant conformed with orders from the Newton Health Department. The Health Department had complained about conditions at the store. The license at this place was suspended about a year ago.

Aldermen Hold Long Conference On Charlton Claim

The Newton Board of Aldermen held a 3½ hour recess on Wednesday night, during which the Board met in secret session. Most of the long, closed-door confab was used in discussing a renewal of the petition from the widow of the late Charles Charlton for an annuity. Mrs. Charlton has four young children, and twice last year entered similar petitions. It is contended that Charlton, who was a member of the Newton Fire Department for 16 years, died as a result of complications from an injury he received while on duty a few years ago. The official cause of his death was given as Berger's disease, and a conflict of medical opinions as to whether or not the injury could have caused this disease, resulted in the Aldermen refusing to grant Mrs. Charlton's petition last year. Following their long conference on this matter on Wednesday night, no action was taken.

The Board voted to grant a permit to the Heffron Motor Car Company to use land at 970-972 Watertown st. for the display and sale of used automobiles. Conditions were imposed that no cars be kept on the street, or too near the sidewalk. The Sutcliffe Storage Company was granted a permit to deal in used cars at 275 Needham st., Upper Falls; the cars to be kept inside the building. The Claims and Rules Committee had voted to present an order adjudging the dilapidated buildings at the former coal yard at 564-594 Washington st. a nuisance, and ordering them razed, but Alderman Rawson asked that this matter be held for further consideration.

A hearing was called on the proposal to widen Centre street between Mount Ida st. and Newtonville ave. It is planned to make a widening which will taper from 15 feet to a few feet. Two apartment houses are to be built on the adjoining land and the city proposes to widen the sharp curve on the steep grade at this place. Former Alderman Edward H. Powers said he believed the proposal to widen Centre st. and partially eliminate the curve to have been an excellent one when it was suggested by Alderman Gallagher several years ago, but unless the police curb speeding down the grade on Centre st. at this place, the straightening of the curve might result in even more speeding by automobiles and heavy trucks, and intensify rather than lessen the traffic hazard on this stretch of Centre st. Phillip Ditch of Dorchester, builder of the new apartment houses, favored the widening.

The sum of $20 was appropriated to pay part of the damage to electric wiring at the Elmwood st. Garage, caused by a city truck coming in contact with it. Rene Carbuti, driver of the truck agreed to pay the balance, $22.50. Other appropriations included $255 for Workmen's Compensation, $4790 for water mains, and $25 damages on the claim of Leonora Magoley for personal injuries. The sum of $43,000 was authorized for sewer loans, and an offer of $500 from Thomas Felming for the purchase of two lots of city-owned land on Harding st. was accepted. The petition of Albert Temperley for a permit to change a one-family house at 38 Paul st. to a two-family dwelling, was given leave to again be presented. A similar petition was refused a few weeks ago.

A communication was received from Mayor Childs reappointing Mrs. Teresa Marshall a member of the Playground Commission, and Dr. C. A. Boutelle as Inspector of Animals.

The Board voted to accept the offer of a lot of land adjoining the Auburndale public library as a gift from Frederick Plummer. It is specified that the city must remove the building now on the lot.

Fined $150 For Drunken Driving

William W. Edson, 41, of 11 Central ter., Auburndale, was fined $150 by Judge Allen in the Newton court on Thursday for driving a car while under the influence of liquor. A charge of drunkenness was placed on file. It was Edson's second conviction on such a charge. He was arrested early on the morning of Feb. 16 at River st., West Newton, by Patrolmen Hickey and Cunningham after the police had been notified that shortly before a parked automobile on Washington st. at Newton Corner had been hit by another car, the driver of which did not stop.

License Board to Enforce Rules

A conference was held last Friday morning between the Newton License Commission and a committee from the Newton Restaurant Owners Association. One of the reasons for the conference was to discuss violations of rules recently promulgated by the Association which forbid the selling of three glasses of beer or ale for 25c by certain beer dispensaries, and the sale of beer in quart bottles at drinking places. It is contended that not only are these practices unfair competition, but they are apt to cause drunkenness. The Commission assured the committee that it will not only enforce the regulations regarding the prohibition of "bargains" in malt beverages, but it will also issue new rules which will tend to discourage inordinate drinking.

Moley Explains New Deal As Having Three Phases

Former Brain Trust Head Is Speaker at Newton Forum

The last program for the current season of the Newton Community Forum took place last Sunday when Raymond Moley, formerly Assistant Secretary of State and head of the New York State Crime Commission, spoke at the Newton High School on "Our National Policy—An Asset or a Liability."

Professor Moley was particularly concerned with the present economic and political condition of the United States and what led up to the policy that has dominated the country for the past two years. He regards the entire New Deal in three perspectives: 1933—What led up to the New Deal 1933-'34—the New Deal itself, and from 1935 on—After the New Deal. The New Deal, Professor Moley said, is somehow descended from Teddy Roosevelt's idea of a square deal. Although Teddy Roosevelt knew little of politics when he started out, he had a very sound and definite philosophy based on the following ideas of conservation: 1—Integrated nation, both mentally and physically. 2—Philosophy of Business, which he developed in 1912. 3—Social Reform. 4—Human Welfare and health. 5—Americanism, a conception of an integrated country, a great democratic republic. The campaign of 1914 was based on this philosophy.

Professor Moley considers that the New Deal was a revival of the progressiveness of 1912, with the exception of the agricultural program. The evolutionary process of the New Deal took place during 1932-'33 and its three main factors were the Agricultural Program, Industrial Program, and the Social Security Act, the latter being the most important as it did more to help the country recover through the farmers than the agricultural program itself. It established honesty in securities and more important perhaps than anything else, the fact that it renewed a sense of confidence in the American people. This, of course, was the essential justification of the New Deal, which legitimately breathed its last in 1934.

Then the NRA was declared unconstitutional at the end of 1934. In 1935 the monetary policy came up and a new program of Legislation and all the talk about balancing the budget and sharing the nation's wealth which Mr. Moley stated, cannot be shared because of the nature of the wealth of this country. In regard to the Tax Reform Bill, the speaker said that it is only just to tax corporations in accordance with their ability to produce; not in accordance with their size.

Professor Moley is very much concerned with an attitude assumed by the younger generation of today. He said that through interviews between the American Youth Commission and various students and young people in other walks of life, it has evolved that youth has taken upon itself the notion that the government and the country at large owes youth a living and an easy one at that. This is a serious problem and must be thought out and handled most carefully in order that it may be corrected without an increase of dissatisfaction and class feeling. Certainly the administration cannot be blamed for the lack of education of the people and it should not tolerate criticism from those lacking the education and intelligence to criticize constructively. In other words, our educational system is failing in teaching youth what the country needs. It cannot do this by harping on what is wrong and giving no suggestions as to how to correct the wrong.

Mr. Moley said, in closing, "I believe in sufficient increase of armaments to protect the western hemisphere, but before we go looking for trouble outside the United States, it would be an excellent idea to deal with a few of our own problems and insure national peace."

Carr School Ready For Occupancy

The repairs to the ceilings at the Frank F. Carr School have been completed. An engineering firm the J. R. Worcester Company, was employed to make an independent examination of the defects as soon as they were discovered. This firm made four examinations during the progress of the work.

Examination of the work during its progress was also made by a building inspector of the Department of Public Safety of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts. Public Buildings Commissioner Arthur Campbell states that the building is now safe for occupancy.

The Law Department will bring suit against the J. Slotnik Company, the contractor who built the school, for the recovery of the expense incurred by the City in making the repairs.

Object To More Filling Stations At West Newton

Richard Monaghan of West Newton, who was refused a permit for a second gasoline station at 5 Auburn st., West Newton last November, again appeared at City Hall on Wednesday night to favor another petition he has presented for a permit for the station. Monaghan's petition specifies that he wants one pump and one underground tank of 1000 gallons capacity. But he told the aldermen on Wednesday night that he wants three 1000 tanks and three pumps. He stated that his family have been selling gasoline at the locus specified for 25 years. In answer to questions from Alderman Inches, Monaghan stated that the three pumps would be located in the middle of the land at the northeasterly corner of Auburn and Washington sts., and he said he had made no agreement when he leased his filling station across the street, that he would not enter into competition on the opposite corner.

John F. Desmond, appearing as attorney for Rev. John Crane, pastor of St. Bernard's Church, objected to the granting of the petition. He refuted Monaghan's statement that gasoline has been sold at 5 Auburn st. for 25 years by giving data concerning permits issued to the Monaghans during the past 20 years. In 1917 the Monaghans received a permit to sell gasoline at 5 Auburn st., but in 1923 they obtained a permit to establish a gasoline station on the opposite corner, at 1545 Washington st., under condition that they give up the station at 5 Auburn st. Mr. Desmond read a copy of a letter sent to the City Clerk's office on December 28, 1923 by the Monaghans in which they stated that they relinquished the permit at 5 Auburn st. Desmond gave a resume of a number of subsequent petitions presented by the Monaghans for changes at the station at 1545 Washington st., and for a second station at 5 Auburn st. He said that Father Crane now objects to the proposed station at 5 Auburn st. for the same reasons he objected last November. The corner is a dangerous one, and is passed by many small children who attend St. Bernard's School, as well as the children from the Levi Warren School, and by a large number of pedestrians.

Henry Dath of Auburndale also objected to Monaghan's petition. Dath said he is the operator of the station recently leased by Monaghan at 1545 Washington st., and for which Monaghan receives a large rental. Dath said he can do much more business than he is doing at 1545 Washington st., that there is no need for another station directly across the street, that Monaghan has been illegally selling gasoline there, and that the equipment has not been inspected because the permit for the public sale of gasoline at the 5 Auburn st. locus was relinquished in 1923. Dath also called attention to the fact that the locus is in a private residence zone. Charles Deffely of 7 Auburn st. also objected to the petition and called attention to the traffic hazard at the corner.

Former Alderman James P Akins appeared as attorney for Frank Vincenzo whose seventh petition for a gasoline station at 1105 Washington st., corner of Cross st., West Newton, was given a hearing. Akins was quite candid in referring to the actions of his client in annoying neighbors who had objected to his petitions in the past. He mentioned a small, cement structure which Vincenzo had built on Cross st. and not completed, to spite the neighbors, and also a sign he had placed in a dwelling there, relative to the type of persons he would rent it to. Akins asked the objectors to assume that Vincenzo does not exist, and to consider the petition for the station just as they would a petition for any filling station. Akins called attention to the fact that the locus is zoned for business, that there are no schools nearby, that no fire hazard will be created. He asserted that there is no other filling station within a half mile of the place.

Alderman Gaddis asked Akins if he believes this country has been built up on such spite activities as Vincenzo has manifested. Akins said he does not approve of Vincenzo's acts, but he should be given the opportunity to obtain profitable use of his property. A number of Cross st. residents who have appeared in past years to oppose Vincenzo's petitions, again presented the same objections against the station. They took issue with Akins' statement, "that there is no other gasoline station within a half mile," and asserted that there are ten filling stations between Newtonville and West Newton. They said that Washington st. is a speedway, Cross st. is very narrow, and argued that the proposed station would create a traffic hazard, be a menace to school children, and would decrease property values in a residential neighborhood. Among those who objected were Miss Marion Marsh, Joseph Moynihan, Thomas McCarthy, Oliver Wyman, Mrs. Charles Prescott and Arthur S. Jigger. The latter advocated an ordinance change which will compel residence zone setbacks on streets which lead into business zones. He said such an ordinance would have prevented Vincenzo from erecting the spite building. The Planning Board has long been advocating a similar ordinance.

Mayor Childs' Inaugural Recommendations Reported On By Committee

Aldermen Agree With Some Suggestions; And Disagree With Others

The special committee appointed to consider the recommendations made by Mayor Childs in his inaugural address made its report at the meeting of the Board of Aldermen on Wednesday night. The committee is composed of Alderman Colby, chairman; Ashenden, Jamieson, Schipper and Tiffin. The committee's report states that a careful study was made of the Mayor's recommendations and that conferences were held with the Planning Board, and with the heads of the various city departments affected. Reports, surveys and maps were examined in connection with the studies.

The matter of relief, which includes plotting the course of the city in regard to WPA and other Federal assistance, is of such importance that the committee recommends that another special committee be appointed to deal exclusively with this problem. The Mayor's suggestions that the city charter be changed so that several new city offices may be created and officials appointed to hold these offices, is considered a matter for the Legislative Committee to consider. These offices would include Purchasing Agent, Public Works Director, two officials instead of one for the offices of City Treasurer and City Collector, and a Safety Commissioner.

Relative to the elimination of mosquito nuisance in the city, the committee reports that surveys made by the State Department of Agriculture in 1932 and 1934 show that Newton mosquitoes are not of the type which transmit disease and are merely nuisances. It would be very difficult to control the pests at the swamp area near West Newton and Auburndale or along the Charles River near the water reservation because these areas cannot be oiled, nor can ditches be dug. At Cold Spring Swamp and South Meadow Brook ditches and deeper channels in brooks are suggested, but no large expenditures should be made at the present time.

The committee does not believe that the city should at present go to the expense of building a traffic circle at the intersection of Washington st. and Commonwealth ave. Neither does it advocate an ordinance prohibiting gasoline stations within 400 feet of any school, church or public building, because it is contended that the License Committee uses careful judgment in protecting public interests in considering petitions for filling stations. The committee recommends the proposed requirement of a 15-foot set back in business zones. The committee does not approve of the suggestion that in the future streets must be 50 feet wide instead of 40 feet, before they will be accepted. Such an increase would make streets cost more, both to construct and maintain.

The committee recommends that a new school be built this year to replace the old Franklin School at West Newton, and that a new school be built in 1939 to replace the 83-year-old Lincoln School and 52-year-old Eliot School. The purchase of the 23 acres of swamp at Cold Spring area, offered for sale to the city last year by Alice Frost is recommended, but at a lower price than specified. No action is favored on the acquiring of control of Silver Lake at Nonantum by the city until a more detailed plan is submitted. The committee disapproves of the Mayor's recommendation that the city resurface and improve Rumford ave. near the Waltham line at the expense of the taxpayers. It is pointed out that this street is a private way, is used as a convenient short-cut by Middlesex & Boston buses, and should not be improved at public expense.

The committee does not approve of the building of a "comfort station" at Newton Corner, using the argument that this would establish a precedent for the building of such stations in other parts of the city and would involve large expense. The committee urges the purchase of an additional lot of land in Newton Cemetery for the burial of veterans. It also favors the use of land at the rear of police headquarters and the court house at West Newton for parking purposes.

Because the city has just purchased 17 acres of land at Newtonville for a playground, the committee believes that no other playground sites should be acquired this year, nor should existing playgrounds be enlarged during the year. Proposals had been made that land be purchased off Grove st at Auburndale, that more land be purchased adjoining the Auburndale playground, and the Webster and Oak Hill playgrounds be developed. The committee does not approve the extension of Thoroughfare road at present, from Parker to Dedham sts. The committee recommends that at least one of the two members of the Board of Assessors, in addition to Chairman Murphy, work on a full-time basis. At present they work only four days each week. The committee advocates that a satisfactory plan for New Ward lines be developed.

Aldermen Discuss Gas Rate Increases

At the meeting of the Board of Aldermen on Wednesday night Alderman Edward Fahey of Ward 1 presented a resolution asking that Mayor Childs be requested to send a representative to the hearings to be held at the State House on the proposed increase of rates by the Boston Consolidated Gas Co. The new rates, if allowed by the Department of Public Utilities, would result in considerable increases in the bills of smaller consumers. Alderman Fahey called attention to the fact that official protests against the new rates have been made by most of the cities and towns served by the Boston Consolidated Gas Co. and asked that Newton also protest.

Alderman McKay of Ward 5 objected to Newton Aldermen protesting against the new rates until they have obtained further information on the subject. Alderman Hutchinson of Ward 3 also objected to official protests being made saying that the aldermen should know more about the matter. He favored the city sending a representative to serve as an observer and a listener to bring back information. For many weeks considerable publicity has been given the proposed rate increase by the newspapers. A hearing was held at the State House on Feb. 1st, others last Thursday and Friday and additional hearings will be held next month. Until Wednesday night no discussion of the matter was made by the Newton aldermen.

Subsequently the Newton alderman adopted Alderman Fahey's resolution to request the Mayor to send a representative to the hearings but refused to give this representative the power to make an official protest.

LOCAL CONTROL OF WELFARE

The special committee of the Aldermen which considered the recommendations of the Mayor's inaugural address urges the appointment of a committee to pursue further the question of the city taking up the added burden anticipated with the expected gradual reduction of WPA funds. At the Newton Forum on Sunday Raymond Moley urged return of the control of the relief problem to the states and municipalities. Many others familiar with governmental and administrative problems, as well as many critics of the New Deal, have urged that the municipalities handle this vexing question. An efficient solution of the problem requires deep and careful consideration. It cannot be done overnight and it is most certainly important enough to have the attention of a capable committee. Despite the constant urgings and advice of many of those who feel that the handling of relief belongs in the municipality where relief is given, the administration has refused to give much consideration to it. We are told often enough that politics is not a part of the handling of relief but on almost every hand evidences are presented showing it. The political pressure exerted through the disbursing of relief funds from Washington, even though it be largely a matter of psychology, cannot help but be immense. The knowledge of local conditions and of individual relief recipients is obviously of greater local concern than of national. The sooner local administration of relief is permitted and the sooner the national government releases its hold on relief recipients the sooner we will have less waste and extravagance, less misuse of public moneys, and a greater willingness to find private employment on the part of those on relief, many of whom are gradually being led to believe that the easiest way to live is by grant from the public treasury.

EARLY ACTION DESIRABLE

The committee on the Mayor's address also recommends the building of two new school buildings to replace wooden buildings which are obsolete, outgrown, and far from the standard of facilities provided in other sections of the city. The project at West Newton to replace the Franklin School has been in progress for some time. Land has been provided and everything is practically ready to go ahead with the work. Undoubtedly this will be done during the coming year. The project to replace the Lincoln and Eliot Schools at Newton Corner is recommended for next year. This proposal has been delayed long enough already and if possible it would be highly desirable to undertake it this year. Although we realize that no definite action has been taken as to the site of this new building, nor to plans, and other necessary steps, immediate action looking toward the earliest possible construction of the new building should be taken.

ON COMMON GROUND

It was not difficult for the many persons who attended the Forum on Sunday to admit that "ex-Brain-Truster" Moley possesses views upon which many Republicans and many Democrats could stand on common ground. Among the few things which Mr. Moley unintentionally or purposefully refrained from enlarging upon was the matter of the New Deal's desire for continuance of power and political control of the states. We believe that we are correct when we say that we inferred from the speaker's remarks and attitude that, although agreeing with some of the original New Deal's purposes, the objectives should be gained by public opinion and not by forcing them down the country's throat.

Object To Land Development At Newton Highlands

Tonight, February 25th, a second public hearing will be held at City Hall by the Planning Board relative to the development of part of the area near Cold Spring swamp for house lots. The land in question was owned by G. Howard Frost and measures roughly 1500 by 600 feet. For several years a gravel pit was in operation on the property and a number of hearings in protest against the alleged nuisances caused by the pit were held at City Hall at the request of residents of Plymouth rd. and vicinity. The operators of the pit, at those hearings contended they were grading the area so that it could be developed into house lots. Now, the area is ready for such development and plans were presented to the Newton Planning Board by E. William and Merrill Nutting asking for the approval of the sub-dividing of the land into 42 house lots and the laying out of four streets through the property. The proposed lots would not be less than 9000 square feet in size.

The streets named were originally planned in 1887 and include George st., Vaughn ave., Alden st. and Winslow rd. In 1926 a second plan showing these streets was submitted to the Planning Board. Residents of Plymouth rd. and Kingston rd. have objected to the proposed development because a couple of the new streets would have an outlet on Plymouth rd. The objectors contend that they have invested about $750,000 in their properties and that the traffic from the new section would cause a hazard on Plymouth rd. They want the new streets extended the other direction toward Beethoven ave., which is a narrow, unimproved road. At a hearing before the Planning Board of February 2nd, about forty persons from the vicinity of Plymouth and Kingston rds. appeared to object to the extension of George st. (one of the proposed new streets) to Plymouth rd. Two owners of properties on Plymouth rd. have fee titles which it is claimed will prevent the construction of George st. to Plymouth rd., although they have not paid taxes on this strip of land because it has been on the maps of Newton as land dedicated to a public way. The hearing tonight will include the discussion of the plan to extend George st. toward Beethoven ave., instead of connecting it with Plymouth rd.

Rotary Club

The regular meeting of Rotary Club of Newton was held at Charles River Country Club on Monday with the Needham Rotary Club as guests. President Frank Clark presided and President John Kent of the Needham Club was called on for a few words.

The speaker, Hon. Edwin O. Childs, was introduced by Frank Richardson. The subject was George Washington and also Abraham Lincoln, two outstanding characters of American history. He called our attention to the fact that Washington was born in wealth and that Lincoln was born in poverty. Both men were targets of severe criticism. Washington did not take to books, except in mathematics, but he became a great leader. He was the one man who held together the Colonists, the Army, the Constitutional Convention and the people during the months of debate. It was Washington who brought about the lasting friendship between the United States and Great Britain. The speaker said we need to learn the lesson from Washington in the nation and in Newton that the general welfare depends upon getting together in common honesty and using common sense.

Automobile Accidents

Cars driven by Edward Alexander of 12 Windemere road, Auburndale, and W. M. Murphy, a Harvard student, operating under a New York registration, collided on Washington st., near Chestnut st. on Tuesday night. Mrs. Florence Alexander was reported as having received a back injury.

Toy Wong, 38, who conducts a laundry at 6 Windsor rd., Waban, was hit while crossing Watertown st, near Nevada st., Newtonville on Tuesday night about 11 o'clock by an automobile driven by Frank Wrigley of 42 Fairfield st., Newtonville. He was injured on the head and face and taken to the Newton Hospital. Wrigley reported that Wong said he was hurrying across the street to catch a bus.

A car driven by Albert Hunt of Weston hit the rear of a bus at Commonwealth ave. and Chestnut st., West Newton, on Sunday night. Hunt received a cut on his chin.

Cars driven by James March of Bay State rd., Boston, and Roland Blennerhasset of Troy rd., Waban, collided at Beacon st. and Windsor rd., Waban, on Sunday noon. Helen Wheelwright of Boston, riding with March, was reported as having received injuries. A car driven by John Eastwick of South Tamworth, New Hampshire skidded and hit a tree at Commonwealth ave. and Exeter st. at 12:50 a. m. Monday. Eastwick received a cut on his head and was taken to Newton Hospital. Cars driven by Thomas Callahan of 1095 Commonwealth ave., West Newton and Reuben Gryzmish of 74 Commonwealth ave., Chestnut Hill, collided about 1 a. m. Sunday opposite 74 Commonwealth ave. Callahan's car hit a tree in addition to colliding with the other car, and Callahan was thrown out onto the street.

A traffic signal at Watertown and Adams sts., Nonantum, was hit and knocked down on Sunday morning by a Street Department truck.

The Newton Chapter of the American Red Cross has received from Headquarters in Washington a renewed appeal for funds for Chinese Relief. The American Ambassador, Nelson T. Johnson, cabled from Hankow describing the intense distress of Chinese refugee children and urging assistance for them. Seventy-four refugee camps, conducted in this region by various Chinese organizations, under official auspices and with some foreign collaboration, are caring for orphans, and children separated from their parents. Milk, made from pulverized soya beans at a cost of five cents per gallon is being supplied in Shanghai refugee camps to 1000 children per day, but leaving unsupplied 2500 more per day. As plans are being made to take care of 5000 daily, more funds are greatly needed.

Contributions should be sent to:

Newton Chapter American Red Cross
12 Austin st., Newtonville

and they will be forwarded at Chapter expense to the National Red Cross for distribution.

When Lights Fail

Keep some spare light bulbs in your car. Light bulbs burn out every once in a while, you know—and more often if there is something wrong with your electrical system. So carry a few "spares." Bulbs are mighty cheap when compared with doctor bills and hospital charges. Remember, it is against the law in most States to drive with a headlight missing. And of course it always is a violation of the law of safety. It only takes a minute to change a light bulb. It's a simple trick—if you've got the "spare."

62 YEARS AGO

Newton Republican, Feb. 26, 1876

The veterans of 1812 remembered February 22nd by holding their semi-annual meeting in Boston. Seventeen members were present, their average age being 80½ years. Only one death was announced since the last meeting.

Washington's Birthday was formally observed in Newton. By direction of city officials bells were rung at morning, noon and evening, flags hoisted and city offices closed. Schools were not open, and individuals who could, made the day a holiday.

The following patents have been issued to persons in Newton during the month of January—D. N. Coffin, Newton Centre, a windlass; B. F. Brown, Newton Centre, gravity scales; A. A. Pope, Newton, spring air pistons.

The fifth annual reunion of graduates of Newton High School was held on Wednesday evening at the high school building and was largely attended. The following officers were elected: David W. Farquhar, president; W. G. Brackett and Frank Ware, vice-presidents; Freda Emerson, corresponding secretary; Herbert Stevens, recorder; John Chisholm, treasurer. Following the supper those who wished indulged in dancing until an early hour.

A pleasant coffee party was given in Nonantum Hall, Newton Corner on Wednesday evening by the young people of Channing Society.

The last meeting of the Horticultural Society for the winter will be held in Cole Hall, Newton on Thursday evening, March 2. The topic to be discussed is of much interest to people of Newton, and as the ladies are invited and the leading disputants are men full of the subject under discussion, being interested in flowers because of a love for them, we expect a large and interesting session.

The young ladies of Ward 4 gave a Leap Year Party at Boyden's Hall, Lower Falls on last Friday evening which was well attended, there being about 100 couples present. The music was by the Union Quadrille Band; J. Warren, prompter. Everything passed off quietly and a good time was had by all.

The failure of the ice crop in Newton Centre is imminent. Luther Paul who has supplied us heretofore so abundantly has harvested ice but one day this winter and if the thermometer averages no lower the coming month than it has the past two months he will be obliged to buy ice, or allow another company to take over his route.

Despite the failures and general depression of business throughout the country, a new grocery store under the name of Swett & Snell will open within a few days at Mr. Farnham's store in Newton Highlands. The success of the new firm would seem to lie in their stock of energy, rather than of goods.

50 YEARS AGO

Newton Graphic, Feb. 24, 1888

At the last meeting of the Newton Bicycle Club it was voted to change the club uniform. The old, familiar Canada gray homespun which was first brought out by the Newton club and was so familiar in the early days of cycling, will be seen no more on the road.

While William Bliss of Newton Centre was driving on Beacon st., Brookline on Wednesday afternoon, his horse became frightened at a fire-engine and ran the buggy into a lamp post. Mr. Bliss and his daughter were thrown to the ground and the little girl's face was badly bruised.

We hope that the late cold snap has frozen out the scarlet fever at Newton Highlands as we hear of no new cases.

The Newton High School Battalion gave its third semi-annual drill in Eliot Hall, Newton on Wednesday afternoon. The stage, the gallery and that part of the floor allotted to the audience were filled with the young ladies of the school, parents and friends. The battalion was fortunate in securing Eliot Hall, the large floor space giving it room to maneuver. Rollinsson's orchestra was in attendance and at intervals gave selections. It also provided music for the succeeding dance at Armory Hall.

The draft of the annual report of the Board of Health was presented at the last meeting of the Board by Agent Mosman. It referred among other matters to the keeping of pigs in open pens, a practice that must be abandoned in thickly settled parts of this city, and that cows are also being kept where they cause trouble.

At the meeting of the Board of Aldermen on Monday evening Mayor Kimball said there is now no way to restrain truants from schools except to send them to the industrial school at Lawrence, a private institution which will only take truants who are sentenced for two years. There are three boys now there from Newton, and no matter what their offence, they must stay there for 2 years. The Newton School Board favors the establishment of a county truant school.

Powers' Paragraphs

The committee of the Board of Aldermen appointed to consider the inaugural recommendations of Mayor Childs made a quite lengthy report. The committee made no suggestions on the recommendations of the Mayor that several new city offices be created, but referred these matters to the Legislative Committee. It is our prediction that the Aldermen will not favor the creation of unneeded, additional city officials to further increase our tax rate. The interesting thing about the Mayor's recommendations that a City Purchasing Agent office and a Director of Public Works office be created is—that a year or so ago he condemned the creation of the former office and two years ago he abolished the office of Director of Public Works. As for creating the office of Director of Public Safety, we commented some weeks ago on the utter lack of need of this duplication of functions now competently exercised by a number of public officials of this city, and we reiterate that such an office would merely be a sinecure for whoever had sufficient influence to be appointed to it.

The committee of Aldermen properly turned down the Mayor's recommendation that the city improve Rumford ave. at public expense. A few years ago the Aldermen rejected a similar proposal. Why should the citizens be taxed to improve a road through a swamp for the benefit of the Middlesex & Boston Street Railway? A road on which there are no residences and where practically no tax revenue is derived. Residents of Newton have had to pay plenty for the improvement of streets, and they also pay considerable in taxes each year for the upkeep of these streets. Why should they be asked to build an improved road for the benefit of a corporation holding a valuable public franchise?

History was made a few days ago when Fuhrer Hitler delivered his momentous pronunciamento, when Anthony Eden resigned, and when England capitulated to the dictators of Germany and Italy. How erstwhile mighty Britain has fallen. How the League of Nations has fizzled. How shallow now is the alleged reason for which this country entered the World War twenty-one years ago—"To make the world safe for democracy." How asinine does it prove Secretary Hull and the rest of our gullible citizens who would embroil this country in political or economic entanglements with European nations. The writer had opportunities while in France, Germany and England right after the armistice in 1918 to observe the real attitude of the peoples of those countries toward the U. S. A., and toward each other, and we have since been strongly against the U. S. A. participating in League of Nations, or any other form of European alliance.

We agree with Hitler regarding the League of Nations. It was concocted in greed and conducted in hypocrisy and insincerity. Even Prime Minister Chamberlain of England on Tuesday called the League of Nations "a sham," and said "it is unable to provide collective security for anybody." We agree with Hitler that Germany should have its colonies restored. We disagree with Hitler regarding the recognition of Manchukuo, and with his ambitions to extend German authority over non-Germanic nations. All Americans must disagree with Hitler, and his ally Mussolini, in their condemnation of democracies, of which this country is one.

Why has England cringed to Mussolini and Hitler? One reason is—that those governing England realize that since the World War the masses of the English people have been strongly opposed to engaging in another severe war. England lost so many men between 1914 and 1918 that its people favor peace at almost any price. Another reason is—that the development of aerial warfare ended England's centuries' old boast of invulnerability through its possession of the world's mightiest navy. It is no longer the "tight little isle." And with Germany, Italy and Japan in conspiracy against Britain's far-spread empire, England is in a quandary as to how she will hold all her possessions. Her statesmen are doing now what they have done for centuries — sacrificing principles for opportunism. And yet Mr. Cordell Hull of Tennessee and others would have us enter into trade agreements (and probably naval agreements) with England. They would have this country flooded with the textile, shoe and other products of England, Czechoslovakia, and competing European nations, resulting in the unemployment of American workers, or their reduction to the European standard of living. If this country intends to stupidly and voluntarily surrender the advantages it gained by reason of superior natural resources, and progress gained under a democratic form of government, why spend billions in creating a huge, new navy? Industrial New England will be most adversely affected if the U. S. A. enters into reciprocal trade agreements with England or other European nations.

Nineteen years ago Germany had been conquered, invaded and economically ruined. France and England, dominant among the victorious allies, dictated peace terms, grabbed additional colonial possessions, and imposed conditions which apparently assured a continuity of their supremacy for the future. Now, Germany, without having fired a shot, is humiliating France and England; and its present ally, Italy, formerly a second rate nation in power, has forced England to meet its demands. In the march of time, who won the World War? How long will the present alliances of European nations last? At the time of the World War, Italy double-crossed Germany and Austria; and Japan, now one of England's greatest threats, was Britain's ally. The present combinations of European nations and Japan will continue only as long as they serve the purposes of those involved. Whenever changed circumstances make it expedient for the nations in the existent alliances or ententes to shift or double-cross, they will do so. And we have many educated, apparently intelligent citizens who advocate the

By L. D. G. BENTLEY

The Catch In It

Ever since the voice of "the little fellah" was heard in Washington I have had an idea that there are unlimited possibilities in "ganging up" on our leading officials and demanding our rights and anything else we think we can get. It need not be restricted to matters of trade recession, either. A united front on the part of plain citizens ought to accomplish considerable. The danger is that after a vociferous group has learned its great power those whom it is prodding will start scheming a defence. What I mean is, the latter will eventually rig it so that "the little fellah" can be given the "run around" and still be made to think that he is going places.

Remembering Things

Without hesitation I will admit that it is the memory of that old nursery jingle, "Thirty days hath September, etc.," that helps me keep track of the number of days in each month. And yet I am afraid that I might not bear in mind the fact that February has only 28 days and 29 every fourth year if it weren't for something else. It was a long time ago when I was boarding in the country at the home of a particularly lively old farmer. Everybody knew he must have been well nigh 80 but there was nothing to verify it. One busy body, a city woman by the way, made bold to ask, "How old are you, Mr. Hall?" Without cracking a smile he replied, "I shall be 92 the 31st of next February." And she didn't tumble—at least not at the time.

Passing of the Baggage Car

Combination baggage and smoking cars, which used to be part of the equipment of the Boston & Albany's Newton circuit service, have long been missing as far as Newton patrons are concerned, although a Framingham train making local stops may have one. It never occurred to me they would be missed by Newton people but it seems they are. I can understand the feelings of those who preferred to ride with the trunks, boxes and bundles for I was often among them. There was always plenty of room for freedom of movement in the baggage compartment and it gave one a feeling of liberty not enjoyed when squeezed in a seat.

Furthermore, most men, no matter what their position in life, incline to the habit of gathering in the general store at the village. Busy commuters in the not too distant days had the same hankering and found that the baggage car made an excellent substitute for the cracker-barrel forum. One could perch on a trunk and express his views almost as eloquently as if squatted on a sack of meal at Four Corners.

When one of our most prominent citizens informed me this week that he had used the same train to convey him to Boston daily for the past 38 years my interest was aroused. I haven't any doubt that there are many more who could say the same or at least that they have taken one particular train to Boston year in and year out since beginning their professional or business careers.

"The baggage car" my friend continued, "was a great place to talk things over. In the old days we settled all sorts of vital questions on the ride from Newton to town. We even went so far, when the time was appropriate, to make political slates. There was no better place to talk over and decide on candidates and furthermore we seldom failed to pick a winner."

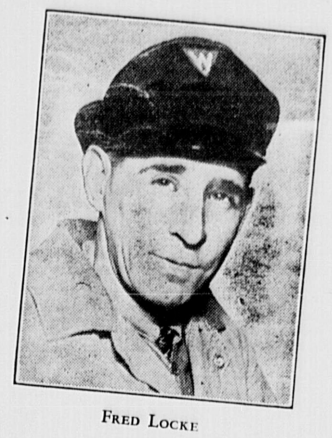

Footsteps in the Air

A boy on Elmwood st. walking with a pair of stilts and making good progress for one of his years, which I judged to be about 14, not only caused me to think of signs of spring but carried me back to my own childhood. Among the most coveted possessions were those very contrivances for getting over the ground while several feet above it. It was a sport that lasted a few weeks each year and then gave way to another—the cycle of games that youngsters know so well. Not since my youthful experience with stilts had I seen any until last week, except that grotesque advertising genius whose trousers must be several yards long to cover the leg-like poles. Recollection of the days that walking on stilts was a joy produces no nostalgia. It so happens that it was not one of those pastimes of happy boyhood I long to repeat. At present, with both feet squarely on the ground, I have enough trouble watching my step.

Husband Arrested, Wife Then Relents

George Zeolla, 22, of Jones Court, Nonantum was arraigned in the Newton court last Friday charged with assault and battery on his wife. Zeolla was arrested the preceding midnight by patrolmen Whelan and McEnaney after his wife had obtained a complaint against him. The young woman, however, in court on Friday told Judge Mayberry that she did not wish to testify against her husband and Sergeant King who was prosecuting the case suggested that it be continued for six months. Probation officer Enegess objected, saying that the case would probably break again that afternoon. The judge deferred to the probation officer's view and continued the case only until Feb. 26.

Will Stop Dumping Near Hospital

The unauthorized use as a dump of the site of the former gravel pit on Washington st., Lower Falls, opposite Beacon st. is to be stopped by the Newton police. The former pit is near the Newton Hospital and for several years was an eyesore. Then the owners of the land leveled an adjoining bank and largely filled in the former pit. A number of persons, including some from Wellesley and other out-of-town places have been bringing rubbish to the area and dumping it there, causing conditions that are even worse than before. Street Commissioner Mahoney has asked Chief of Police Hughes to stop anyone from depositing rubbish or other refuse at the location. The Street Department has been filling in parts of the property which were at lower levels, but will not countenance indiscriminate use of the area as a common dump.

Not Guilty of Reckless Driving

Stephen O'Brien, 43, of 56 Fairbanks st., Brighton, was found not guilty by Judge Weston in the Newton court on Wednesday on a charge of driving a car so as to endanger the safety of the public. On February 14 a car driven by O'Brien ran into the rear of a car driven by Cecilia Lydon of Foster st., Brighton. O'Brien first testified that he applied the brakes on his car when only 5 feet behind the other car, but later testified the distance to be 15 feet. He said the brakes on his car were defective because the fluid in them had leaked out. Judge Weston commented that in a civil suit there would be no question as to O'Brien's responsibility, but the evidence was not sufficient to convict him on the criminal charge.

State Offers Prizes For Community Surveys

Three prizes are offered by the State Federation for stories of the findings and complete answers to the Community Survey to be conducted by individual clubs before the first of May. Comprehensive questionnaires compiled by the divisions of Conservation, Education, Industry, Social Welfare, Physically Handicapped, and Public Health are already in the hands of the presidents.

A few of the subjects mentioned are housing conditions and zoning laws; clinics and medical facilities; recreational facilities; public safety and parent education programs; Taxpayers' Associations; handicrafts, and consumer problems.

Answers to many of the questions will be found in such accessible sources as the reports of various departments of the towns and cities. Other questions will need inquiry and research, and a few can be answered only by personal knowledge and by the experiences of club members.

The survey asks how the clubs propose to use the information obtained, and many clubs are planning next year's programs to take care of the various community needs they are uncovering.

Each club is free to conduct the survey in a manner best suited to the community, and may go into more detail along any line that may be necessary. In fact, more detailed questionnaires may be obtained from the chairmen of departments above mentioned, and added credit will be given to clubs that include work of divisions other than those mentioned.

There are three classifications with a prize for each; for clubs with a membership of 100 or less; for clubs with a membership between 100 and 500; and for clubs whose membership is over 500.

First, touching on the historical importance of Williamsburg, and then showing pictures of the town as it appeared in 1928 before the restoration work started, Mr. Shurcliff will explain the exciting search for historical precedent in landscape design which led him and his associates over many of the southern states and finally to England.

Various Events And Programs

State Federation

MID-WINTER MEETING. Besides the announcements of the program planned for the Mid-Winter Meeting of the State Federation of Women's Clubs to be held at the Hotel Bradford, Boston, next Monday, the 28th of February, given in Club News last week, it is now of interest to learn that Mayor Maurice J. Tobin is expected to be a speaker, giving a half-hour talk on "Plans for the City of Boston." With the many innovations he already has brought into management of Boston affairs, which have caused mingled approbation and dismay, in accordance with whether or not one is among those affected, his discussion of further plans should be of decided appeal to his hearers.

The meeting is to take up many matters of public affairs in legislation, and Mrs. Mark T. deSilva, State Federation Legislative chairman, will present Hon. Horace T. Cahill, Speaker of the House of Representatives, who will discuss "State Affairs"; Leland C. Bickford, who will talk upon "Dog Racing"; and Howard P. Davis.

ART LECTURES. Mrs. Walter W. Stroncer, State chairman of Art, has announced the series of Art Scholarship Lectures at the Boston Museum of Fine Arts to be given on the four Thursdays in March at 10:30 o'clock. Clubwomen will welcome the continuance of such lectures this year, as they have enjoyed greatly similar courses during the past few years. The subscription for the course of four lectures is only $1.00, and the proceeds will be used, as hitherto, for Art Scholarships. Tickets may be obtained from members of the Art committee.

The four lectures in the first series, "Americana," will be as follows:

Mar. 10—The Copley Exhibition, Mrs. Parker.
Mar. 17—American Furniture, Mr. Robinson.
Mar. 24—American Silver, Mrs. Buhler.

Newton Centre Woman's Club

Dr. Samuel Macauley Lindsay will resume his discussion of World Affairs next Monday evening, February 28th, at 8 o'clock, at the Newton Centre Woman's Club. These lectures are open to the public for a small fee.

The Art committee of the Club will present an Exhibition of work by artists of the Federal Art Project in the Newton Centre Woman's Club Art Gallery from Tuesday, March 1st, through Saturday, March 12th. On the opening day tea will be served, and at 4 p. m. a speaker will give an informal talk explaining this art of present times. The exhibit is open to the public from 2 to 4:30 o'clock daily except Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. George Pratt Maxim, pianist and reader, will present Tennyson's poem "Enoch Arden," with the music of Strauss, at the Club House on Friday, March 4th, at 2:30 p. m. A silver tea will close the program.

"Turkey and the Modern World" is the subject of the International Dinner speaker, Dr. Bayard Dodge, at the Club House Monday evening, March 7th, at 6:45 p. m. Dr. Dodge was made the Grand Officer of the Royal Order of the Phoenix of Turkey, and decorated by the Turkish Government for distinguished services rendered in the Near East. He is president of two American Universities, the American University of Beruit, and the International College, also in Beruit, Syria. Dinner reservations should be made early, through Mrs. Lucius Thayer, telephone West Newton 1415. Tickets for the dinner are 75 cents. Club members will be admitted to the speaking at 7:45 p. m., for 25 cents, and others for 35 cents.

Mrs. Roland Gage Hopkins will review the "Life, Plays, and Poems of Maxwell Anderson," at the Thursday Literary Morning of the Newton Centre Woman's Club on March 3rd, at 10 o'clock.

The Child Guidance lecture in the course of informal lectures and discussion of Home Problems in rearing children, by Dr. W. Linwood Chase, will be held at the Newton Centre Woman's Club House, on Friday morning, March 4th, at 10 o'clock. Any mother is welcome to present the problems as to her children to the meeting for guidance and aid.

West Newton Community Service Club

At its regular meeting on Wednesday, February 16th, the Community Service Club of West Newton enjoyed a most unusual program when Miss Dorothy Kornhauser, of the faculty of the Dana Hall School, entertained with a series of Dance Impressions. Reminding her audience that the dance from earliest times was the common form of expression of different phases, Miss Kornhauser gave her interpretations, first of the Organ Grinder and his Monkey, making one see not only the grinder hopefully looking for pennies, but the monkey with his entertaining grimaces and gestures. Her second number was tango, the music for which she had written herself. Next were episodes in the lives of two domestics, the lady's maid with lofty aspirations who finally yields to temptation; and then a drudgs, with her mop which not only served its real purpose but gave play for romantic dreams. There was a Carnival Night in Venice portraying the streets filled with merrymakers and dancers in which Miss Kornhauser wore a gold wig and threw confetti, which episode was most colorful, and ended the first half of the program.

Three impressions of Marie Antoinette, the first, frivolous, when she considers it more important to fuss over herself than to sign necessary papers; second, tired of the duties of the Court, she wanders through the garden, and enjoys beauties she had hardly realized were there; and last, as prisoner of the people, in a discouraged mood, until by prayer and meditation she gains strength, and goes to her death with fortitude, made up the last group. As a final number Miss Kornhauser gave a takeoff of a bull fighter. With Miss Kornhauser was Miss Allie Wilson as accompanist.

Tea which followed was served by Mrs. George Earnshaw. Pourers were Mrs. Wilson Dort, Mrs. George Fernald, Mrs. Ralph Albree, and Mrs. Anthony Jaureguy.

The Evening Entertainment on February 19th is one long to be remembered. The Boston Singers, the distinguished male quartet with William Frank, pianist, gave a varied and delightful program. Dr. Victor G. Heiser, the lecturer of the evening, who had chosen as his subject "More of an American Doctor's Odyssey" took his hearers for a trip with him around the world, stopping at the principal places where advances had been made in public health work. He wove into his narrative customs of the different lands which seem so curious, but which when studied gave the correct approach to the problem of lowering the death rate. Particularly interesting was the account of the winning of the confidence of the natives of the Philippine Islands. In closing, Dr. Heiser paid particular tribute to the work which America has done for her outside possessions, work which one hears very little about. Dr. Heiser had a pleasingly easy manner of speaking, and a fund of informative material.

WOMEN'S CLUBS

Newton Upper Falls Woman's Club

The Newton Upper Falls Woman's Club enjoyed a delightful evening last Monday, the 21st of February, at the home of Mrs. Walter J. Billings, which was festively decorated with beautiful crimson carnations in every room in honor of the occasion. Miss Betty Campbell gave many amusing and clever monologues that kept her large audience of more than forty Club members vastly entertained. As may be seen by the titles of these sketches, they presented opportunity for humorous dialogue and effective acting. "The Bride," "Twenty Years Later," and "At the Fiftieth Anniversary," when the bride has now become a wise grandmother, were three episodes in the life of the women that were of special interest to her hearers. A most amusing sketch was "The English Lecturer," who aired her views without reserve upon her return home from America. Another was "The Old Lady on the Porch," and an original sketch of Miss Campbell's, "Mrs. Ginsberg Buys a Dog."

During the business session, with the president, Miss Nellie M. Osborne, presiding, a request was made of the Club for a victrola for the Girl Scouts at Upper Falls for the teaching of dancing, and for a small radio for a shut-in. Mrs. William Warren, a Club member, immediately made the generous offer of the victrola which she could give.

Refreshments of ice cream and cake were served after the program under the direction of Mrs. Donald Flinchbaugh and the Hospitality committee.

Paid For With Prayers

Swiss farmers annually give to thousands of poor peasants as much cheese and butter as they can carry home after the grazing season on the mountains and ask in return only a prayer for the cattle and pasture.

Heavy Water Is Stimulant

Tests on animals show that when heavy water is administered it produces an effect similar to that of adrenalin, a hormone, which throws the body into its greatest state of activity.

THE WEEK IN NEWTON SPORTS

NEWTON OVERWHELMS FIELD AT ANDOVER

The Newton High track team surged onward last Saturday at the annual Andover Interscholastic meet in its apparent sweep of all major track meetings of the 1938 season. Faltering only in the dash, and there are many who claim that Newton's Frank Hines was "lost" by the judges at the tape, the Enoch wrecking crew piled up a total of 27½ points at the Case Memorial cage with Boston English, a pre-meet co-favorite with the orange and black, stumbled along in second place with a mere 11 5-6 points. Lowell tallied ten digits, Lynn English and Roxbury Memorial 8 each and fifteen other schools ranging from 7½ points to 1-6 of a point from a six-way split for fourth in the high jump, for Somerville and Milton High Schools. It was Newton's fourth consecutive win at Andover and its fifth in the history of the games.

The Newton point division was made up of three first places, two seconds, two thirds, one fourth and a tie for third. The first places were by the relay team, MacKinnon in the hurdles, and Pescosolido in the high jump in which event the Newton leaper set the only new record of the afternoon. In repeating his 1937 victory Pesky cleared 5' 11½" to shatter the eleven year old mark made in 1927 by Robinson of Lawrence.

John Callahan and Mark Messier tied for second to give Newton one of its second places and one of its third place points and a total of ten points in the one event. Stewart MacNeill took second in the broad jump with a leap of 9' 9½" behind Wes Taylor's even 10' jump for a Roxbury Memorial win in this event. Besides the third place points in the high jump Basil Babcock, sore toe and all, picked up two points in the 1000 yard run.

Hines was awarded fourth in the dash after much consultation by the judges and Fred Hall drew a tie for third and 1½ points in the 600 to complete the Newton total.

The 40-yard trial hurdle heats saw both Don MacKinnon and Neil Cheney of Newton, winners of the first and second heats, qualifying quarterfinals. MacKinnon won the first quarterfinal and Cheney placed second in the fourth and last quarterfinal to get into the semi-finals, where Cheney was eliminated. MacKinnon beat Flint of Lynn English to the tape in the first semi to enter the final along with Wood of Lowell, Wolfson of Brookline and Flint. In the final the Newton hurdler and Wood put on a great battle with Wood leading over the first barrier and MacKinnon having the barest of margins at the second. Over the third they went on even terms but in the race to the tape the fresher MacKinnon reached it first. Flint took third with Wolfson hitting the final barrier and stumbling across the finish line. Wood had previously run his three qualifying heats and three qualifying heats in the dash before going to the post in the hurdle final. Completing this event he then went back for the finals of the dash.

In the dash trials Hines won the opening heat and Hurley of Newton placed third in the sixth heat to qualify for the quarter-finals. Hines again won the first heat and Hurley was third in the fourth to enter the semi-finals where Hurley was eliminated. In the semi-finals Hines was picked third behind Evans of Medford and Leonard of Boston English with Wood, Taylor, and Grigas of Chelsea placing in the other semi-final to enter the final. In this second semi-final Wood equalled the cage and meet record of 4.6 seconds for the 40 yards. In the final Wood was judged the winner in another record-equalling effort with Taylor second, Evans third and Hines fourth. A "head-on" photo of the race showed Hines over the finish line with Wood just breasting the mark giving evidence to Newton's claims that the judges had "lost" the Newton flyer. Woods' efforts, however, stamped him as the individual standout of the meet with his first in the dash, second in the hurdles, and a gallant lead-off leg on the Lowell Relay team which scored two points for a ten-point total in which Wood shared every single point.

Newton had no entry in the 300 while Boston English runners featured in the 600-yard run, each winning their heats in the two best times of the day with Keady first and Ballantine second. Fred Hall of Newton who finished second to Ballantine in the initial time trial, four-tenths of a second later, tied for third with Vincent of Boston Trade School, winner of the third trial heat.

Basil Babcock of Newton won the fourth heat in the 1000 in 2 min. 30.2 sec. which was good enough for a second place. Pocius of Brockton, beaten by Babcock in the same heat in the Northeastern meet, won the first time trial by many yards to set up the best time for the day.

Newton's shotput entries failed to get into the points which all went to weight tossers capable of better than 42 feet. Newton's efforts in the broad jump have already been cited as Newton came back strong in the field events to add to its mounting total.

The high jump was Newton's best event with a small slam of the first three places chalking up ten points. In the relays Newton was matched against its old rival, Brookline, and the Newton quartet ran their opponents into the ground with a half-lap margin. Newton's time of 2 min 23.6 was close to the record effort of the 1937 team of 2 min. 23.2 and was also the best of the day for Newton's final five points. The Newton quartet comprised Cheney, Jerry Allen, MacKinnon and Hines.

HOCKEY TEAM ENDS DREARY ICE SEASON

The Newton High hockey team closed its season last Saturday at the Boston Garden, losing its ninth game of the season in a 7 to 3 affair with the fifth place Arlington High sextet. Rindge captured the title, going through the league season without a defeat but tied in two of its games for an 18 point total. Cambridge Latin finished second, three points behind the leaders, with Stoneham and Melrose tied two points below the Cantabs. Arlington, with 8 points, Medford with 6 and Belmont with 5 and Newton with 2 comprised the second division.

In Newton's 7 to 3 game with Arlington a free-for-all in the closing minutes rounded out the program. Newton scored first on Hurley's shot after a pass from Haggerty before the game was a minute old. Arlington came back with two counters before the period ended and was never in danger thereafter. Two more Spy Ponder tallies came in the second session before Hurley cached one on a pass from Manchester and Everts did likewise on Dugan's assist to put Newton back into the game, one goal behind with the count 4-3. An Arlington goal early in the final session clinched the verdict and the last two goals, in the final minute of play were just adding insult to injury.

Captain Ben Mason was the Newton bad-man with 13 1-2 minutes in penalties although he lost his 1937 league distinction in this respect to Bob Glynn of Medford with 15 minutes in the penalty box.

The season's scoring records of the Newton players:

NEWTON FAVORED IN ANNUAL STATE MEET

The Newton High track team closes its regularly scheduled indoor season tomorrow afternoon at the Boston Garden at the annual State meet. As in previous interscholastic meets this winter the orange and black is an overwhelming favorite for team honors with Boston English High its ranking competitor, given an outside chance to upset the dope chart should Newton falter or the breaks go decidedly against them.

The Enoch coached crew should score in every event except the 300 and the shotput. Co-captain Bud Hines, Don MacKinnon and Billy Pescosolido should come close to annexing fifteen points between them unless either of the first two are "lost" by the judging at the finish of the dash or hurdles as sometimes has been the case this season. Hall should place in the 600 and Babcock in the 1000 to give Newton additional points in the running events. With Pesky and Callahan in the high jump nine points are almost a certainty while MacNeil is figured for a second place in the standing broad jump. The relay quartet, with Hines, Allen Cheney and MacKinnon are expected to finish among the leaders and may possibly set a new mark for the Garden track which they established in the Northeastern meet.

All the events on the State meet program should provide close competition and many thrills for the spectators. Newton track fans and school supporters will be in attendance as signified by the heavy advance sale of tickets at the high school. Well over two hundred tickets were taken while a goodly number of others will probably attend unless a blizzard or other conditions keep them away. Should Newton capture the State title as expected it will regain the laurels lost last year to Boston English High. It will also complete a successful season which has seen Newton victorious in all interscholastic affairs it entered and in all dual meets with the exception of the one at Lowell.

U. S. A. becoming entangled with Europe; getting embroiled with our former, honorable allies, who have persistently welched in the payment of the billions they owe the people of this country.

Boston, Quincy, Somerville, Waltham, and other cities and towns affected, have had representatives of their governments present at the hearings on the proposed increased gas rates the past week. But Newton made no official protest. Every customer of the gas company whose average monthly bill is $5 or less will have to pay from 30c to 60c more each month under the new rates.
